

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

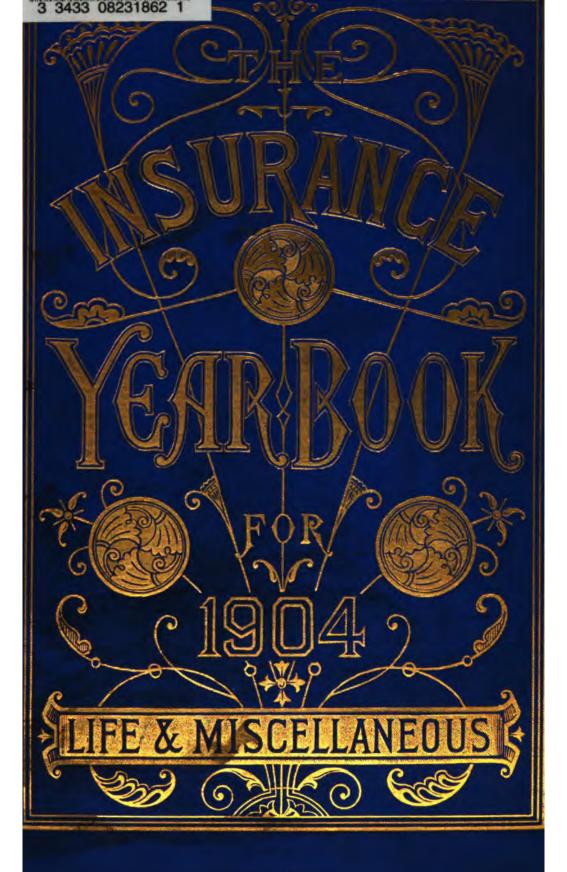

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at http://books.google.com/

READY RECKONER FOR EARNED AND UN-EARNED PREMIUMS. A Series of Tables designed for the Speedy Calculation of the Sums earned and uncarned on Policies of Insurance; by the late WILLIAM ELLSWORTE, Jr., formerly of the Continental Fire Insurance Company.

Company.

This new and important work is designed to furnish representatives of Fire Insurance Companies the means for instantaneously computing earned and uncarned premiums. The method is the simplest yet devised, and can be comprehended by any one who is competent to understand the easiest rules of arithmetic. The tables prepared furnish a ready-made answer to all the problems relating to premiums that underwriters are required to solve. WM. ELLSWORTH, Jr., author of the Ready Reckoner, is a well known mathematician, who was long connected with the Continental and Niagara fire insurance companies, and later with the Caledonian Insurance Company. THE READY RECKONER is the result of his daily experience, and is designed to simplify the calculations required of every underwriter. 12mo., 80 pp. Printed on fine paper and substantially bound in muslin.

Preminm Rates of American Life Insuranco Companies

A Work of 200 pages, embracing the various Fremium Rates of 76 American and Canadia: Life insurance Companies.

The Spectator Company announces the publication of the 1904 edition of the handy pocket-worl bearing the above title. Its principal feature is the annual premium rates per $1,000 of insurance on al the leading forms of policies of seventy-six regular life insurance companies operating in the United States and Canada. The rates are so arranged as to meet the requirements of agents and others connected with or interested in life insurance, who may desire to compare the rates charged by various nected with or interested in life insurance, who may desire to compare the rates charged by various companies on uniform styles of policies.

By means of flaps attached to the covers comparison of the rates for the more common forms of policy can be made instantly by the agent of any particular company with those of another company.

The new features in the edition for 1903 have been retained, and a table is given showing the principal items of the annual statements of the companies for each of the past three years; another table shows the ratio of dividends to premiums for the ten years ending with 1903, while tables showing dividend settlements under accumulation policies, premiums on intermediate and industrial policies aid in making this a most complete pocket compendium of information regarding premiums, dividends and financial standing. Agents will find this work an indispensable aid in their daily work.

The work is uniform with The Handy Guide to Premium Rates, Applications and Policies and Analysis of Policy Conditions. It is printed in the same handsome style and bound in flexible leather covers.

Prices: Single copies, 75c.; 100 copies, $60.

Premium Rates and Policy Gonditions.

This work is a combination of the two separate books, "Premium Rates" and "Analysis of Policy Conditions," the price of each of which is 75 cents.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

For thirty-one years The Insurance Year Book has appeared annually, expanding year by year with the growth of the insurance business, and adding new features to its mass of information as the conditions demanded. The publishers, therefore take pride in presenting the thirty-second annual edition, and in acknowledging the widespread recognition that has been accorded this publication, both in this country and abroad. Its present development is the result of a series of evolutions, similar to those through which the insurance business itself has passed. A complete series of The Insurance Year Book is a history of the development of life, fire and miscellaneous insurance in this country during the past third of a century.

The 1904 edition of the Year Book is issued in two volumes as heretofore, one being devoted to Life, Casualty and Miscellaneous Insurance, and the other to Fire and Marine Insurance. Each volume contains the standard statistics regarding companies and their transactions that are necessary to perfect their history from year to year. These statistics are brought forward to include their transactions to December 31, 1903. The statistical tables are compiled from official data, the annual reports to the New York Insurance Department being used for those companies doing business in that State; for other companies the official data has been secured from the department reports of the States wherein they do business, or from other official sources. The utmost care has been taken to make these compilations complete and accurate.

The department relating to "Fire Departments and Water Supply," comprising about 500 pages, which was omitted from the Year Book for 1903, for the reason that it had grown to such proportions as to make the volume too bulky, is now restored to the Year Book, and is more complete than ever before. It contains statistics showing the water supply and means for fire protection in upwards of four thousand cities and villages, the data having been brought down to date. These statistics are the result of more than twenty-five years' experience in obtaining information and compiling the same, and from the fullest and most complete statement regarding the fire protective equipment of the numerous places that has ever been compiled.

Attention is invited to the list of prominent agents, which contains the names of over 40,000 persons representing insurance interests in various parts of the country. The abbreviations following the name in each case indicate the branches of insurance prosecuted by the agent. This is the most complete list of agents ever published, and will be found to be of great value to managers of companies.

To mention here the many special features of The Year Book would be to duplicate the very complete Index that will be found on other pages.

We beg to acknowledge our obligation to all who have so kindly rendered us assistance in obtaining data for The Year Book. Our thanks are especially due to the heads of Insurance Departments of the various States for their courtesy and promptness in furnishing us with desired information.

THE ODHNER CALCULATING MACHINE.

The "Odhner" is very simple in construction, substantially made, compactly put together, and is absolutely accurate. The illustration herewith gives an excellent idea of its appearance. The "Odhner" is well known in Burope, many hundreds of them being used in Russia, Germany, France, Holland, England and elsewhere with the greatest satisfaction, as is shown by testimonials given the manufacturers. The "Odhner" will work any combination of figures, however complicated, with the of figures, however complicated, with the greatest facility and with perfect accuracy.

THE BRUNSVIGA CALCULATING MACHINE.

The Brunsviga is manufactured in Germany, based on the Odhner patents. The above cut of th Odhner is, therefore, a fair representation of the Brunsviga. The following are some recent improve ments in the Brunsviga machine: 1 The handle cannot be turned until the catch or spring in the slid (or lower portion of machine) is in its proper position. 2. The handle cannot be turned when the winge nut on the right is not in its proper position. 3. The slide (or lower portion of the machine) cannot be moved when the handle is not in proper position. 4. The slide must be returned to the extreme let before the figures in same can be cancelled. The Brunsviga is supplied with an extension handle and bell indicating when the constitute of the wrealty in formal or the constitute of the wrealty of the wrealty of the wealth. bell indicating when the capacity of the machine is reached.

INSURANCE

A Practical Exposition for the Student and Business Man.

BY T. E. YOUNG, B.A., F.R.A.S.

The author of "Insurance," which is destined to become the standard treatise, is the distinguished actuary, T. E. Young, B.A., F.R.A.S., who is an ex-president of the Institute of Actuaries, ex-chairman of the Life Offices Association, and a member of the Actuarial Societies of Belgium, France and America. Many books treating of different phases of insurance have been published during recent years, but certainly no work of this character, by an authority so well known and so eminent in his profession.

Mr. Young's book affords the necessary material for a complete insurance education, and presents the various phases of insurance in a masterly and intelligible manner. In brief, it is a lucid, simple exposition of the principles and practice of life, fire, marine and other branches of insurance, especially adapted for the use of the underwriter, the student and the business man. It is a book of 340 pages, neatly bound in cloth. Price, $2.50, postpaid.

Insurance Office Organisation, Management and Accounts.

BY T. E. YOUNG, B.A., F.R.A.S., and RICHARD MASTERS, A.C.A.

The above-named new book will be found to be a valuable guide to the proper organization and conduct of an insurance company. In it Mr. Young points out the best methods to be followed in the formation and management of an insurance company's staff, and the most systematic and economical administration of its business. The arrangement of work, selection and training of employees, and many other practical features relating to the operation of a company are comprehensively discussed.

The general principles of bookkeeping are also treated by Mr. Young, and are elaborated in succeeding chapters by Mr. Masters. The general, life, fire, marine and accident departments are taken up separately, and the necessary books and accounts illustrated and described in detail.

This work should be invaluable to anyone contemplating the establishment of a new insurance company, or who wishes to improve present bookkeeping methods. It contains 146 pages, and is bound in cloth. Price, $1.50, postpaid.

STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS.

Synopsis of the Statutory Requirements of the Various States and Territories.

In the following pages will be found concise statements of the statutory requirements for the admission of life and miscellaneous insurance companies to do business in the respective States. In this brief form, the synopses are intended more as a hint than an actual guide, for it is not anticipated that any company in entering a State would be satisfied with anything less than the statutes themselves as their reliance as to conditions. Our summary, however, may be accepted as correct as far as it goes.

It has been our aim in preparing these synopses of the statutes to secure uniformity for all the States and to give the essential requirements in as brief a space as possible consistent with the statement of the facts. The synopsis for each State was sent to the supervising officer of such State and returned to us with his approval to date, or with such corrections as he deemed essential. We believe that the information given in this condensed form is as correct as it is possible to make it and will be sufficient to indicate to all interested the statutory requirements of the different States and Territories. Following the requirements are some notes culled from the statutes which will be of interest to life underwriters.

ALABAMA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, J. THOS. HEFLIN, SECRETARY OF STATE, Ex-Officio Insurance Commissioner, Montgomery.

Preliminary Documents.—Copy of charter must be filed with Insurance Commissioner; also copy of annual statement showing condition of the company December 31 preceding. Must furnish a sworn certificate that it has at least $100,000 in approved securities on deposit with the proper officer of some State for the protection of all its policyholders.

Attorney.—The Insurance Commissioner must be appointed attorney to accept service of legal process.

Valuation of Policies.—Valuation to be made upon the Actuaries' or American Experience Tables, with interest at four per cent.

Annual Statements.—Must be filed on or before March I, showing condition of the company December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Agents must procure certificates from Insurance Commissioner to be renewed annually in January. Any person soliciting or otherwise transacting the business of insurance is held to be an agent of the company, not of the assured.

Examinations.—The Commissioner is required to examine domestic companies once in two years, or upon the request of five or more stockholders. He may also examine other companies whenever he deems it prudent, or, if he has occasion to believe they have violated any law or are in an unsound condition. He must, however, accept the sworn published statement of a life insurance company made to and approved by the Commissioner or a like officer of the State in which it is incorporated.

Fees.—The Insurance Commissioner shall collect from each company filing copy of charter or deed of settlement and financial statement $101, and same amount with each annual statement thereafter for the privilege of carrying on its business in the State of Alabama; for each certificate or renewal thereof to an insurance agent or solicitor, $3.50; for copies of any paper on file or deposit with the Insurance Commissioner, or in his office, ten cents per hundred words. Provided, that the Auditor shall pay, upon vouchers approved by the Governor, out of this fund alone the expenses of the Insurance Department. Reciprocal laws in force.

Misrepresentation.—No misrepresentation, written or oral, in the negotiation of a contract or in the application or proofs of loss, shall defeat or void the policy unless such misrepresentation is made with actual intent to deceive, or unless the matter misrepresented increases the risk of loss. No life insurance company shall contest a claim under any policy of insurance on the plea of fraud or irregularities in application after three annual premiums payments have been made on policy, but must pay the full amount of policy within sixty days after proofs of death have been received at the home office of the company in the United States.

Licenses.—Every company must pay to the Insurance Commissioner in January of each year $101 for a license to do business, and every agent must have a license.

Taxes.—"All companies must state the total amount of gross premiums received, designating the amount received in this State, and shall at the same time pay to the Insurance Commissioner the sum of $1 upon each $100 of said gross premiums so received in this State."

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Application of Laws.—The provisions of the laws apply when the risk is taken, or any insurance business transacted in the State, whether policies are signed in or out of the State. Policies incontestable after three annual premiums have been paid.

Company Defined.—The term "company" used in the laws includes every company, corporation, association, or partnership organized for the purpose of transacting the business of insurance.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Fidelity or surety companies must have $250,000 capital and are required to deposit $50,000 with the State Treasurer, and to comply with the laws relating to other State companies. Companies doing a liability business must retain as a reserve fifty per cent of the premium having not more than one year to run, and an additional reserve fund, known as "liability reserve," to an amount not less than $300 for each suit pending against such company's policyholders, and $700 when such suit is appealed to a higher court by the defendant. Plate glass and live stock companies required to have $50,000 capital. All other companies must have $100,000 capital.

Arizona.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, ISAAC T. STODDARD, SECRETARY OF TERRITORY, PHOENIX.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Secretary of the Territory copies of its articles of incorporations and its appointment of an attorney, and a statement giving the name and location of the company, amount of capital stock, assets and net surplus, and receive from him a certificate of authority to do business. Every company must deposit with the Territorial Treasurer a bond, with two or more resident sureties, in $15,000, for the protection of policyholders in the Territory, or $15,000 in Territorial bonds.

Attorney.—Company must appoint an agent in the Territory to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—No requirement.

Valuation of Policies.-No provision.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Secretary of Arizona in the month of March of each year.

Agents.—Agents must obtain a certificate of authority to do business from the Secretary of Arizona. Any person acting in any way for an insurance company is considered an agent of such company and subject to the regulations and penalties of the insurance act.

Examinations.—No provision.

Fees.—To the Secretary of Arizona: For filing statement, $5; issuing certificate of authority, $5; issuing certificate to agent, $2; for filing articles of incorporation, $5; for printing statement in newspaper, $2.50.

Licenses.-No provision.

Taxes.—Upon filing the annual statement, a verified statement must also be submitted, showing the total premium receipts collected within the Territory for the period lapsing since the filing of the previous statement. Such statement must be published in at least one newspaper in the Territory; thereupon the Secretary of Arizona will levy a tax of two per cent upon such premium receipts, which shall be paid to the Secretary of Arizona before certificate of authority can be renewed. This tax to be in lieu of all other taxes and licenses.

Penalties.—If any insurance company, its agents or attorneys, shall solicit insurance or shall issue a policy without having complied with the laws of this Territory, said company, its agent or attorney, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Punishment for misdemeanor is fine not exceeding $300, or imprisonment in County Jail not exceeding six months, or both.

ARKANSAS.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, T. C. MONROE, AUDITOR AND INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, LITTLE ROCK.

Preliminary Documents.—Copy of charter must be filed with the State Auditor; also statement showing the condition of the company at the close of the preceding year. In accordance with the act approved March 6, 1891, all insurance companies doing business in the State must give a bond in the sum of $20,000, with three sureties to be approved by the Auditor of State, conditioned for the prompt payment of all claims arising under policies issued by them. Two of the sureties must be residents of the State. In all actions arising under policies the bondsmen of the company may be made parties to the suit, and judgment rendered against them may be enforced as other judgments are enforced. Bond may be executed by surety company.

Attorney.—Company must file a stipulation designating the Auditor, or some person appointed by him, or agent designated by the company as its attorney to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—Company must have assets equal to the net value of all policies in force.

Companies of Other Countries.—Foreign companies must file on or before July 1 a statement of business done outside the United States.

Valuation of Policies.—The standard of valuation is the American Experience Table of Mortality and interest at four and one-half per cent. Valuation to be made annually unless certificate is furnished from the Insurance Commissioner of the State in which the company was organized that the company is solvent on the above basis.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding, must be filed with the Auditor of the State on January 1 of each year, or within sixty days thereafter. Statement must show premium receipts in the State, less losses and commissions.

Agents.—Agents must obtain certificates from Auditor. Any person soliciting insurance is deemed an agent of the company taking the risk.

Examinations.—The Auditor is authorized to appoint actuaries and examiners, to issue licenses, and for cause to revoke licenses, and when legal cause is found, to suspend the company from doing business in the State.

Fees.—Filing charter, $15; filing annual statement or certificates of Commissioners, $10; issuing certificate of authority, $2; copy of papers on file, 20 cents per folio; certifying same and affixing seal, $1; valuing policies, not exceeding three cents for each $1000 of insurance.

Taxes.—At the time of filing annual statement with the Auditor a report must also be filed showing the amount of premiums received in the State during the year ending December 31 preceding, and after deducting losses and commissions therefrom, a tax of two and one-half per cent must be paid into the State Treasury. Municipal licenses and taxes are prohibited.

Penalties.—Companies neglecting to file statement as required forfeits its right to do business in the State. Any person, agent, company or corporation transacting business without legal authority shall forfeit to the school fund $500, and shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction fined $500. Any officer or agent who shall make false statements or representations for the purpose of obtaining business shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction, sentenced to the penitentiary for not less than three or more than ten years. Any person acting for a company that has not filed the bond as above set forth shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than $20 nor more than $100.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Suits Against Companies.—By an act passed in February, 1897, it is provided that suit may be maintained against a company in the county where the insured lived.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Accident companies required to give bond in $20,000, with three sureties, two of whom shall be residents of the State, same as life companies. No other miscellaneous companies specified in the act. Surety companies must give a $50,000 bond, approved by the Auditor of State and filed in the State Treasurer's office. Statement of condition to be published once a year in a newspaper having general circulation.

CALIFORNIA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, E. MYRON WOLF, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, SAN FRANCISCO.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Insurance Commissioner a certified copy of its charter and a certificate from the proper State official showing that it is duly organized and possessed of the assets required by the State; also a statement of its condition on December 31 preceding.

Attorney.—An agent of the company must be appointed attorney to accept service of legal process.

Companies of Other Countries.—Must file a statement on or before May 1 of business of preceding year.

Valuation of Policies.—Valuation will be made upon the basis of the Actuaries' Table, with interest at four per cent. Policies may be registered with the Insurance Commissioner, and the reserve on the same deposited with him.

Annual Statements.—Annual statement must be filed on or before the 10th day of March each year, showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding. Statement to be published one week in a daily newspaper published in the city where its principal office is located. All companies or persons engaged in the business of life insurance must file with the Commissioner, on or before January 15 of each year, a statement verified by the oath of the principal officer or manager residing in the city, showing the amount of business done in the State during the year ending on December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Agents must procure certificate of authority from the Commissioner. An agent to collect renewal premiums due from residents of the State may receive certificate of authority for this sole business. All solicitors must be licensed annually; fee, $1.

Examinations.—The Commissioner is authorized to examine any company doing business in the State whenever he deems it necessary. Such examination is to be private unless the Commissioner deems it in the best interests of the public to publish the results thereof, in which case he is authorized to print the report in two newspapers of the State, one of which must be published in San Francisco. In case a company is found insolvent, its license will be revoked and notice thereof published daily for four weeks in a San Francisco newspaper.

Fees.—For filing charter, $30; annual statement, $20; other papers, $5; license to solicitors or agents, $1; special agent of life insurance companies to collect renewal premiums, $20; copies of papers, 25 cents per folio; certification, $1; valuation of policies, three cents for each $1000 of insurance value. Expenses of the office of the Commissioner, not covered by fees collected, to be assessed among the companies, proportionate to the amount of premiums received. Retaliatory legislation.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, THOMAS E. DRAKE, SUPERINTENDENT OF INSURANCE, WASHINGTON.

An Act of Congress, passed in 1901, created the office of Superintendent of Insurance for the District of Columbia. The law provides that the Superintendent "shall have supervision of all matters pertaining to insurance companies, beneficial orders and associations, subject only to the general supervision of the commissioners (of the District). It is made his duty to keep on file charters, declaration of organization, or articles of incorporation of every insurance company, benefit association or order, including life, fire, marine, accident, plate-glass, steamboiler, burglary, cyclone, casualty, live stock, credit and maturity companies, or associations doing business in the District."

Preliminary Documents.—The company must file a copy of its charter, or articles of incorporation, duly certified by the proper officer of the State wherein the company was organized; also, a certificate that it is entitled to transact business, assume risks and issue policies of insurance therein.

Attorney.—A resident of the District must be appointed attorney, upon whom legal process may be served.

Funds.—The company must have a paid-up capital of not less than $100,000, and must maintain a reinsurance reserve fund.

Annual Statements.—Every company and association doing business in the District is required to furnish to the Superintendent, during the month of January of each year, a statement of its business in the District. Fee for filing annual statement and certificate of compliance, $10.

Examinations.—The Superintendent is authorized to make an official examination into the affairs of any company organized under the laws of the District, or having its principal office therein, at his discretion.

Agents.—Agents and brokers must obtain from the Superintendent a license to do business within the District. All licenses expire on the 30th day of April.

Taxes.—The law provides that "All insurance companies of every description, except mutual fire insurance companies, shall pay the Collector of Taxes before March 1 of each year, a sum equal to one and one-half per cent of its net premium receipts of the preceding calendar year, in lieu of all other taxes, except taxes upon real estate."

Penolties.—A company doing business without a license is liable to a penalty of $20 for each day it transacts business without such license. An agent transacting business for an unlicensed company is deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction will be punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment in jail for not less than ten or more than sixty days.

Application.—Every life insurance company doing business in the District shall attach to each policy issued by such company a copy of the application made by the insured, so that the whole contract may appear in the application and policy.

Licenses.—The Superintendent has issued the following regarding licenses:

All Companies and Associations.—For filing charter and other qualifying documents, together with issuing license to company; such license authorizing the company to issue only its own policies, $10.

Local and Foreign Companies.—Each insurance company, local or foreign, desiring to act as agent for the purpose of receiving business from another company, or from agents or representatives of any other company, is required to procure a "General Insurance License." Fee to be paid by the company, $50.

Foreign Companies.—Must be licensed under Section 646 before they can in any way do business in the District of Columbia. A foreign company issuing its own policy to a person in the District of Columbia is not required to be represented by a Principal, or Policy-Writing Agent. If such a company desires, however, to do business in the District by issuing policies there, then its representative must hold a "General Insurance License." Fee to be paid by the agent, $50.

Principal, or Policy-Writing Agents' License.—This "General Insurance License" may be issued to a person, or a firm not exceeding two members, or an association, or to a corporation or secretary or assistant secretary of either of such bodies having such officers. Under this form of license an unlimited number of companies may be represented by an agent; and power is granted to the licensee to appoint solicitors for each company he represents. A Policy-Writing Agent may also act as broker. Fee to be paid by the agent, $50.

Brokers' "General Insurance License."—This license carries with it all the privileges granted a Principal, or Policy-Writing Agent, except that the licensee cannot issue policies or appoint solicitors. A broker represents no company, but places the business he controls wherever he elects in companies that are licensed to do business in the District of Columbia. Fee to be paid by broker, $50.

Solicitor's License.—A solicitor must be employed in some capacity by a company or its principal agent. License privilege is limited to one company only and the name of such company must be embodied in the license. Fee to be paid by solicitor, $5.

Industrial Solicitor's License.—Limited to one company and the name of such company must appear in the license. Fee to be paid by the solicitor, $2.

Licenses for companies, agents, solicitors, and brokers now doing business in the District will bear date as of January I, 1902, and be in force until April 30, 1902; fees for which must be prepaid. Applications for annual licenses for the same must be applied for and prepaid during the month of March, 1902. Annual licenses take effect May I, 1902. All licenses are transferable by assignment; fee for each assignment being 25 cents.

Penalties.—For any violation of the laws relating to insurance a fine not exceeding $1000 is incurred, or imprisonment in the county jail not more than 30 days, or both. For neglect to report premiums and pay taxes thereon a forfeiture of $100 for each day of such default is provided.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Fraudulent Statements.—Any agent, physician or other person knowingly securing insurance on the life of any person without their knowledge or consent, or by means of misrepresentation or false and fraudulent statements, be instrumental in securing insurance on an aged or infirm person, or restore insurance on a person not in insurable condition, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanon. Penalty, fine not less than $100 nor more than $500, to which may be added imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than two years.

Miscellaneous Companies.—No company permitted to transact business unless it has a capital of at least $200,000, and every company must pay a tax of three per cent on its premium receipts less losses paid. Surety companies must have $250,000 capital. Plate glass insurance companies must have $100,000 capital. Live stock insurance companies must have a paid-up capital of not less than $50,000, and must furnish annual statements.

Questionable Deposit Law.—At the last session of the legislature a law was passed to "regulate foreign corporations issuing stocks, bonds, contracts and agreements upon which payments are to be made in instalments," etc. It requires a statement under oath to be filed with the Auditor of State in designated form, a deposit to be made with the Auditor of a sum of not less than $25,000 the first year, and, after the first year, a deposit at all times equal to the amount of its liabilities to citizens of this State. Whether or not this will be construed as applying to life insurance companies has not been officially announced.

Iowa.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, B. F. CARROLL, AUDITOR OF STATE, DES MOINES.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file a copy of its charter and a statement showing its condition, and a copy of its last annual report.

Attorney.—Companies must appoint the Auditor of State to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—Company must have at least $100,000 of paid-up capital or surplus over and above all liabilities invested in stocks or bonds of the United States, of the State of Iowa, or of the State wherein it is incorporated, or mortgages on unencumbered real estate worth double amount of the loan. Such securities must be deposited with the proper officer of the State in which such company is located, to be held in trust for the benefit of all policyholders.

Companies of Other Countries.—Foreign companies must have at least $200,000 on deposit with the proper officer of some State for the protection of all policyholders in the United States.

Valuation of Policies.—Policies to be valued upon the basis of the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at 4½ per cent, or upon the basis of the Actuaries' or Combined Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at 4 per cent.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Auditor on or before the first day of March of each year showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Agents must procure annually from the Auditor certificates of authority to do business. Local and traveling agents must procure certified copy of the certificate of authority issued to the company. In all advertisements agents must state the location of the company and the authority under which it is organized.

Discrimination.—Discrimination between insurants of the same class and expectation of life in amount of premiums to be paid or benefit to be received, is prohibited. A copy of the application must accompany the policy. The omission does not invalidate the policy, but precludes the company from setting up misrepresentation as a defense to an action brought under such policy.

Examinations.—The Auditor is authorized to examine any company doing business in the State and to publish the result of such examination when he deems it for the best interests of the public, but examinations may not be made oftener than once every two years.

Fees.—For filing certified copy of charter, $25; annual statement, $20; issuing certificate of authority and certified copy thereof, $2; copies of papers, 20 cents per folio; certification of same, $1; valuing policies, $10 per million of insurance or a fraction thereof; examination of companies, expenses incurred; other fees regulated by reciprocal provision.

Taxes.—At the time of filing annual statement company is required to pay a tax of 2½ per cent upon gross premium receipts received in the State during the preceding year. Reciprocal provisions.

Penalties.—Failure to file annual statement or procure certificate of authority incurs a penalty of $100 for every day's default. Agents transacting business during the period of such default shall forfeit $300. Agents failing to obtain certificate of authority to forfeit $25 for each day's neglect. For giving rebates to the insured a fine of $500 is provided and revocation of license for three years.

[Iowa requires that life companies, organized within the State, shall have at least $100,000 subscribed capital, of which twenty-five per cent must be deposited with the Auditor before they can commence business. Also that the net cash value of all policies in force shall be deposited with the State Auditor in approved securities.]

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Approval of Contract.—No form of policy contract for life insurance may be issued until approved by the State Auditor, Governor and Attorney-General and must be based upon satisfactory medical examination of the applicant. Failure to comply with this provision works a forfeiture of from $100 to $1000 and revocation or suspension of authority.

Medical Examination.—Where medical examiner for a company certifies that applicant is insurable, the company is estopped from defending on the ground that he was not in an insurable condition.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Any company, association or partnership doing business in the State must have a capital of at least $200,000, except that plate glass companies may have $100,000. Companies organized to do accident insurance exclusively, $100,000 capital and $100,000 cash surplus. All companies must pay a tax of two and a half per cent on gross premiums received.

Misstatement of Age.—A misstatement as to age does not void policy, but company may collect difference of premium.

Kansas.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, C. H. LULING, SUPERINTENDENT OF INSURANCE, TOPEKA.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file a copy of its charter and by-laws and a copy of its last annual report to show the condition of the company on December 31 preceding.

Attorney.—The Superintendent of Insurance must be appointed the attorney of the company to accept service of legal process. The company must file with the Insurance Department its written consent, irrevocable, that actions may be commenced against the company in any county in the State in which the cause of action shall arise or plaintiff shall reside, and that service of process on the Superintendent shall be binding on the officers of the company.

Funds.—Every company must possess assets equal to at least $100,000 invested in the bonds of the United States, of the State of Kansas or of the State in which it was incorporated, or mortgages on unencumbered real estate worth double the amount loaned.

Companies of Other Countries.—Securities to the amount of $100,000 must be deposited with the proper official of some State for the security of all policyholders in the United States.

Valuation of Policies.—Valuations to be made upon the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at four and one-half per cent. Policies to be valued once in three years unless the same are valued in accordance with the laws of some other State, in which case a certificate of such valuation shall be furnished the Superintendent.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed previous to March I each year, showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding. A synopsis of such statements must be published in each county where the company has an agent.

Agents.—Every agent must procure a license from the Superintendent, to be renewed March 1 of each year. Firms or companies may act under a single license.

Examinations.—The Superintendent may make an examination of any company when he has reason to suspect the correctness of any annual statement made by it, or that it is in an unsound condition, and to publish the result when he deems it for the best interests of the public. Fees fixed at $10 per day for each day of examination or travel and necessary traveling and hotel expenses.

Fees.—For filing and examining the charter of any insurance company and issuing the certificate of authority thereupon, $55; for filing the annual statement, $50; annual payment for benefit of State school fund, $50; for each license granted to agents, $2; for every copy of a paper filed in his office, the sum of twenty cents per folio; for affixing the seal of office and certifying to paper, $1. If the fees provided do not cover the expenses of the office, the deficiency shall be assessed equally upon all companies doing business in the State. Reciprocal provisions to regulate other fees.

Taxes.—Companies of other States are taxed two per cent on gross premium receipts, and foreign companies four per cent, other taxes governed by reciprocal legislation.

Penalties.—Companies or agents transacting business without complying with the law, subject to a fine of $500. For a violation of any of the provisions of the law the guilty person is subject to a penalty of not less than $100 or more than $500.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Surety companies must have at least $500,000 paid-up capital.

KENTUCKY.

Supervising Officer, HENRY R. PREWITT Insurance Commissioner, Frankfort.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file copy of its charter and a copy of its annual statement, showing its condition December 31 preceding; also copies of its policies and applications. Every corporation organized under the laws of this State, and every corporation doing business in this State, shall, in a conspicuous place, on its principal place or places of business, in letters sufficiently large to be easily read, have painted or printed the corporate name of such corporation, and immediately under the same, in like manner, shall be printed or painted the word "incorporated." Every insurance corporation, foreign or domestic, shall conduct its business in this State in its own proper and corporate name, and the policies and contracts of insurance issued by it shall be headed or entitled only by its proper or corporate name. When any such company publishes its assets it shall, in the same connection, and with equal conspicuousness, publish its liabilities, computed on the basis allowed for its annual statements; and publication purporting to show its capital shall exhibit only the amount of such capital as has been actually paid in in cash. Such publication shall be held to include all policies, renewals, signs, circulars, cards or other means by which public announcements are made.

Attorney.—Company must authorize the Insurance Commissioner or any agent to acknowledge service of legal process and consent that service upon such agent shall be binding to the company.

Deposit.—The certificate of the proper officer of some other State to the effect that he holds, on deposit for the benefit of all policyholders in such company, securities to the value of $100,000, must be filed with the Commissioner. Mutual life companies must have assets equal to $150,000.

Valuation of Policies.—The basis of valuation is the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at four per cent. On and after December 31, 1895, valuation to be on Combined Experience Tables, and interest at four per cent. A certificate from the proper officer of another State will be accepted as to valuation.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed on or before March 10, showing the condition of the company December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Agents must procure a license from the Commissioner authorizing them to do business in the State; certificate to be renewed annually. In all advertisements agent must state the location of the company he represents and the government under which it is organized.

Examinations.—The Commissioner is authorized to examine any company whenever he deems it prudent for the protection of policyholders. It is made his duty to examine domestic companies as often as once in four years.

Fees.—For filing certified copy of charter, $30; annual statement, $25; additional or supplementary statement for same year, $25; for license to each agent, $5; industrial life. $2; for copies of papers on file, 20 cents per folio; certification, fees governed by retaliatory law; making valuations, not to exceed one cent for every $1000 of insurance; examinations, actual expenses incurred; reciprocal provisions, relative to other fees. In case the fees collected do not equal the expenses of the office, the Commissioner is authorized to assess the deficiency upon the companies.

Licenses.—See Agents.

Taxes.—Every company shall, on the first day of July of each year, or within 30 days thereafter, file a statement of all premiums received in cash or otherwise in this State, or out of this State, on business done in this State during the year ending the 30th day of June last preceding, and shall, at the same time, pay into the State Treasury a tax of $2 on each $100 of said premiums. The city of Louisville is permitted to collect an additional tax of two and one-half per cent on business done in that city.

Penalties.—An agent transacting business without a license, subject to a penalty not less than $50 nor more than $100 for each offense, and imprisonment if fine is not paid. An agent doing business after the revocation of his license incurs a penalty of not less than $50 nor more than $100 and imprisonment not less than thirty nor more than fifty days. Company neglecting to make returns as required to forfeit $100 and revocation of license. Company appealing from a judgment against it, subject to a penalty of ten per cent of the amount of such judgment. Company removing a suit against it from the State to the Federal Court forfeits its license to do business.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Applications.—Statements made in application held to be representations, not warranties.

Discrimination.—Discrimination between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life as to rates, benefits or conditions of contract is prohibited.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Companies may be authorized to transact the following kinds of insurance, viz., accident, fidelity, live stock, plate glass, steam boiler and burglary; must have a paid-up capital of $150,000, or a deposit of $100,000, with the proper officer of some State, but before it can be authorized to do more than one kind of business in this State it must have a deposit equal to $100,000 for the first kind and $50,000 for each additional kind of business to be done. Companies are required to comply with the statutes relating to fire and marine companies of other States.

LOUISIANA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, EUGENE J. McGIVNEY, Asst. Secretary of State, Baton Rouge.

Preliminary Documents.—Life companies must file with the Secretary of State, before being admitted, and on or before the 1st day of March, annually thereafter, a certificate of the proper officers of the government by whose authority it was organized, setting forth a full copy of its report of its conditions on the preceding 31st day of December, a valuation of its policies in accordance with the American Experience of Mortality, with interest at 4 per cent, and that it has complied with the laws of such government and is authorized to transact business therein; a certified copy of its charter.

Attorney.—Company must appoint the Secretary of State its lawful attorney to accept legal process.

Funds.—Life companies must possess a paid-up capital of not less than $100,000. Amendment of 1900.

Agents.—Agents must procure a certificate of authority from the Secretary of State.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements of companies must be filed with the Secretary of State on or before the first day of March in each year, showing their condition upon the preceding 31st day of December.

Valuations.—Valuations of the policies of a company are to be computed upon the basis of the Actuaries' or Combined Experience Table of Mortality, with compound interest at 4 per cent; and also upon the basis of the so-called American Experience of Mortality with compound interest at 4 per cent, or such other rate of interest as may be prescribed by the legal rate of reserve at the domicile of a corporation, providing it is not greater than 4 per cent.

Advertisements.—Every advertisement or public announcement, circular or card issued by a company purporting to make known its financial condition, must conform in all particulars to the preceding official statement made by the company, and shall state specifically the sum of its liabilities. Companies and agents are prohibited from advertising in any manner any funds or assets not actually possessed by it, and available for the payment of losses and claims. Advertising of capital not actually paid up will be construed a violation of the law.

Rebates.—The payment of any commission, brokerage or rebate to any person except the authorized agent or representative of any company authorized to do business in the State is prohibited. Any violation of this section, to which the insured is a party, shall annul the contract ipso facto; the agent or solicitor making the rebate shall have his certificate of authority forfeited, and shall not receive a certificate of authority to do business in the State for a period of three years.

Examinations.—The Secretary of State is authorized, as often as he deems it expedient, to appoint one or more competent persons to examine into the affairs of any insurance corporation. If he shall find the capital of any company impaired to the extent of twenty-five per cent, he shall revoke its license to do business, and cause a notice thereof to be published in the official journal.

Licenses.—"That each and every life and accident insurance company (society), association, corporation or other organization or firm, or individual doing and conducting a life or accident insurance business of any kind in this State, whether such company (society), association, corporation, or other organization or firm, or individual is located or domiciled here or operated here, through a branch department, resident board, local office, firm, company, corporation, or agency of any kind whatsoever, shall pay a separate and distinct license on said business for each company represented, and said license shall be based on the gross annual amount of premiums on all risks located within the State, and upon risks located in other States or foreign countries, upon which no license has been paid therein, as follows: 1st class—when said premiums are $700,000 or more, the license shall be $5250; 2d class—premiums $690,000 and less than $700,000, license $5175; 3d class—premiums $680,000 and less than $690,000 license $5100; 4th class—premiums $670,000 and less than $680,000 and less than $690,000 and less than $690,000 and less than $690,000 and less than $690,000 license $4875;

MAINE.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, STEPHEN W. CARR, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, AUGUSTA.

Preliminary Documents.—Companies must file a certified copy of charter and by-laws and a power of attorney appointing the Insurance Commissioner attorney of the company. Also statement of financial condition in the form prescribed by Commissioner.

Attorney.—Companies must appoint Insurance Commissioner attorney to accept service of process; authority continues as long as any liability of company exists in the State. Service on any agent also binds the company.

Funds.—Must have cash capital of $100,000 well invested, or net cash assets to that amount if a mutual company.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed on or before the last day of January, showing the condition of the company December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Agents of foreign companies must be residents of the State. Company must file with Commissioner a certificate of appointment and obtain license for each agent, which must be renewed July 1. Company bound by agent's knowledge of risk and by his acts. Service of process may be made on any agent. Agent personally liable on all contracts of insurance unlawfully made by or through him in unauthorized companies.

Companies of Other Countries.—Foreign life and accident companies must have a deposit of $100,000 with the proper officer of some State for the benefit of all the company's policyholders in the United States. Assets in United States must be in hands of trustees who are citizens thereof. Must also comply with conditions applicable to other State companies unless inconsistent.

Examinations.—The Commissioner is authorized to examine into the condition of any company whenever he deems it necessary for the protection of policyholders. Whenever he has reason to believe that a company is in an unsafe condition, he may on reasonable notice suspend its right to do business in the State.

Fees.—License to company and renewal of same in July of each year, $20; license to each agent and renewal of same, $2 for each person covered by the license; license to broker and renewal, $10 for each person covered by the license. Examination of insurance company, actual expenses incurred. Retaliatory provisions.

Licenses.—All licenses, except brokers', expire July I next succeeding the date thereof. Applications for licenses to firms or corporations must give firm or corporate name and name and residence of each member to be covered by the license. Brokers who place business with agents of foreign companies must be residents of the State. Brokers' licenses expire in one year from the date thereof.

Taxes.—Company must file a sworn statement on or before the 31st day of January, stating the amount of premiums received in the State during the year ending December 31 preceding, and on or before the first day of May pay to the State Treasurer a tax of one and one-half per cent on such gross premiums, less return premiums on policies canceled and reinsurance in companies authorized to transact business in Maine. Additional or greater taxes in accordance with reciprocal provisions. Companies must also furnish a schedule of risks reinsured and shall be allowed no reduction for premiums paid for reinsurance of Maine business to companies not authorized to transact business in Maine.

Penalties.—Agents acting for a company without license subject to a penalty not exceeding $50 for each offense. Broker acting without license punished by a fine not exceeding $50, or by imprisonment not exceeding sixty days. Licenses of companies violating or neglecting or refusing to comply with law may be revoked. Every company or agent violating "Anti-Rebate" law forfeits not exceeding $200 and license of agents shall be revoked for one year upon conviction for violation.

Discrimination in life and endowment policies prohibited. Penalty not exceeding $200.

Non-Forfeiture Law.—The non-forfeiture law applies to domestic companies only.

MARYLAND

SUPERVISING OFFICER, LLOYD WILKINSON, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, BALTIMORE.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Insurance Commissioner a certified copy of its charter and a certificate from the proper officer of the State wherein the company was organized showing that it is entitled to transact business; also a statement showing the condition of the company.

Attorney.—A citizen of the State must be authorized to accept service of legal process. In the absence of an attorney service may be made on the Commissioner.

Funds.—Company must possess assets satisfactorily invested to the amount of $100,000.

Companies of Other Countries.—Foreign companies must file annual statements on or before July 1.

Agents.—Agents and solicitors must obtain a certificate of authority from the Commissioner, renewable annually on January I of each year. Licenses for sub-agents or solicitors, $2.

Valuation of Policies.—The basis of valuation is the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at four and one-half per cent. Commissioner is required to accept the valuation of other State insurance officials, if made in accordance with the basis here given.

Examinations.—The Commissioner is authorized to examine a company whenever he has reason to doubt its solvency, or the correctness of any statement made by it; he must, however, first communicate his suspicions to the insurance official of the State wherein the company is organized, and shall examine if not satisfied with the information obtained.

License.—To company, $300.

Fees.—Filing charter, $25; annual statement, $25; general agents' license, $10; subagents, $2; two abstracts of annual statement for publication, $4.

Taxes.—One and one-half per cent on gross premiums. Reciprocal provision.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed within ninety days from January I of each year, showing the condition of the company on December 3I preceding. An abstract of the statement must be published by the Commissioner prior to the Ist day of April, once a week for three weeks in a daily newspaper published in Baltimore, and the company must publish a similar abstract three consecutive times.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Application.—False statements in an application shall not void policy unless such false statement materially affects the risk. When the misstatement is in regard to age, the company required to pay according to real age at date of policy.

Discrimination.—Companies prohibited from making discriminations between insurants of the same class and expectation of life, as to rates, benefits or conditions of contract. The offense constitutes a misdemeanor, and the penalty a fine of $500 for each offense for each $25,000 of insurance, and forfeiture of license.

False Statements.—Any person, officer or examining physician making false statements for the purpose of procuring insurance, shall be held guilty of a misdemeanor. Penalty, fine not less than $100 nor more than $1000.

Penalty, fine not less than $100 nor more than $500, or imprisonment not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both fine and imprisonment.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Companies organized to do more than one kind of business other than life, fire or marine, required to have an aggregate capital and surplus of at least $100,000 for each class of business authorized, but can do all such classes of business when possessed of $300,000. Companies doing one kind of business other than life, fire and marine, must have $100,000, and $100,000 deposited in some State.

Misrepresentations.—No oral or written misrepresentations made by the insured in negotiating a contract of insurance shall void the policy, unless made with intent to decrease or increase the risk.

Unauthorized Companies.—Any person may be licensed to place business in unauthorized companies upon their own property or upon property in which they are interested. Such persons must file bond to comply with the law and pay a tax of two per cent upon the net premiums paid for such insurance.

Mississippi.

Supervising Officer, W. Q. COLE, Insurance Commissioner, Jackson.

An act passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor March 5 created an Insurance Department distinct from the office of the State Auditor. It provides for an Insurance Commissioner to be elected at the general election in 1903, the Auditor meantime continuing to discharge the duties of Commissioner. Few changes are made in the old law, and the following statutory requirements are provided:

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file a copy of its charter and a statement of its financial condition.

Attorney.—An agent of the company who lives in the State must be empowered to accept service of legal process, and also the Insurance Commissioner.

Funds.—Stock company must possess at least $100,000 of actual capital, and a mutual company must have assets of an equal amount satisfactorily invested.

Valuation of Policies.—No provision.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed on or before March I, showing the condition of the company December 31 preceding. Blanks can be had on application to Commissioner.

Agents.—Every agent must obtain a certificate from the Commissioner that the company is duly authorized. Certificates to be renewed and filed annually.

Examinations.—Must be made every three years in the case of domestic companies, or upon request of five stockholders, policyholders or creditors.

Fees.—For filing preliminary statement, $20; filing annual statement, $10; copy of annual statement and certificate, $5; for certificate of authority to each general or district agent, $3; for each canvassing agent, $2; for publication of annual statement (to be paid to publisher), $9.

Licenses.—For life company, $250 per annum.

Taxes, Life Companies.—Companies required to pay two per cent on gross premiums collected in the State during the first year, and one-tenth of one per cent "upon renewal premiums on business hereafter written."

Penalties.—On conviction of violation of any of the provisions of the law relating to insurance the offender is subject to a penalty of not less than $100, nor more than $500 for each offense, and, in some instances, imprisonment for not more than one year.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Accident insurance companies must pay a privilege tax of $200; plate glass companies, $100; live stock companies, $100; surety companies, $100. Companies must obtain license for each line of business that it does, except that life companies may do an accident business; a tax of two per cent on gross premiums, less return premiums, is required.

Missouri.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, R. G. YATES, SUPERINTENDENT OF INSURANCE, JEFFERSON CITY.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Insurance Department a certified copy of its charter, with all amendments thereto and their dates; a copy of its last annual statement; a certificate from the Insurance Department of its own State that the company has been duly organized and authorized to transact the business for which it was chartered; a certificate from the Insurance Department (or in the absence of an insurance department, from the State Auditor or Treasurer) that the company has on deposit, for the benefit of all policyholders of the company, not less than $100,000, and a schedule showing the kind of securities in which such deposit has been invested; a certificate that similar companies of the State of Missouri would be authorized to transact business in the company's home State upon compliance with the law; a copy of the appointment of the company's general agent, if any, with designated powers.

Attorney.—A power of attorney authorizing the Superintendent of the Insurance Department to receive and accept service of process.

Funds.—Foreign companies must deposit with proper officer of any State not less than $100,000 for benefit of all policyholders in the United States.

Valuation of Policies.—Annual valuations upon the basis of net premiums by the Actuaries' Table of Mortality, with four per cent interest, are made in the department. Superintendent may (and does) accept certificates of valuation, not made by employees of companies, from States whose laws permit of reciprocation. Before proceeding against an insolvent company, Superintendent must apply a gross valuation based upon company's actual experience. Impairment of capital is to be treated with the discretion of the Superintendent of the Insurance Department.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements showing condition of company on 31st of December must be filed within sixty days after January 1.

Agents.—Local agents and solicitors must have certified copy of company's authority to transact business as their license. One copy answers for a firm, but each member of the firm must be named therein, except for companies whose home States require each member of the firm to have a separate license. In cities of 100,000 population agents must have special license, at an annual cost of $100. Other incorporated town's have license system under which they demand of insurance agents $5, $10, $15, $20 or more per annum.

Examinations.—The Superintendent may at any time examine the affairs of any company, or is authorized to accept the report of an examination made by the proper officer of another State.

Fees.—For filing a copy of charter and preliminary statement of condition, $50; regular annual statement, $30; company's license, $1; power of attorney and each other paper required to be put on file in the office of the Superintendent, $10; agents' and solicitors' copy of certificate of authority (license), $2 each; copies of papers, 20 cents per folio; affixing seal of department, $1. Valuation fee, $10 per million of insurance. Fees are retaliatory.

Taxes.—Companies must make sworn report to the Superintendent of the Insurance

Department, on or before March 1st, of all premiums received in the State, whether in cash or by note, during the year ending the preceding 31st of December. On this gross amount the Superintendent levies a State tax of two (2) per cent. The State tax must be paid to the State Treasurer on or before May 1. State taxes are retaliatory.

Penalties.—Agents doing business without authority are subject to fines from $10 to $100, or imprisonment, or both. Superintendent of Insurance Department has authority to revoke licenses of companies when, in his judgment, their proceedings are hazardous to the public.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Application.—Misrepresentations in application shall not void the policy unless such misrepresentations materially affect the risk.

Compacts and Combinations.—It is unlawful to become a party to "any pool, trust, agreement, combination, confederation or understanding" to fix rates.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Every insurance company must file certificate with Superintendent that at least $200,000 of its capital is deposited with the proper official of some State for the benefit of all its policyholders, except that plate glass and accident companies may have $100,000 so deposited. Miscellaneous companies must comply with laws relative to fire insurance, and pay a tax of two per cent on premiums received.

Policies Non-forfeitable.—Policies are made non-forfeitable after three years for non-payment of premium, but shall be converted into extended or paid-up insurance.

Suicide is not a valid defense against payment of loss unless it be shown that the deceased contemplated self-destruction when he took out the policy.

Stipulated Premium Companies.—Companies authorized to organize on stipulated premium basis, providing for a reserve for limited payment and other forms of investment policies and emergency or insurance fund for all other forms.

MONTANA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, J. H. CALDERHEAD, STATE AUDITOR, HELENA.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file a certified copy or its charter, with a statement as to the name of company, location, amount of capital and details of its condition.

Anti-Rebate Law.—The law of 1903 provides for a fine not exceeding $500, and revocation of license for one year for rebating; secret and fraternal orders excepted.

Attorney.—Company must appoint an attorney in each county in which its agencies are established, resident of the county seat, to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—Company must have deposited with the proper officer of some one of the States or Territories a sum of not less than $100,000 for the benefit of policyholders.

Companies of Other Countries.—Foreign companies must have not less than $100,000 deposited in some State for the protection of policyholders in the United States.

Valuation of Policies.—No provision.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Auditor within ninety days from January 1 each year, showing the condition of the company December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Agents must procure a certificate of authority from the Auditor, and in all advertisements publish the location of the company. All agents soliciting insurance must be residents of the State. Certificates expire March 31 annually.

Examinations.—The State Auditor may, whenever he deems it expedient, examine into the affairs of any company doing business in the State.

Fees.—For filing application of company and issuing license, $300; filing annual statements, $25; issuing certificate of authority, $5; copies of papers on file, ten cents per folio; certifying same, fifty cents; for examination of companies, the necessary expense involved. Other fees regulated by reciprocal provisions.

Licenses.—Company must pay to the Auditor: For license to collect in any one year premiums amounting to the sum of $5000 or less, $125; for a license to collect in any one year premiums over the sum of $5000, the sum of $20 for each and every $1000 to be so collected.

Taxes.—Each agent must report to the Tax Assessor of the county wherein he does business the amount of premiums received over losses and expenses during the preceding year and shall pay a tax upon the excess at the same rate that personal property is taxed. Agent personally liable for the tax. If the agent neglects or refuses to render statement of premiums the Assessor will assess the amount according to the best of his knowledge, and the County Board of Equilization may add fifty per cent to the amount returned by the Assessor. This in lieu of all other taxation, except on real estate.

Penalties.—For every violation of the law or failure to comply with its requirements a fine not exceeding $1000 and imprisonment not exceeding six months is imposed.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Miscellaneous Companies.—All companies must have at least $200,000 capital, and conform to the general insurance laws.

Persons and Companies.—The law applies to "every company, association, person or persons, agent or agents," transacting the business of insurance.

NEBRASKA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, CHARLES WESTON, AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS, LIN-COLN. WILLIAM B. PRICE, INSURANCE DEPUTY.

Reciprocal legislation.

Penalties.—Any violation of the law relating to insurance subjects the offender to a fine not exceeding $2000 for each offense. Any person assuming to act as an agent without license subject to a fine of not more than $500 for each offense. An agent procuring a premium through fraudulent representations is liable to a fine of not more than $500, or imprisonment not more than one year. For violation of the rebate law a penalty of $500 is provided, and a revocation of license for three years.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Discrimination.—Discrimination between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life, as regards rates, benefits, or conditions of contract is prohibited. Penalty, a fine not exceeding $500, and revocation of license.

Miscellaneous Companies.—No provision for companies other than life, fire and surety. Surety companies organized under the laws of any of the United States can be admitted to this State upon complying with the laws relating to foreign insurance companies and their agents. The unearned premium in such companies computed as in fire insurance companies. Judges, heads of departments or other officers authorized to approve bonds may accept and approve as a surety for persons required to give bonds; policies issued by authorized companies.

Misrepresentations.—Misrepresentations or mistakes shall not void a policy unless such were intentionally or fraudulently made, or unless they materially affect the risk.

Representations Not Warranties.—Statements made in application are held to be representations only and not warranties.

NEW JERSEY.

Supervising Officer, DAVID O. WATKINS, COMMISSIONER OF BANKING AND INSURANCE, TRENTON.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Insurance Commissioner a certified copy of its charter and a statement showing the condition and business of the company at the close of the preceding year. It must appoint the Insurance Commissioner its attorney to accept legal process.

Funds.—Company must possess a paid-up and well invested capital stock of at least $100,000, or net cash assets to that amount.

Valuation of Policies.—Basis of valuation of policies, the Actuaries' Table of Mortality, with interest at four per cent; for computing values of policies, one cent on each $1000.

Taxes.—Taxes upon life companies of other States regulated by reciprocal provision.

Penalties.—For neglect to file statement a penalty of $100 per day is provided. For violations of other requirements a penalty of $500 is provided.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Discrimination.—Any distinction or discrimination in favor of individuals between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life, as regards rates, benefits or conditions of contract, is prohibited. Penalty, a fine of $100 for every $2500 of insurance written, and the person against whom final judgment is obtained is prohibited for two years thereafter from acting as agent of any life insurance company in the State. Discrimination against colored persons, wholly or partially of African descent, is also prohibited. Penalty, a fine of $500.

New Mexico.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, W. G. SARGENT, TERRITORIAL AUDITOR, SANTA FE.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must appoint in each county in which it does business an attorney to accept service of legal process. Such attorney must reside at the county seat and may be an agent of the company.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Auditor and a synopsis of the same must be published in one newspaper in every county wherein the company has an agent.

Agents.—Companies must have at least one agent at the county seat of every county in which it solicits business, who is a resident of the Territory.

Examinations.—The Territorial Auditor may examine into the affairs of any company whenever he has reason to believe that it is in an unsound condition.

Fees.—For examination of first application of company and issuing certificates, $25; for filing annual statements, $5; certificate to agent, $1; copies of papers on file, 10 cents per folio, and 25 cents for certifying the same. Each agent must pay a license fee of $10 in each county where he does business.

Taxes.—Agents must make a return to the Assessor of the county of premiums received and losses and expenses incurred, and a tax will be levied upon the balance the same as upon personal property. Real estate owned by companies is also subject to taxes. Other taxes governed by reciprocal legislation.

Penakies.—Any company or person failing to comply with any of the requirements of this act, or violating any of the provisions thereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding $1000, and be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not less than thirty days nor more than six months.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Plate glass and accident companies must have $100,000 capital; all others, $300,000.

NEW YORK.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, FRANCIS HENDRICKS, SUPERINTENDENT OF INSURANCE, ALBANY.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Superintendent a certified copy of its charter and a statement verified by the president, vice-president or other chief officer and secretary, giving the name, location, capital, assets and liabilities of the company in detail. Also a copy of its last annual statement made in conformity to the laws of the State in which it was organized. Company must obtain from the Superintendent a certificate of authority to do business.

Attorney.—The Superintendent of the Insurance Department must be appointed attorney for the company to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—Company must possess at least $100,000 of assets invested in United States bonds or in securities of the State in which it is located, or of New York State, or of any county or incorporated city of this State authorized by the legislature to issue bonds, such stocks or bonds not to be received at a rate above their par value or above the market value; or in bonds and mortgages on improved unincumbered real property in this State worth fifty per centum more than the amount loaned thereon.

Deposit.—Company must have on deposit with the proper financial officer of the State wherein it was incorporated at least $100,000, and must file a certificate with the Superintendent that such sum is held for the benefit of all its policyholders.

Companies of Other Countries.—Foreign companies must have not less than $200,000 held in trust in this country for the protection of policyholders in the United States, including a deposit with Superintendent of Insurance of $100,000.

Valuation of Policies.—The Superintendent of Insurance shall annually make valuations of all outstanding policies, additions thereto, unpaid dividends, and all other obligations of every life insurance corporation doing business in this State. All valuations made by him, or by his authority, shall be made upon the net premium basis, according to the standard of valuation adopted by the company for the obligation to be valued; provided, that in every case the standard of valuation employed shall be stated in his annual report, Any company may adopt different standards for obligations of different dates or classes, but if the total value determined by any such standard for the obligations for which it has been adopted shall be less than that determined by the legal minimum standard hereinafter prescribed, or if the company adopt no standard, said legal minimum standard shall be used. The legal minimum standard for contracts issued before the first day of January, 1901, shall be the Actuaries' or Combined Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at four per centum per annum, and for contracts issued on or after said day shall be the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum. The Superintendent may vary the standards of interest and mortality in the case of corporations from foreign countries, and in particular cases of invalid lives and other extra hazards, and value policies in groups, use approximate averages for fractions of a year and otherwise, and calculate values by net premiums or otherwise, and accept the valuation of the Department of Insurance of any other State in place of the valuation herein required, if the insurance officer of such State accepts as sufficient and valid for all purposes the certificate of valuation of the Superintendent of Insurance of this State.

Annual Statements.-Annual statements must be filed on or before March 1, showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding. Surety companies must report to the State Comptroller on or before August 1, as of June 30, the amount of premiums collected for the year ending on that date, for the purposes of taxation.

Agents.—Each agent must procure from the Superintendent a certificate authorizing him to do business. Such certificate must be renewed annually.

Examinations.—The Superintendent is authorized to examine companies whenever he may deem it necessary, and to charge therefor the actual expenses incurred, but will accept the certificate of examination of another State.

Fees.—On admission of foreign life insurance companies of foreign countries: For filing charter, $30: filing annual statement, $20: certificates to agents, such sum not exceeding $5 as shall be fixed by the Superintendent; copies of papers on file, ten cents per folio; certifying same, $1; examinations of companies, actual expenses incurred. mestic life insurance companies pay no fees except for certified copies of papers on file ten cents per folio and one dollar for seal and actual expenses incurred on examinations. Fees for foreign life insurance companies of other States of the United States are regulated by reciprocal provisions. The following amendment to chapter 14 of the general laws relating to taxation became a law April 29, 1901, and exempts from taxation the funds specified:

The deposits in any bank for savings which are due depositors, the accumulations in any domestic life insurance corporation, held for the exclusive benefit of the insured, other than real estate and stocks now liable for taxation; the accumulations of any incorporated co-operative loan association upon the shares of such association held by any person; and personal property of any corporation, person, company or association transacting the business of fire, casualty or surely insurance in this State, equal in value to the uncarned premiums required by the laws of this State, or the regulations of its Insurance Department, to be charged as liability.

Franchise Tax on Insurance Corporations.—The following amendment to the tax law in relation to franchise taxes of insurance corporations became a law March 16, 1901:

An annual State tax for the privilege of exercising corporate franchises or for carrying on business in their corporate or organized capacity within this State equal to one per centum on the gross amount of premiums received during the preceding calendar year for business done in this State, whether such premiums were in the form of money, notes, credits, or any other substitute for money, shall be paid annually into the Treasury of the State, on or before the first day of June by the following corporations:

1. Every domestic insurance corporation, incorporated, organized or formed under,

by, or pursuant to a general or special law;

2. Every insurance corporation, incorporated, organized or formed under, by, or pursuant to the laws of any other State of the United States, and doing business in this State, except a corporation doing a fire insurance business or a marine insurance business;

3. Every insurance corporation, incorporated, organized or formed under, by, or pursuant to the laws of any State without the United States, or of any foreign country, except such a corporation doing a life,* health or casualty insurance business, and doing business. ness in this State; but the tax on gross premiums of a corporation so incorporated, organized or formed and doing a fire or marine insurance business within the State shall be equal to five-tenths of one per centum. This section does not apply to a fraternal beneficiary society, order or association, a corporation for the insurance of domestic animals, a town or county co-operative insurance corporation, nor to any corporation subject to the supervision of or required by or in pursuance of law to report to the Superintendent of Banks; but this section does apply to an individual, or partnership, or association of underwriters known as Lloyds, in so far as corporations doing the same kind of insurance business are subject to its provisions. The taxes imposed by this section shall be in addition to all other fees, licenses or taxes imposed by this or any other law, except that in assessing taxes under the reciprocal provisions of section 33 of chapter 38 of the general laws, credit shall be allowed for any taxes paid under this section. Any insurance corporation taxed under this section for the year ending December 31, 1901, shall be credited by the Controller with one-half of the amount of taxes paid by it into the State Treasury, under the provisions of section 187 of the tax law, for the year ending June 30, 1901. The term, "gross premiums," as used in this article, shall include, in addition to all other premiums. such premiums as are collected from policies subsequently canceled and from reinsurance. The term, "insurance corporations," as used in this article, shall include a corporation, association, joint stock company or association, person, society, aggregation or partnership by whatever name known doing an insurance business in this State.

^{*}The Lewis Bill, requiring life companies of foreign countries to pay a tax of one per cent on all premiums on which a tax has not been paid to any other State, became a law in 1904.

Every insurance corporation liable to pay a tax under section 187 of this chapter shall, on or before March 1 in each year, make a written report to the Controller of its condition at the close of its business on December 31 preceding, stating the entire amount of premiums received on business done thereby in this State during the year ending with such day, whether the premiums were in money or in the form of notes, credits or other substitutes for money.

Taxes.—Marine insurance companies of foreign countries must pay to the Superintendent on or before March I of each year a tax of two per cent upon premiums received in the State during the preceding year. Surety companies must pay a franchise tax of one-fifth of one per cent upon gross premiums received in the State to the Comptroller. Other taxes regulated by reciprocal provisions.

Penalties.—Company failing to file annual statement as required by law subject to a penalty of $500, and $500 additional for each month it remains in default. The statute prevents a life company from making any discrimination between insurants of the same class and of the same expectation of life, either in the amount of premiums charged or in return of premium dividends or other advantages. Any person violating this provision of the law shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof the Superintendent is required to revoke his certificate of authority, and is prohibited from issuing another to him for the term of three years from the date of his conviction.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Application by Insured.—No policy may be issued except upon application of the person insured, but a wife may insure the life or health of her husband, an employer may insure his employees against accident for the benefit of the injured, and a parent or guardian may insure the life of a minor.

Discrimination.—Discrimination between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life as to rates, benefits or conditions of contract is prohibited.

Limitation of Employees' Contracts.—Companies are prohibited from making contracts with officers, trustees or employees for salaries extending beyond one year.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Casualty companies must make the same deposit as life companies, except where several classes of business are undertaken, when deposit must equal that which would be required were corporations formed separately for the several classes to be undertaken, not, however, to exceed the sum of $250,000. Credit and title guarantee companies required to report annually the amount of bonds and mortgages guaranteed by them.

Liability Companies.—On or before October 1 of every year, each company must state in writing to the Superintendent of Insurance its experience in the United States during a period of five years, commencing eight years previous to December 31 of the year in which the statement is made, in the following particulars, namely: Number of persons reported injured under all forms of liability policies; the number and amount of all claims against policyholders settled either by payment or compromise; the number or amount, separately, of all suits or actions against policyholders which have been settled either by payment or compromise. Each such company shall reserve an amount equal to the average cost of each suit or action pending, as shown by the experience so stated, and for injuries reported under such policies at any time within eighteen months the average cost for each injured person, as shown by said experience, less the average claim cost so ascertained for each claim paid or settled, and for each suit pending for injuries included in the reserve. Each company engaged in liability underwriting for less than eight years shall abide by the basis of average of the other companies, which average shall be furnished by the Superintendent of Insurance on or before December 1 of each year.

Title and Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Companies.—Every corporation organized under provisions of subdivision one of section 170 shall make and file with the Superintendent of Insurance on or before January 31 of each year a report in writing, setting forth the aggregate amount of bonds and mortgages outstanding on the 31st day of the preceding December, the payment of the principal and interest of which has been guaranteed by such corporation.

Notice before Forfeiture.—Notice to the insured of premiums due must be given at least fifteen days in advance, or policy cannot be forfeited.

Paid-up Policies.—After a policy has been in force three years, it shall not be forfeited for non-payment of premium, but a paid-up policy shall be issued for such an amount as the reserve, taken as a single premium, will purchase.

Stipulated Premium Companies.—Must maintain a reserve on all outstanding policies of not less than one annual net premium.

NORTH CAROLINA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, JAMES R. YOUNG, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, RALEIGH.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Insurance Commissioner a certified copy of its charter and a statement verified by the principal officer of the company or by its chief managing agent, showing its condition, December 31 preceding, and an agreement not to remove suits from State courts, and certificate of its home State that it is authorized to do the business named. Stock life and miscellaneous companies must have capital of $50,000; industrial life, $25,000. Foreign life companies must have $500,000 insurance in force on at least 500 lives.

Deposit.—Life companies of foreign countries must have on deposit with a State of the United States not less than $200,000, and companies of other States are required to have a capital of $100,000.

Rebating.—Not allowed. Fine, not less than $10 nor more than $50; for repeated offense, revocation of license.

Resident Agents.—A resident agents' law is in force.

Attorney.—The Insurance Commissioner must be designated to accept service of legal process in behalf of the company.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Insurance Commissioner on or before March 1. Abstracts of these must be published in one newspaper of general circulation.

Agents.—See Taxes and Penalties.

Examinations.—The Insurance Commissioner is authorized to examine a company whenever he has reason to doubt its solvency, all expenses to be borne by the company. It is made his duty to examine every domestic company at least once in three years.

Fees.—Filing preliminary papers, $20; filing annual statement, $10; certificate of examination, $2; charter fee, $25; certificate of increase or decrease of capital stock, $5; for each seal, $1; examination of domestic company, $25; examination of foreign company, $50; other papers, $1.

Accident companies, $200; miscellaneous stock companies, $100. Renewable April 1 of each year. Company's licenses prorated remainder of year.

Reinsurance.—No domestic life company shall reinsure its risks without consent of the Department.

Tases.—General agents shall, within thirty days from January I and July I of each year, make a sworn statement of the gross receipts obtained by them from residents of the State during the preceding six months, and shall, within the first fifteen days of February and August of each year, pay to the Insurance Commissioner a tax of two and one-half per cent upon such gross receipts. If, however, the agent can show that the company has invested in State, city and county bonds, or property situated and taxed in the State in a sum equal to one-quarter of entire assets, then the tax shall be but one per cent on such gross receipts; if three-quarters, then one-quarter of one per cent. This in lieu of all other taxes, licenses or fees, State, county or municipal.

Penalties.—An agent unlawfully expending the funds of the company shall upon conviction be deemed guilty of a felony and be punished accordingly. For any violation of the law in soliciting and collecting premiums the offender shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and on conviction pay fine of $200 or be imprisoned ninety days, or both. General agents neglecting to conform to the law shall forfeit and pay to the Insurance Commissioner from $10 to $500 for every violation.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Discrimination.—A law prohibiting discrimination between insurants of the same class as to premiums, etc., is in force.

Application.—Statements in application are held to be representations only, and not warranties.

Contracts.—Contracts issued upon applications made in the State are held to be State contracts, and subject to State laws.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Must comply with the general laws relating to insurance, and pay license fee for each class of business done, but not exceeding $350 in the aggregate.

North Dakota.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, FERD. LEUTZ, COMMISSIONER OF INSURANCE, BISMARCE.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Commissioner a copy of its charter and a statement showing its financial condition.

Attorney.—Company must appoint the Insurance Commissioner as its attorney to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—Company must possess available cash funds of not less than $200,000.

Valuation of Policies.—The basis of valuation is the Combined Experience or Actuaries' Table of Mortality. The assets of a company, composing its legal reserve, shall be valued so that the annual income therefrom shall not be less than four per cent of the valuation. Loans and credits shall not be allowed for more than their face value, nor shall any asset or investment be allowed at more than its market value.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Commissioner on or before first Monday in February, showing its condition on December 31 preceding. Such statement must be published at least three times in some newspaper of general circulation in each Judicial District of the State in which such insurance company shall have an agency. Statements for publication must be made out on blanks furnished by the Commissioner and published in each judicial district where company has an agency. Proof of publication must be filed with the Insurance Commissioner.

Agents.—Agents must obtain from the Commissioner certificates entitling them to do business. Such certificates are renewable annually. Each individual person who has anything to do, directly or indirectly, with the business of the company must have a certificate of authority, and all business must be transacted through resident agents.

Examinations.—The Commissioner of Insurance is authorized to make examinations of companies and to revoke licenses whenever he shall deem it necessary.

Fees.—Filing copy of charter, $25; filing annual statement, $10; furnishing copies of same for publication, $2; certificates of authority to company, $2; certificates to agents, $2.

Suicide.—No defense after one year.

Taxes.—At the time of filing the annual statement company must pay to the Commissioner of Insurance a tax of two and one-half per cent on the gross premiums received. Upon payment of such sum the Commissioner shall issue the annual certificates provided by law. The tax of two and one-half per cent is in full of all taxes, State and local.

Penalties.—Any violation of the provisions of the act relative to insurance subjects the person or company to a penalty of not less than $50 nor more than $500 for each offense. Any agent neglecting to file a sworn statement as required incurs an additional penalty of $100 for each month during which his default continues.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Every stock company of whatever nature must have at least $200,000 cash capital actually paid in. Surety companies must have $200,000 capital and a premium reserve of fifty per cent of the current annual premiums on outstanding risks. Must have on deposit with a State of the United States securities amounting to $100,000. Hail companies must keep $50,000 on deposit with the State Treasurer.

Оніо.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, ARTHUR I. VORYS, SUPERINTENDENT OF INSURANCE, COLUMBUS.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Superintendent certified copy of its charter and a statement verified by its chief officer, showing its condition. Certificates must be renewed and published annually. All life company licenses expire April I, other companies, March I. Before October of each year each company must file a report of the counties in which it has agencies, and the newspapers in which publication was made. Ohio companies are not required to publish certificates or file them with recorders.

Attorney.—A stipulation must be filed with the Superintendent to the effect that service of legal process made upon any agent of the company shall be valid.

Funds.—Stock companies must have at least $100,000 of actual paid-up capital invested in the interest paying bonds or stocks of the United States, or of this State, or of some other State of the United States, of the market value of $100,000 in the city of New York, or in bonds and mortgages on unincumbered real estate in this State, or in the State under the laws of which it was organized, of at least double the value of the amount loaned thereon; and such bonds and mortgages must be deposited with the Superintendent of Insurance of this State, or the chief financial or other officer of the State in which such company was organized, designated by the laws of such State to receive the same. Employers liability companies must deposit $50,000 with the Insurance Superintendent to secure policyholders in Ohio. Companies of foreign countries must deposit $100,000 for the benefit of policyholders in the State.

Companies of Other Countries.—Each company must have a deposit with the Superintendent of $100,000 in the stocks of the State of Ohio, United States bonds or bonds of any city or county in Ohio, to the value of $100,000, or with the proper officer of some State for the benefit of policyholders in the United States.

Valuation of Policies.—Policies are valued on the basis of the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at four per cent, or other valuation if not lower than that required by law.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed on the first day of January or within sixty days thereafter, showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Every agent must procure a license from the Superintendent for each company he represents, and a certified copy of same must be filed with the Recorder of the county in which the office is located. Certificates renewable annually.

Examinations.—The Superintendent of Insurance is authorized to examine a company at any time when he shall have good reason to suspect the correctness of any statement made to him, or that the affairs of the company are in an unsound condition. Domestic life companies must be examined annually. Expense of examination paid by State, except where made at request of company and subject also to reciprocal laws.

Fees.—For filing charter of company, $25; preliminary statement, $20; annual statements, $20; certificate of authority to agents, and certified copy thereof, $2; certificate of compliance, $1; copies of papers on file, 20 cents per folio; certification thereof, $1. For valuing policies, one cent for each $1000 of insurance valued. Other fees regulated by reciprocal provision.

Taxes.—Foreign companies pay two and one-half per cent on gross premiums, less return premiums and reinsurances. If any other State or government shall tax an Ohio company in excess of the above, the taxes of companies of such State or government operating in Ohio shall be the same.

Impairment.—In event of an impairment of capital of twenty per cent, the company must make good the deficiency. An impairment of forty per cent forfeits the right to transact new business.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Application.—A copy of the application and of any other document affecting the validity of the policy must accompany the policy as part thereof.

Discrimination.—Discrimination between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life, as to rates, benefits or conditions of contract is prohibited. Penalty, fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 and revocation of license for one year.

False Statements.—Any medical examiner making a false statement to a company affecting the granting of insurance shall be liable to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than three months.

Misstatements.—Misstatements in application shall not bar the right to recovery under the policy unless such misstatements were willfully made and materially affect the risk.

Policies Non-Forfeitable.—After three annual payments have been made thereon, company cannot defend "upon any other ground than fraud, on any claim arising upon such policy by reason of any errors, omission or misstatements of the assured in any application except as to age."

Miscellaneous Companies. - Every company must have at least $100,000 capital.

Examinations.—Commissioner may make examinations when he deems necessary.

Licenses.—A license of $25 per year is exacted from each company.

Fees.—For filing annual statement, $50; agent's certificate of authority, $2; for copies of papers on file, 20 cents per folio; certifying same, $1; for examining company, actual expenses incurred. Other fees governed by reciprocal provisions; $30 for filing copy of charter.

Penalties.—For any violation of the insurance laws a penalty of $500 is provided, and $100 additional for each month of default.

OREGON.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, F. I. DUNBAR, SECRETARY OF STATE, SALEM.

Preliminary Documents.—Joint stock companies must show to the Insurance Commissioner, by the reports or certificate of the proper insurance officer of some State having an insurance department, that it is possessed of a paid-up, unimpaired cash capital of at least $200,000, the requirements of capital not applying to life insurance companies possessing assets of $1,000,000 or more. Also file copy of charter or articles of incorporation. Mutual or co-operative insurance associations must show, to the satisfaction of the Insurance Commissioner, by the certificate of the proper insurance officer of the State in which it is organized, that it is possessed of an emergency or reserve fund for the benefit of its policy or certificate-holders, which shall not be less than $200,000, provided, that if such association shall have assets amounting to $200,000 set apart as a capital fund upon which it transacts business, it will be considered to have complied with the requirements respecting the emergency fund.

Attorney.—A citizen and resident of the State must be appointed attorney to accept service of legal process, and resident general agent, to whom all other agents of the company shall report.

Companies of Other Countries.—Foreign companies must have at least $200,000 deposited with the proper officer of some State for the protection of all policyholders in the United States.

Valuation of Policies.—No provision.

Annual Statements.—Annual statement must be filed with the Commissioner on or before the first day of March, showing total gross premiums received during the year previous, from which shall be deducted returned premiums and losses paid in the State, also file general annual statement showing the condition of the company December 31 preceding.

Agents.—All life insurance companies or corporations and all mutual insurance associations or societies must apply for a license for each agent or solicitor.

Examinations.—The Commissioner is authorized to examine any company upon the complaint of three citizens, but a certificate from the proper officer of some other State to the effect that it is financially sound, must be accepted in lieu of examination.

Fees.—To Secretary of State: Filing power of attorney, $5; issuing certificate of authority, $5; filing annual statement, $5; issuing agent's license, $5; examinations, expenses incurred.

Licenses.—Annual license, $100; expires December 31, each year. Pro rata for less than one year.

Taxes.—Two per cent upon gross receipts less premiums returned and losses paid in the State. Resident general agent must file sworn statement showing total premiums, premiums returned and losses paid.

Penalties.—For doing business without authority, $500 fine. Violations of other provisions of law, a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 is imposed. For making false statement, guilty of perjury, imprisonment.

Miscellaneous Companies.—The same provisions relate to accident and casualty insurance companies, except that they shall have a fund of at least $100,000; license and fees the same as life except no license required for agent or solicitor.

Surety Companies.—Foreign surety companies must show that they are possessed of a capital of $250,000 and assets of $300,000; pay $100 annually for a license. If engaged in other insurance business they shall pay the license required for each class of business transacted. A deposit of $50,000 is required or an investment of $65,000 in Oregon real estate approved by the Department. Must be authorized, under their charter and the laws of the State where incorporated, to become surety upon bonds, etc., file certified copy of articles of incorporation and a written application for authority to do business under the Act of February 20, 1890; also file power of attorney, appointing the Secretary of State of this State its true and lawful attorney, upon whom lawful process may be served.

Domestic companies must have a paid-up capital of $100,000. Taxes—Two per cent upon gross premiums less premiums returned and losses paid in the State.

Fraternal Orders.—Incorporated for the primary purpose of mutual protection and relief of members and having ritualistic work and ceremonies, are exempt from complying with the laws of the State respecting insurance corporations or associations.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Attorney.—Must appoint some citizen of Pennsylvania, other than the Insurance Commissioner, attorney to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—Company must possess assets equal to its liabilities.

Valuation of Policies.—The basis of valuation is the Actuaries' Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at four per cent to January 1, 1903, thereafter the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at three and one-half per cent. Commissioner authorized to accept valuations of other State officials.

Annual Statements.— Annual statements must be filed on or before March I, showing the condition of the company December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Company must certify to the Commissioner the names of the agents whom it appoints, and such agents must obtain certificate of authority from the Commissioner. Certificates to be renewed annually.

Examinations.—The Commissioner is authorized to make examinations for probable cause, and to publish the result of such examination whenever he shall deem it to the best interests of the public to do so.

Fees.—Filing copy of charter, $25; filing annual statement, $20; issuing certificates of authority and a certified copy of the same, $2; copies of papers on file, 20 cents per folio; certifying same, $1; valuing policies, not exceeding 3 cents for each $1000 of insurance valued; for examination of companies, actual expenses incurred. If the fees collected are not equal to the expenditures of the Department, the Commissioner is authorized to assess the deficiency upon the companies doing business in the State. Other fees regulated by reciprocal provision.

Taxes.—Company is required to report in the month of January of each year to the Commissioner the amount of premiums received by it in the State during the preceding year and to pay a tax of two per cent thereon into the State Treasury.

Penalties.—For neglecting to file the statements required, company incurs a penalty of $100 for each day's neglect. Companies or agents doing business without complying with the law incur a penalty of $500 for each month and fraction thereof in which such unlicensed business is transacted. For violation of the anti-rebate law a fine of $500 is provided for each offense where the amount insured is $25,000 or less, and $500 additional for each additional $25,000.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Application.—A copy of the application, and of every document affecting the contract, must be attached to policy.

Brokers.—Every person not an officer or agent of a company, who aids in the procurement of insurance, is deemed a broker, and must obtain a certificate from the Commissioner. Fee, $10.

Discrimination.—Discrimination between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life, as to rates, benefits or conditions of contract, is prohibited. Penalty, a fine of $500 where the insurance is $25,000 or less, and for every additional $25,000 or less an additional fine of $500, and the offender to be disqualified from doing business for three years. One-half the fine goes to the informer, the other half to the school fund of the county where the offense was committed.

Fraudulent Representations.—Any agent, physician or other person, making false representations for the purpose of procuring insurance, is deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and may be fined not more than $1000 or imprisonment not exceeding one year.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Stock life insurance companies cannot be incorporated with less than $300,000 capital. Mutual life companies must have a guarantee capital of not less than $200,000. SOUTH CAROLINA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, A. W. JONES, COMPTROLLER-GENERAL OF STATE, COLUMBIA.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file certificate of its charter and obtain license, which will authorize it to do business in every county in the State. Such license to expire March 31 of each year. A statement of the financial condition of the company must also be filed.

Attorney.—The company must appoint a resident agent as attorney to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—Company must have $100,000 capital or surplus, or file certificate that it has on deposit with the proper officer of some State $100,000 for the protection of all policyholders; in the absence of capital, a deposit of $10,000 is required.

Companies of Other Countries.—Foreign companies must comply with the same requirements as domestic companies as to payment of taxes.

Policies Non-forfeitable.—After a policy has been in force two years, the company is deemed to have waived its right to question statements made in the application.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed prior to March 31 showing its condition on December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Copy of appointment must be filed with Comptroller-General giving post-office address and residence. Agents must make a return between January 1 and February 20, showing the gross receipts and the value of personal property of the company at the agency.

Examinations.—Upon being satisfied that any company is unsafe or insolvent, it is made the duty of the Comptroller-General to refuse to license it and to cancel any license that may have been issued. When he has reason to doubt the solvency of any company doing business in the State, he must accept a certificate from the proper officer of the State under whose authority it was organized as proof of its solvency.

Licenses.—For license authorizing company to do business, $100. Also a "graduated license fee" of one-half of one per cent on gross premiums received during the three months immediately preceding the payment of such fee, to be made direct to State Treasurer. Quarterly returns of premiums to be made to the office of the Comptroller-General on the last days of March, June, September and December. (The City of Columbia imposes a special license of $50 for the first $1000 of premiums received by the agent, and $30 for each additional $1000.)

Taxes.—Every insurance company, of any class, not organized under the laws of the State, shall make a quarterly return to the Comptroller-General of its gross income for the preceding quarter, which return shall state in detail the amount of gross premiums, gross receipts or gross income collected by such company, in each of the various counties in the State. These returns to be made on the 31st of March, 30th of June, 20th of September and 31st day of December in each year. Immediately after the close of the year the Comptroller-General will report to the county auditor in each county a statement of the amount of gross premiums collected in such county during the preceding year, which statement shall be placed on the duplicate in such county, together with the other items now included in the taxable property of such company. Taxes are due and payable from October 15 to December 31 to County Treasurer. (The city of Columbia imposes a license of $50 for the first $1000 premiums, and $30 for each additional $1000.)

Penalties.—For each violation of the provision of the statutes a penalty of not less than $100 nor more than $500 is imposed for each offense.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Surety companies must have a capital of not less than $250,000. All companies required to pay a license fee of $100 per annum to the Comptroller-General.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, JOHN C. PERKINS, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, PIERRE.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Commissioner of Insurance a certified copy of its charter and a statement showing its financial condition; also a certificate showing that it has at least $100,000 of assets deposited with the proper officer of some State for the protection of all its policyholders.

Attorney.—A resident of the State must be appointed and empowered to accept service of legal process, or Commissioner of Insurance may be appointed.

Funds.—Company must have assets amounting to at least $100,000 deposited with the proper officer of some State for the protection of all its policyholders in the United States.

Valuation of Policies.—Policies are valued on basis of the American Experience Table and four and one-half per cent interest, or the Actuaries' Table and four per cent interest.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed within two months from January I, and must be published at least three times in one of three papers designated by the Commissioner of Insurance, and printed and published in each judicial circuit of the State in which the company shall have an agency, within ninety days from the filing of the statement. Advertisements must be paid for at legal rate, which is 75 cents per square of twelve lines of nonpareil type or its equivalent for the first insertion, and 50 cents per square for each subsequent insertion. (Goes into effect July I, 1903.)

Agents.—Agents must obtain from the Commissioner of Insurance a certificate entitling them to do business. Certificates renewable annually.

Rebating.—Not prohibited.

Examinations.—The Commissioner may, personally or by an authorized suitable person, make examinations at any time.

Fees.—For filing copy of charter, $25; annual statement, $10; issuing certificate of authority and certifying the same, $2; copies of papers on file, 20 cents per folio; certifying same, $1; examinations of companies, actual expenses incurred, not exceeding $10 per diem. All fees subject to reciprocal laws of the State.

Taxes.—At the time of filing annual statement, company is required to pay into the State Treasury two and one-half per cent on the gross premiums received in the State during the preceding year. Such taxes in lieu of all other State and local taxes. Reciprocal laws govern taxes, fees, etc., same to a penalty of $500 for each violation. For neglect to file statements as required, $100.

Penalties.—Violation of any of the provisions of the act subjects the party violating.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Fraudulent Statements.—Any agent, physician, or other person, making fraudulent statements to obtain insurance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject to a fine not exceeding $1000 or imprisonment not more than one year, or both fine and imprisonment.

Medical Certificate.—When a medical examiner has certified that the applicant is a fit subject for insurance, company is estopped from defending on the ground that insured was not in good health.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Every company must have a capital of at least $100,000. Fidelity and surety companies must comply with the laws relating to life companies.

Misstatement of Age.—When the applicant has misstated age in his application, company may charge premium as of his correct age, but can make no other deduction from policy on account of such misstatement.

TENNESSEE.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, REAU E. FOLK INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, NASHVILLE.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file a certified copy of charter, a certificate of the Insurance Commissioner of the State where incorporated, to the effect that it has authority to do the character of business in such State it desires to do in Tennessee, and a verified statement showing its condition December 31 preceding. Company must also file a copy of its charter with the Secretary of State.

Attorney.—Company must appoint the Insurance Commissioner its agent to accept service of legal process and stipulate that service on the Commissioner shall be valid.

Funds.—Company must possess actual cash assets over and above all liabilities to the amount of at least $100,000, invested in accordance with the laws of the State under which said company is organized.

Deposit.—Company required to have a deposit of $100,000 with the proper financial officer of the State wherein it is organized, and must present certificate to the Commissioner that such funds are held by him for the security of the policyholders of the company.

Valuation of Policies.—The basis of valuation is the Combined Experience or Actuaries' Table or American Experience Table of Mortality with interest at the rate of four per cent per annum. Commissioner required to value the policies of all companies, but is allowed to accept valuation made by the Commissioner of another State, provided such valuation is on the required basis.

Annual Statement.—Annual statements must be filed within thirty days from December 31, showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding. But for good cause shown Commissioner may extend time thirty days.

Agents.—Company must verify to the Commissioner the names of all agents appointed in the State, and must obtain from the Commissioner certificates of authority for each agent to do business. Each agent is required to have a certificate of authority. Certificates renewable annually in January. Agents personally reliable for insurance placed in unauthorized companies. Agents must pay an annual tax of $10.

Examinations.—The Commissioner of Insurance is authorized to examine into the affairs of any company doing business in the State whenever he shall deem it expedient, and to publish the result in one or more newspapers.

Fees.—For filing copy of charter with Secretary of State, graded according to amount of capital stock; for filing preliminary papers with Commissioner of Insurance, including financial statement, $30; filing annual statement, $25; issuing certificates of authority, or renewal thereof, $2; for each seal of office with certificate, $1; copies of papers on file, 20 cents per folio. Fees subject to change by reciprocal provision in law.

Taxes.—Company is required to report in July and January in each year the amount of gross premiums collected in this State during the preceding six months ending with Iune 30 and December 31, and to pay into the State Treasury $2.50 on each $100 of premiums received. Each agent, including each member of a firm or agency, shall pay a State tax of $10 in lieu of all other taxes, such tax to be paid direct to the Insurance Commissioner. Taxes subject to change by reciprocal provisions in law.

Penalties.—Agents doing business for an unauthorized company liable to a fine of from $100 to $200 or imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. Company neglecting to make return or pay taxes as required incurs a penalty of $500. A company that neglects to file its annual statement within the time required by law, incurs a penalty of $100 for each day neglected. For violation of any provision of the law the penalty whereof is not specifically stated, a fine of not more than $500 is incurred.

ADDITIONAL NOTES FROM THE STATUTES.

Discrimination.—Discrimination between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life as to rates, benefits or conditions of contract is prohibited. Penalty, a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 for company; for officer or agent, a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both fine and imprisonment.

Misrepresentations.—Misrepresentations in application shall not void policy unless such misrepresentations were made with intent to deceive, or increase the risk of loss.

Advertising Financial Condition.—Company must not publish its assets unless it shall in the same connection and with equal conspicuousness publish its liabilities, and any publication purporting to show its capital shall exhibit the amount of such capital as has been paid in cash. Penalty for issuing advertisement contrary to the requirements is a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Plate glass and live stock insurance companies must have at least $100,000 capital. All other companies not less than $200,000.

TEXAS.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, W. J. CLAY, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, AUSTIN.

Taxes.—Companies required to pay a tax of two per cent on gross premiums collected within the State. In addition, every foreign corporation authorized to do business in the State shall, at the time so authorized, and on or before the first day of March of each year thereafter, pay to the Secretary of State the following franchise tax: Every such corporation having an authorized capital stock of $25,000 or less, an annual franchise tax of $25; every such corporation having an authorized capital stock of more than $25,000 and not exceeding $100,000, an annual franchise tax of $100; every such corporation having an authorized capital stock of over $100,000, an annual franchise tax of $100, and in addition thereto an annual franchise tax of $1 for every $10,000 of authorized capital stock over and above $100,000, and not exceeding $1,000,000; and if such authorized capital stock exceeds $1,000,000, then such corporation shall pay a still further additional tax of $1 for every $100,000 over and above $1,000,000.

Penalties.—For violation of the insurance laws the offender incurs a penalty of not less than $500 nor more than $1000 and imprisonment from three to six months.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Every company must have at least $100,000 capital. Guaranty and fidelity companies are required to deposit with Treasurer securities to the amount of $50,000. All companies must pay tax of one per cent on gross premium receipts in the State.

UTAH.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, J. T. HAMMOND, SECRETARY OF STATE, SALT LAKE CITY.

Preliminary Documents.—All foreign corporations, insurance or otherwise, must file with the Secretary of the State and with the County Clerk of the county wherein their principal office is located, within sixty days after commencing business, a copy of its last annual statement, a certified copy of certificate of incorporation, articles of incorporation or charter and by-laws, coupled with an acceptance of the State constitution, also a verified statement showing the name and location of the company and the amount of capital stock, assets and liabilities, and surplus. Must also file an authenticated abstract of the laws of the State or government under which it is organized.

Attorney.—Company must appoint an attorney or agent residing in the county where its principal office is located to accept service of legal process.

Funds.—The law provides "that it shall not be lawful for any life insurance company to transact a life insurance business in the State unless it shall have a paid-up capital of not less than $200,000." Except fraternal or mutual companies.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Secretary prior to the first day of March, and must be published four times in some newspaper having a general circulation, published in the State.

Agents.—Agents must procure a certificate of authority from the Secretary, renewable annually.

Examinations.—The Secretary of State is required upon the application of twenty-five policyholders to make an examination into the affairs of any insurance company doing business in this State and to publish the result of such investigation whenever he deems it for the best interests of the public.

Fees.—Filing copy of certificate of incorporation, $25; filing acceptance of constitution, $3; certificate of authority to company, $5; filing list of authorized attorneys, $1; filing notice of appointment of agents and solicitors, $5; certificate of authority to agents and solicitors, $5 each; renewal of certificates, $2; for filing statement, $25; issuing a certificate of authority and each subsequent certificate, $5; issuing certified copy of annual statements for publication, $5; filing tax statement, $2.

Taxes.—One and one-half per cent on gross premiums collected.

Penalties.—Agent doing business without obtaining certificate of authority is deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable accordingly.

Miscelloneous Companies.—Surety companies must file the same preliminary documents as life and fire companies. They must have an unimpaired capital of $250,000 and a deposit of $100,000 in securities deposited with the State authority where incorporated, and $25,000 deposited in Utah. Deposits to be in interest bonds or stocks worth par.

VERMONT.

SUPERVISING OFFICERS, FREDERICK G. FLEETWOOD, SECRETARY OF STATE, MORRISVILLE; JOHN L. BACON, STATE TREASURER, HARTFORD.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file a certified copy of its charter and bylaws, and a verified statement showing its capital, assets and liabilities.

Attorney.—Company must appoint the Secretary of State its attorney to accept service of legal process.

 \bar{F} unds.—Every company must possess at least $100,000, and in addition assets equal to its liabilities.

Deposit.—Reciprocal provisions.

Valuation of Policies.—Net value of policies issued before January 1, 1903, to be computed upon basis of "Actuaries" Table of Mortality, with four per cent interest. Net value of policies issued after December 31, 1902, to be computed upon basis of "American Experience" table, three and one-half per cent. Company may elect to reserve on three per cent basis.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed before March 1, showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding.

Agents.—Agents must be residents of Vermont and must file with the Commissioner a certificate of appointment and obtain a license, renewable annually on April 1.

Examinations.—The Insurance Commissioner is authorized to examine into the condition of any company doing business in the State at any time.

Fees.—For filing charter, $30 (reciprocal); filing annual statement, $20; issuing license to company, $5; license to agents, $2; license to brokers, $10.

Licenses.—Companies and agents must procure licenses annually.

Taxes.—Company must pay, during the month of February, an annual license tax of $10 for the first $50,000, or less, of capital stock or deposit, and $5 for each additional $50,000, or fractional part thereof, but the whole tax not to exceed $50, and a tax of two per cent upon premiums received in the State during the preceding calendar year. [Domestic life companies must pay an additional tax of one per cent annually on surplus above the necessary reserve computed at four per cent; the value of real estate taxed locally may be deducted from such surplus.] The amount of tax to be paid is determined by deducting from the gross premiums the reinsurance in authorized companies, return premiums, unused balances of premium notes, and dividends to policyholders. Reciprocal provisions apply to all taxes, fees, fines, penalties, deposits, obligations or prohibitions when by the laws of any other State or foreign country, greater taxes, fees, fines, penalties, etc., are required than those above stated.

Penalties.—For any violation of the law relating to insurance a fine not exceeding $2000 will be imposed. Agents doing business without a license or for unauthorized companies are liable to a fine not exceeding $1000. For violation of the anti-rebate law a fine of $500 is provided.

Miscellaneous Companies.—No special provisions for companies other than life, fire, fidelity and surety and accident, except as to mutual live stock companies, which, in the discretion of the Commissioners, if chartered by any of the New England States or organized under the laws of New York, may be licensed. Fidelity insurance and corporate surety companies are also recognized and legalized on official bonds to State, county, city, town or to any corporation or association, public or private.

VIRGINIA.

SUPERVISING OFFICER, MORTON MARYE, AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS, RICHMOND.

Insurance supervision is in charge of the State Corporation Commission at Richmond, which was created on March 1, 1903. Beverly T. Crump is chairman.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must deposit with the Treasurer bonds of the State of Virginia, or of the United States, or of the cities of Richmond, Petersburg, Lynchburg, Norfolk, Alexandria, Danville, Winchester, Manchester, Portsmouth, Roanoke or Staunton, to an amount equal in cash value to five per cent of its capital stock, but not less than $10,000 or more than $50,000. Company must give bond, with two approved sureties on a guaranty company authorized to do business in Virginia of not less than $1000 nor more than $5000, conditioned to make returns and pay taxes as required by law.

Attorney.—A citizen of the State and a resident of the city of Richmond must be appointed agent to accept service of legal process. When agent dies or removes from State, or resigns or is removed, another agent is to be appointed, and if none be appointed service may be made on Auditor of Public Accounts of the State.

Deposit.—Company must deposit with the State Treasurer bonds of the State of Virginia, or of the United States, or of the cities of Richmond, Petersburg, Norfolk, Lynchburg, Alexandria, Danville, Winchester, Manchester, Portsmouth, Roanoke or Staunton, of not less than $10,000 nor more than $50,000. Amount of the deposit must be equal in cash value to five per cent of the capital stock of the company. Same law as to mutual companies.

Valuation of Policies.—The basis of valuation is the American Experience Table of Mortality, with interest at four and one-half per cent.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Auditor on or before March 31, showing the condition of the company on the 31st of December preceding. Such statement to be published, at company's expense, once a week for four weeks in some paper issued either weekly or daily in the county, town or city where the principal office is located, or where the principal business of such company is done, and if there be no paper published in such county, town or city, then in such paper issued either weekly or daily in the State of Virginia, as the Auditor may, in his discretion, select, and in pamphlet form at expense of company.

Fees.—Fees are covered in the license to company.

Licenses.—Upon making the required deposit and paying a specific license fee of $200, the company may obtain a license to do business from the Auditor of Public Accounts. Licenses to be paid annually on January I.

Taxes.—Company must certify to the Auditor of Public Accounts before March 1 of each year the gross amount of assessments, premiums, dues and fees collected or received, or obligations taken therefor, in the State during the preceding year, and pay into the Treasury a tax of one per cent thereon. Treasurer authorized to assess company one-twentieth of one per cent, for safe keeping of bonds deposited, etc.

Penalties.—Any person acting as an agent for an unauthorized company to forfeit a sum not exceeding $7000 nor less than $30. For neglecting to pay taxes a penalty of five per cent a month, or fraction thereof, during the continuance of such failure, is incurred. For failure to make annual report a fine of not less than $1000 nor more than $1000 is provided.

Miscellaneous Companies.—Surety companies must have $250,000 capital and give bond not less than $1000 nor more than $5000, conditioned that it will make annual returns and pay taxes. All miscellaneous companies must pay annually a specific tax of $200, except live stock companies, which must pay $100.

Deposit of Securities.—Every surety company must, by an agent employed to superintend or manage its business in the State, deliver under oath, to the Treasurer of this State, a statement of the amount of capital stock of such company, and deposit with him bonds of the State of Virginia or of the United States, or bonds of the cities of Richmond, Petersburg, Lynchburg, Norfolk, Alexandria, or Danville, to an amount equal to five per cent on said capital stock, and the Treasurer shall thereupon give the agent a receipt for the same; provided, that the cash value of the securities so deposited need not be more than $25,000, nor shall be less than $12,500. Said securities shall be assigned to said Treasurer and his successors in office in trust for the purpose of this act. The Treasurer shall require any such company to make good any depreciation or reduction in value of said securities, and he shall, in the month of December of every year, examine all securities so deposited with him for the purpose of ascertaining whether any of them have depreciated or have been reduced in value. The Treasurer shall give to the company authority to draw the interest on the bonds, as the same may become due and payable, for the use of the company, which authority shall continue in force until the company fails to pay any of its liabilities in this State by reason of its becoming security, or by reason of its assuming any duty or obligation of like nature, as principal or otherwise, by becoming fiduciary, and which failure has been ascertained by agreement to the parties binding on such company, or by judgment, order, or decree of a court of competent jurisdiction against such company, not appealed from, superseded, or stayed; and, in case of such failure so ascertained, the party charged with the payment of such interest shall be notified of such failure and thereafter such interest shall be payable to the Treasurer, to be applied, if necessary, to the payment of such liabilities.

WASHINGTON.

Supervising Officer, SAM. H. NICHOLS, Secretary of State and Insurance Commissioner, Olympia. J. H. SCHIVELY, Deputy Commissioner.

Preliminary Documents.—Company must file with the Secretary of State, who is exefficio Insurance Commissioner, a copy of its articles of incorporation and charter certified by the State or county officer having custody of the original, also a certificate of the proper officer of the State in which it was organized setting forth that it has unimpaired capital of not less than $100,000.

Taxes.—No provision for taxation.

Penalties.—For neglect to file annual statement, a penalty of $10 for each day during which the company is in default is provided. Any person acting in any manner in behalf of an unlicensed company incurs a penalty of not less than $20 nor more than $50 for the first offense, and for the second offense imprisonment without the option of a fine.

Assessment Associations and Fraternal Orders.

The following brief synopses of the laws of the different States regarding the admission of assessment associations and fraternal orders will indicate the special requirements. For names of supervising officers see list of State officials.

ALABAMA.

The law of Alabama distinguishes between mutual aid associations and assessment life associations. Mutual aid, benefit and industrial companies or associations are defined as those issuing insurance against contingencies such as the birth or death of a child, upon marriage, death, sickness, or physical disability. The association's charter, together with the constitution, by-laws and certificate of membership or policy must be submitted to the Insurance Commissioner; a membership of 500 bona fide members must be maintained, and at least $1000 paid in as a benefit fund. Said fund may be in cash or satisfactory securities deposited with the Department. Annual reports to be filed by March I. Tax, one per cent on net premiums and a license fee of $20; incorporated companies paying State property taxes are exempt from latter fee. The Insurance Commissioner shall act as attorney for service. The Insurance Commissioner has supervision of mutual aid and assessment life associations. Assessment companies must have 100 members and $250,000 insurance in force to procure a charter. A deposit of $5000 with the State is required upon receipt of charter, and $1000 thereafter for each million at risk up to $100,000. No policyholder can be held liable for losses or liabilities of an association by reason of his being a member thereof. Assessment companies of other States must have on deposit in the State where it was incorporated at least $100,000 for the benefit of all the policyholders. Annual statements must be filed on or before March I, showing the condition of the company on December 31 preceding, and its transactions for the year. Fee, $101. The amount of every contingency insured against must be specifically stated in the policy.

Fraternal Orders.—Associations must file with the Insurance Commissioner copies of its charter, by-laws, certificate of membership, and must have at all times not less than 500 members, and at least $5000 as a benefit fund, to be kept within the State as a protection to resident members. Annual statements must be filed on or before March 1, showing the operations of the association during the preceding calendar year, and pay a tax of one per cent on net annual premiums received in the State in such year. The Insurance Commissioner or such person as he may designate shall act as attorney to accept legal process. Benefits paid or to be paid under certificates in associations of this class cannot be attached for debts or liabilities. The law exempts certain benefit societies, and like orders, and it is held by the State authorities that this exemption makes the law

inoperative

Few requirements are made of fraternal orders by this State. All that is required of them is that they furnish certificate showing full compliance with the laws of their home State and that they maintain in this State a lodge system with ritualistic form of work.

ARIZONA.

Associations may be formed for the purpose of paying to the nominee of any member a sum, upon the death of said member, not exceeding three dollars for each member of such association. No such association shall exceed in number 5000 person. Such association formed by filing a verified certificate in the office of the Recorder of the County in which the principal place of business in Arizona is situated, and filing a like certificate in the office of the Secretary of Arizona; such certificate shall state the general objects of the association, its principal place of business, and the names of the officers elected to hold office for the first three months, and shall be signed by the said officers and verified by at least three of them.

ARKANSAS.

Arkansas has no special laws relating to assessment associations, but every insurance company without capital, seeking to do business in the State, is required to execute a bond in the sum of $20,000 for the protection of policyholders, to be approved and filed with the Auditor of State.

CALIFORNIA.

Preliminary Documents.—Each association must deposit with the Insurance Commissioner a certified copy of its charter, or other instrument, required by its home authorities; a statement under oath of its business for the preceding year; an appointment of a general agent, service upon whom shall bind the corporation; a certificate that for the next preceding twelve months it has paid in full the maximum amount named in its contracts of insurance; copies of its contracts of insurance and applications, which must show that the liabilities of its members are not limited to fixed premiums; and evidence satisfactory to the Insurance Commissioner that the corporation has accumulated a fund equal to that required of like corporations in this State, constituting a reserve or surplus fund, held in trust for the benefit of its contract holders.

Annual Statements.—Annual statements must be filed with the Commissioner on or before February 1, showing the condition of the association on December 31 preceding, and also on or before January 15, showing business done in California only. Statements

MEANS AND END.

Is it worth while to leave property behind? Does anyone consider the money he leaves, or the house he lives in, his farm, or his factory, or his yacht, wasted? Does he consider them worthless, and their cost so much robbed from the enjoyment he might have had, because he can't take them with him? Does he mean to spend every cent he earns, to consume it in some way, to live so close that there will be just enough to bury him with?

Nobody would waste breath arguing such questions. Men love money and the things it will buy, not only to use and enjoy, but to leave behind, whether they leave anybody to need it or not. They not only want to live rich, but to die rich, and they will worry and skimp, and toil and intrigue, to do it. It is a great satisfaction not to be empty-handed when the grave closes over one. This desire is what has made civilization.

Then what difference does it make how one accomplishes it? It is the end that is important, not the means. How can a man say that it is a good thing to leave $5000 in money or other property, and in the same breath say that a regular life policy is of no value to him, because he can never handle a dollar of it himself?

He can't of his other property either. He can't gloat over his house or furniture or pictures any more, or sail his yacht, or enjoy his dividends, or push his business; they will be no more to him than the proceeds of a life policy after he is dead. If one sort is worth leaving, why not the other?

Is not money paid by an insurance company as valuable as money paid by an auctioneer? How can one consider the money invested in a property worth thousands, as soon as he is gone "wasted?" And is it not better to have the certainty of property, whether one lives or not, than take the chance of having the luck to live long enough to amass it and nerve enough to scrimp all his life?

What nonsense it is to admit that it is a good thing to leave property, and yet say it is a waste of money to do it in the easiest possible way, and the only way most people can do it at all? And yet many a man will think himself able and fortunate if, by pinching all his life and foregoing half the things that make it worth living, he can die with $5000 in money or a house for someone else to enjoy, and consider that it pays for all his privations!

INSURANCE IN CANADA.

THE several acts passed by the Canadian Parliament relating to insurance in the Dominion were amended and consoli-WHAT IS REQUIRED OF COMPANIES DOING BUSINESS IN THE DOMINION.

dated by a general statute, passed during the session of 1886, which, together with amendments made in 1894, 1895 and 1899, Under this act no company can do business in the Dominion without obtaining a license from the Minister of Finance, or being registered in the office of the Superintendent of Insurance. In order to obtain such a license every company must deposit with contains all the existing provisions for the regulation and supervision of insurance companies carrying on business in Canada. the Receiver General as follows:

Canadian Fire Companies.

Canadian Fire Companies.

100,000 | Life Insurance Companies, both Canadian and Foreign.

100,000 | Assessment Life Companies, both Canadian and Foreign. Canadian Inland Marine Companies. $50,000 100,000 Canadian Fire and Inland Marine Companies..... Foreign Fire and Inland Marine Companies.

It is provided, however, that in case of any such company incorporated elsewhere than within Canada when its liabilities to policyholders in Canada, including the full reserve or reinsurance value of all its Canadian policies, exceed its assets in Canada, then the company will be required to make good the deficit by adding to its deposits with the Receiver General, or by creating a special trust in the hands of two or more persons resident in Canada.

Companies doing ocean marine business exclusively are not subject to the act.

Companies other than life, fire or marine, in order to do business in Canada are required to obtain a license from the Minister of Finance, and the Treasury Board must in each case decide what shall be the amount of deposit.

Every company is required to file in the office of the Minister of Finance, annually at the beginning of each year, a sworn statement of its condition and affairs.

The policy liabilities of life insurance companies doing business in Canada, under policies issued previous to January 1, 1900, are to be valued according to the Tables of Mortality of the Institute of Actuaries, at 4½ per cent interest, until January 1, 1910. From January 1, 1910, to January 1, 1915, these policies are to be valued by the same tables of Mortality, at 4 per cent interest; and after January 1, 1915, by the same tables, with interest at 31 per cent. All policies issued on or after January 1, 1900, are to be valued according to the Tables of Mortality of the Institute of Actuaries, with interest at 31 per cent.

loward defraying the expenses of the office of the Superintendent of Insurance, a sum. which from fire and marine companies must not exceed eight thousand dollars, shall be annually contributed by the companies, which sum shall be assessed pro rata upon the gross premiums received by each during the preceding year, such sum to be paid upon the issue of the an-

STATE REQUIREMENTS OF LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

In his lecture in the Yale Course on Insurance, John A. McCall, president of the New York Life, took for his subject: "The Regulation of Life Insurance in the United States and Foreign Countries." Regarding the requirements of the several States of the United States, he said:

A life insurance company must file a certified copy of its charter and, annually, a statement of its business and condition on the 31st day of December next preceding, in such form as the insurance official of the State may prescribe.

It must satisfy the insurance official of the State that it is lawfully organized and has complied with the laws of its home State, and that it has on deposit with the financial officer of its home State securities worth at least $100,000; in some cases additional deposits are required in the State where the company seeks to do business.

It must procure from the insurance official his certificate of compliance with the laws, and publish reports or abstracts thereof with the certificate, in the manner prescribed, and file evidence of such publication. Its annual statement must include data sufficient to enable State insurance officials to make a valuation of its policy liabilities, or it must furnish a certificate of such valuation from the insurance official of its own State.

It must appoint a resident of the State its attorney upon whom legal process may be served; in some States such attorney must be appointed in each county where the company does business; in some States each agent must be an attorney for service.

It must furnish lists of its agents within the State, who must, in many States, be residents thereof; such agents must file copies of their appointments and procure licenses, and their books must be open to the inspection of tax officers.

It must give bonds that it and its agents will comply with the laws and pay taxes as imposed, and reports must be made to tax officers of premiums received and schedules of policies in force.

It must allow an examination of its affairs to be made whenever deemed expedient by the insurance officials of the States where it does business, and pay the expense of such examinations.

It must make its investments, as prescribed by law, in certain securities, and of the value of these securities and of the real estate owned by the company, the insurance official is made the final judge.

It must file with the State official copies of all its policy forms; its policies must have attached thereto copies of all documents referred to therein and made a part thereof; they must be so fully described in large type on their face that the holder shall not be likely to mistake their nature or scope; they must be subject to the courts of the State wherein the policy was issued; rebates of premium or other discrimination, between insurants of the same class or expectation of life must not be made; and some States restrict their own companies, in the matter of reinsurance, to one-half the amount of the risk, except by consent of the insurance official.

It must require medical examinations, and the certificate of its medical examiner that an applicant was insurable according to the company's rules may bar the company from pleading that the insured was not in the state of health required by the company.

LIABILITY INSURANCE

COMPRISING RULES, RATES, DIFFERENTIALS, STANDARD POLICIES AND RIDERS ADOPTED BY THE CONFERENCE OF MANAGERS, AND AMENDED UP TO JUNE 1ST, 1904; THE EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY POLICY OF VARIOUS COMPANIES OUTSIDE OF THE CONFERENCE, AS WELL AS FORMS OF POLICIES FOR INSURANCE NOT INCLUDED IN THE CONFERENCE OF MANAGERS.

COMPILED AND PREPARED BY EDWIN W. DELEON.

LIABILITY INSURANCE.

During the past few years the business of liability insurance has grown from a small beginning into one of the largest and most important branches of underwriting, involving millions of dollars of premiums and furnishing indemnity to all classes of individuals, firms and corporations, from the owner of a private residence at a small premium yearly to the largest and most important concerns in the world with annual premiums aggregating many thousands of dollars. At the present time eighteen stock companies are engaged in this branch in the United States, and there are also several mutual companies of more or less financial stability who also issue liability policies. Of the stock companies above mentioned, five constitute what is known as the "Liability Conference," which is an association of companies working under uniform rules and rates and guided largely in the matter of rates by the experience of the five members as furnished to and compiled by the Bureau of Statistics maintained by the Conference. The balance of the companies operate independently and make their own rates.

Liability insurance differers in one important respect from all other kinds of insurance in that the liability of the company is not fully and finally determined until the end of a term of years varying in various States from three years to six years, and in a few States even longer, depending upon the statute of limitations. It happens, therefore, that new companies embarking in the business find the returns very flattering for the first year or two, whereas at the end of four or five years the loss ratio that at first appeared so low assumes a far different aspect as the losses of the earlier years are gradually disposed of. Another important factor to be reckoned with is the increasing tendency of the principal States to enact liability statutes known as "Workmen's Compensation Acts." which impose upon employers of labor greater duties and responsibilities as regards the conduct of their business and tend also to enlarge their liability for accidents to employees. Such an act has been in operation for several years in Massachusetts, Georgia, Alabama and Indiana, and recently New York and Maryland have also passed a similar statute. It is likely, therefore, that in a few years the old common-law doctrines that have so long prevailed will give way to the less liberal enactments made necessary by the evolution of trade and manufacturing.

Manual of Liability Insurance.

Rules and Instructions.

LIABILITY LINES.—Under this general head are included Employers' Liability, Public Liability, General Liability, Elevator Liability, Teams' Liability, Theatre Liability, Vessel Liability, Contingent Liability, and Workmen's Collective Insurance.

General Instructions.—Agents should read carefully the following rules, rates, and classifications, from which no deviations will be allowed until official changes are promulgated by the home office of this company. When the company makes any changes agents will be notified promptly, and such changes shall be entered herein.

Agents should be especially careful to see that every portion of the application is correctly filled out, as the same is the basis of the insurance contract, and any neglect in this respect may lead to dissatisfaction to the assured, the company, and the agent.

STRICT OBSERVANCE OF THIS MANUAL REQUIRED.—Any violation of these rules, classifications, or rates will result in an immediate cancellation of the policy involved, and the refusal of this company to accept the risk for a period of one year.

AGENTS AND BROKERS.—Any individual, firm, or corporation engaged in a general insurance business, or which places, or attempts to place, insurance with more than one company will be considered a broker by this company.

Any individual, firm, or corporation holding an agency contract with this company to represent it alone for liability lines, will be considered an agent by this company.

This company will not employ more than one agent in any city or town; except only that where it has a general agent, State agent, or resident manager, a second or local agent may be appointed, provided such general agent, State agent, or resident manager does not write policies for the business of such city or town or receive applications otherwise than through the proper local agent.

Any individual, firm, or corporation which transacts casualty business only, and which places all such

Any individual, firm, or corporation which transacts casualty business only, and which places all such business with this company, and does not place, nor attempt to place, any such business with another company, will be considered a special agent by this company.

No commission in excess of 15 per cent will be paid to any broker by this company. If the premium on any one policy exceeds $1,000, the brokerage commission on the portion of the premium in excess of $1,000 is limited to 10 per cent. This rule must be observed by every general agent, State agent, resident manager, local agent, special agent, and all other employees and representatives of this company.

Evasion of the rule in regard to brokers by the appointment of an employer or representative of any broker as a special agent or in any other way contrary to the fair spirit and upper of this rule, will not be broker as a special agent, or in any other way contrary to the fair spirit and intent of this rule, will not be

AGENTS TO PLACE BUSINESS WITH THIS COMPANY ONLY.—No general agent, State agent, resident manager, local agent, or special agent, or other employee or representative of this company, will be allowed to represent another company in any liability lines or to place any liability lines with another company without written consent from the home office of this company.

When business is placed with this company by any general agent, State agent, resident manager, local agent, or special agent, or other employee or representative of another company, the commission allowed shall not exceed the brokerage rate.

REBATES AND "CUTTING" OF RATES FORBIDDEN.—Rebate of commission, or rebate or allowance of any kind whatsoever, except only refund of premium on account of cancellation or deficient pay-roll, is strictly prohibited.

An agent is not permitted to "cut" a rate or evade a rule because he has heard, or even knows, that some competing agent has proposed to do so, nor for any other reason whatsoever; but agents are requested to report to the home office any lower rates actually offered by competing companies.

The waiver of any premium or any part of any premium due on an excess pay-roll, or the false statement of or the underestimation of any pay-roll, or the false statement of wages dishursed, or the reduction, gift, or allowance of premium for insurance under any other line or kind of insurance, or the allowance or rebate of commission on any policy, or the giving or promise to give to the assured any inducement, whereby the rate or premium for any form of insurance mentioned herein shall be in any way reduced below that established by this Manual, is strictly prohibited.

AGENTS PROHIBITED FROM CHANGING POLICY FORMS.—No agent or other representative of this company says only the progressing and the

AGENTS PROHIBITED FROM CHANGING POLICY FORMS.—No agent or other representative of this company, save only the proper officer at the home office, is permitted to change a policy by making an indorsement thereon, or in any other way.

PROHIBITION AGAINST CANCELING OR TAKING UP POLICIES.—This company will not permit its agents to anticipate the effective date of new rates, by canceling and rewriting a policy at the old rate or any rate less than the new rate, or by writing a new policy on a risk upon which any liability insurance is already in force, except only as provided in the rule for "Concurrent Insurance."

BINDERS.—No form of binder may be issued other than the form provided by this company. No binder may be issued except to cover a risk (not exceeding ten days) when a policy has actually been applied for by the assured and then only to cover the risk until the policy can be issued. The issue of a binder to hold a risk in anticipation of a reduction of rate is strictly prohibited. When a binder is issued it shall carry the premium rate provided in this Manual. The policy, when issued, must bear even date with the binder. If the policy be not accepted, the pro rate premium, as provided for in the binder, must be collected. A second binder shall not be issued in any case, nor shall the period of any binder be extended by indorsement or otherwise.

COLLECTION OF PREMIUM.—This company does not extend credit to its agents or to the assured, the full premium being due and payable on the date when the policy takes effect. The company will in each case cancel by direct notice to the assured any policy the premium on which has not been received at the home office within sixty days after the date when the policy takes effect.

The company will in each case cancel by direct notice to the assured any policy takes effect.

This applies to all policies, save only that where the premium on a Workmen's Collective Policy is payable in instalments, such instalments must be received at the home office within thirty days after such instalments mature respectively for payment, otherwise the policy will be canceled by direct notice to the assured.

RISKS NOT CLASSIFIED.—Whenever an agent finds a risk (for which he desires a rate) not classified, he must report such risk with all necessary particulars to the home office. The company will determine whether a new classification is needed, and it so will name the rate which should apply to it.

Premium for three months... CONCURRENT INSURANCE.—This company will write policies concurrently with another company, spproved by the Home Office, for equal parts of the same risk and for the same period, at the proportional part of the premium according to the scale given under the head "Rates and Limits."

When concurrent insurance is written, the following indorsement must be attached to each policy:
In consideration of the rate at which this policy is issued, it is hereby understood and agreed that increases the proposed and agreed that in the concurrent that the policy is insured to the construction of the rate at which this policy is issued, it is hereby understood and agreed that in the concurrent that the policy is insured to the concurrent that the policy is the concurrent that the policy is the concurrent that the policy is the proposed that in the policy is the proposed that is
during the term of this policy at the same rate and for the same limits as stated in this policy, and on the termination or cancellation of such concurrent insurance from whatever cause, this policy shall be null and void, and the portion of the premium unearned, in accordance with the policy conditions, shall be returned to the assured upon demand.

Nothing contained herein shall be construed to limit the right of this company to cancel this policy at any time.

EXCESS INSURANCE.—When a risk is carried by another company for limits of $5000 and $10,000 and insurance in excess of such limits is desired from this company, such excess insurance will be written as follows:

The rate for excess insurance shall be such that the premium on the original part of the risk, and that on the excess part, taken together shall be equal to the premium which would be charged if the whole amount, original and excess, had been written by this company, as indicated below under the head "Rates and Limits.

RATES AND LIMITS.—The premium rates given in this Manual are for a limit of $5000 for injuries to one person, and a limit of $10,000 for injuries to more than one person—the result of one accident. Employers' Liability Policies may also be written for other limits, at the rates given in the following table:

Elevator, General Liability, Public Liability, Teams and Theatre Policies may also be written for other limits, at the rates given in the following table:

(See also "Concurrent Insurance.")

Limits of less than $5000 and $70,000 must not be given on Elevator or General Liability Policies, or on Teams, Theatre, or Public Liability Policies.

Limits other than those stated in the tables herein mentioned shall not be given in any case.

The terms of insurance under any policy or renewal shall not be given in any case.

The terms of insurance under any policy or renewal shall not exceed one year, save only as provided under the heads of "Elevator Insurance" and "General Liability Insurance."

ESTIMATED WAGES.—Applications for Employers' Liability Policies, whether the same are original applications or applications for renewals, must state the estimated expenditure for the policy year as the basis of the premium for the current year, and must also state the actual expenditure for the prior calendar year ending December 31st. No policy except only contractors will be written for any estimate lower than the pay-roll of the prior calendar year.

Agents must procure a systement of wages estually paid to employees under each policy up to the time.

Agents must procure a statement of wages actually paid to employees under each policy up to the time of its expiration, signed by the assured. Whenever this statement is not obtained within sixty days after the date of expiration of the policy, the home office will obtain the statement directly from the assured.

Whenever employees are compensated in whole or in part by store certificates, board, merchandise, or credits, or any other substitute for cash, the amount of compensation represented by such substitutes shall be included in the pay-roll, and the applications shall in all cases state when such substitutes are used.

DIVISION OF PAY-ROLL.—(a) It is not permissible to divide the pay-roll on any risk to be written on the manufacturers' form of policy.

(b) When two or more hazards are carried on by an employer at one location, and the manufacturers' form of policy is used, the rate for the highest classification must be secured.

(c) The pay-roll on all risks written under the manufacturers' form of policy, or under the contractors' form of policy. must include the wages of all employees, including piece workers, subject to the following form of policy, must include the wages of all employees, including piece workers, subject to the following exceptions, when the exceptions are stated in the application, viz., Executive Officers, Office Men, Drivers.

(4) When insurance under a manufacturers' classification, and also a contractors' classification is desired, separate policies must be written. When after any classification an * is used one policy may be written, but in all such cases 20 per cent additional premium must be charged on the employers' liability and public liability rates.

(e) When the mining of coal for coking purposes and coke burning are to be covered, the pay-roll may be divided and one policy written. In such case the pay-roll must be estimated for each classification, and set forth in the application.

In all classifications of the "Mining Schedule," the men on the surface, not engaged in smelting plants, or quartz mills, must be included in the pay-roll.

(I) When two or more classifications of the "Lumber Schedule," which have different rates, are to be (I) when two or more classifications of the "Lumber Schedule," which have different rates, are to be covered, the pay-roll may be divided and one policy written. In such case the pay-roll must be estimated for each classification, and set forth in the application.

(g) When a contractor desires insurance to cover different hazards, the pay-roll may be divided. In such case one policy may be written, but the pay-roll on each classification must be estimated, and set forth in the application.

(4) A separate policy may be written for each work or each contract which is carried on by a contractor in different towns, or at different places in the same town.

(i) A policy may not be written under either the manufacturer's or contractor's form of policy which shall cover work in more than one State, except that where construction work is to be done in more than one State in classifications, where an * is shown ("Metal Schedule," and a premium of 20 per cent additional is paid, a policy may be written covering such work, provided the application reads: "Limited as to shop work to the State of ...

If it is desired to cover the collision hazard, the following indorsement for the Employers' Liability Policy shall be used:

Clause B is amended so as to read:

This policy does not cover loss from liability for injuries as aforesaid to or caused by any person unless his wages are included in the estimated wages hereinafter set forth, and he is engaged at the time of the accident in an occupation hereinafter described.

The collision indorsement for the Employers' Liability and Public Liability Policy shall read:

Clause B is amended so as to read:

This policy does not cover loss from liability for injuries as aforesaid caused by any person unless his wages are included in the estimated wages hereinafter set forth, and he is engaged at the time of the accident in an occupation hereinafter described, nor for injuries sustained by any passenger or passengers of the assured on or about any vessel mentioned in the schedule, from any cause whatsoever.

The rule which prohibits the giving of less limits than $5,000 and $10,000 for public liability does not apply to vessel insurance, which may be written for public liability for lower limits than $5,000 and $10,000 at the proportionate rates given on pages under the head "Rates and Limits," when written on the combined Employers' Liability and Public Liability Policy form.

Public Liability Insurance.—The rates given in the "Table of Liability Rates," are for limits

PUBLIC LIABILITY INSURANCE.—The rates given in the "Table of Liability Rates," are for limits of $5,000 and $50,000.

Public Liability Policies may also be written for the limits and at the rates named under the head "Rates and Limits," provided that no such policy shall be written for limits of less than $5,000 and $10,000. The same rule applies to Elevator, General Liability, Teams and Theatre Policies.

BUILDING CONTRACTORS' CONTINGENT, OR OWNERS' CONTINGENT, LIABILITY INSURANCE.—
If an owner or a general contractor desires a policy which shall cover his contingent liability for negligence of contractors or sub-contractors and their employees, a policy may be issued for a premium charge of 50 cents for each $100 of the gross amount of pay-roll of all contractors. Such pay-roll shall be based upon the wages to be expended by all contractors and sub-contractors, and shall not be accepted at any figure less than $3% per cent of the contract price of the building, except only that if the policy is to be issued to the wages to be expended by all contractors and sub-contractors, and shall not be accepted at any figure less than 33% per cent of the contract price of the building, except only that if the policy is to be issued to a general contractor who does some part of the work, the 50 cents per $100 will be charged on the pay-roll of his sub-contractors, that is to say: 33% per cent of the contract price being taken as the whole pay-roll, the general contractor may deduct, from the sum so arrived at, the amount of his own pay-roll, and the contingent premium will be charged on the balance.

The limits for such policy shall be $5000 for injuries to one person, and $10,000 for injuries to more than one person—the result of one accident. No other or different limits shall be given in any case.

No Contingent Liability Policy may be written unless the general contractor and all sub-contractors shall carry Employers' Liability and Public Liability Policies.

The minimum premium for a Building Contractors' Contingent, or Owners' Contingent. Liability

The minimum premium for a Building Contractors' Contingent, or Owners' Contingent, Liability Policy shall be $25, irrespective of any other premium.

ELEVATOR INSURANCE.—An "Elevator," in the sense of this Manual, is any platform-hoist operated by steam or other mechanical power and used for the conveyance of passengers or freight, or both.

A "Sidewalk Elevator" is one outside of the building proper which does not rise above the level of the sidewalk. A "One-story Elevator" (not sidewalk elevator) is such as is within the walls of a building, with a run of not more than 20 feet.

A "Private House Elevator" is such as is used in dwellings occupied by one family only.

A "Factory Elevator" is such as is used in manufacturing plants exclusively.

A "Hand Hoist" is a lifting appliance through hatchways, operated by hand with rope or chain.

The full rate for the limits stated must be charged for each elevator written. One policy may be unten to cover several elevators, but no reduction in the rate per elevator shall be made in such case.

The factory elevator rate shall be used only when the employers' liability, public liability and elevator riks are written concurrently, all policies to expire simultaneously, and when the factory is owned or occupied by one interest (individual, estate, firm, or corporation) for manufacturing purposes exclusively.

Insurance of property damage must not be written on elevators.

When a passenger or freight elevator is insured by this company at the full rate as given above, other policies on the same elevator may be issued to other persons in interest for a premium of $500 for limits of $500 and $10,000 and not more, for each such interest; but this company will not write a policy at such reduced rate unless it has issued the first policy, and any such additional policy or policies written under this rule must be made to expire at the same time as the first policy, the premium being calculated pro rate in each such additional policy. In case the first policy is discontinued or canceled, the other policy or policies must be discontinued or canceled, as of the same date. policies must be discontinued or canceled as of the same date.

An Elevator Policy must not be written to cover more than one interest-such interest may be that of an individual, estate, firm, or corporation; but co-owners may be coverage under one policy.

The rates for elevator risks, as given on the preceding page, are exclusive of fees paid for public inspection, and this company will not assume the cost of such public inspection under any Elevator or General Liability Policy.

When there are several elevators in a building, and insurance is desired upon certain of the elevators only, a policy may be issued designating in a specific way those actually covered. If at any time insurance is desired on the others temporarily, a policy may be issued designating such additional elevators, the premium to be calculated at short rates—see "Short Term Rate Table."

Elevator Policies may be written for a term of three years for three annual rates less to per cent assount, the full premium for three years being payable in advance or in instalments as follows: 50 per cent for the first year, 30 per cent for the second year, and 20 per cent for the third year.

GENERAL LIABILITY INSURANCE.—" General Liability Insurance," in the sense of this Manual, is sch insurance as is given to a landlord or owner of real property or to any person who stands in place of a laddord by reason of his occupancy of real property, to cover against his liability for bodily injuries suffered by any person on or about such property. A General Liability Policy will be issued to cover the hands more or less described in the rate table given on the following page, and not otherwise.

The premium is computed as follows:

(a) The Elevator hazard.

(b) The Employers' Liability hazard.

(c) The Public Liability hazard (based on street frontage and area of floors.)

If a General Liability Policy, excluding the elevator hazard, is desired, such policy may be written, but a indorsement shall be attached to the policy excluding injuries to either employees or the public in or shout any elevator.

In office buildings, apartment houses and tenements, the wages of all employees engaged in taking one of the building and its appliances, must be included in the pay-roll upon which the premium in based. In public libraries, public museums of art or natural history, public picture galleries, hotels and club bases, the wages of all employees must be included.

In no case shell insurance be issued at a premium less than Ten Dollars ($70) per building, save why for private houses (dwellings), in which case the minimum premium shall be Four Dollars ($4) per dwelling.

Buildings accessible as at the same in part and the same in Buildings occupied as stores in part and as dwellings above must pay the rate for stores on the store parties of the risk and the rate for apartment houses or tenements for the dwellings above.

The area upon which a charge per 100 square feet is made is the outside measurement of the building multiplied by the number of stories. If the floor of any so-called basement is not more than 5 feet below the street level, such basement shall be counted as a story in calculating area. The basement of a retail sure, when used for sales purposes, shall be counted as a story. No deduction shall be made for light, air, and the street level is the sales purposes, shall be counted as a story. or elevator shafts, nor for courts if entirely enclosed within the walls of the buildings.

For street exposure, charge the rate per running foot of all street frontages, but do not charge for the may or side portion of any building abutting upon an alley not more than 15 feet wide from building line to buding line.

When, in office, hotel, and like buildings, the lower floor is rented for stores, and is not under control of the assured, the street frontage shall be charged; but the area of the stores shall be deducted from the building. When an occupant is above the first floor he shall also pay the frontage charge. Hospitals, samitariums and asylums shall be rated the same as hotels, with the understanding that when the formage, in cases where the buildings abut upon the street, shall be charged at the rate of to cents for ranning foot, and in cases where the buildings do not abut upon the street the length of the frontage of each building (cottages excepted) where a main entrance exists shall be taken as the measurement of the street frontage. Cottages in the same grounds as hospitals, sanitariums and asylums shall be rated the same as univate dwellings. for each cottage. une as private dwellings, for each cottage.

Schools and colleges shall be rated the same as office buildings, except that the wages of teachers and professors shall be included in the pay-roll upon which the employers liability premium is based. The street-frontage charge shall be the same as that charged in the case of hospitals, sanitariums and asylums. The pay-roll of professors and teachers is charged at the rate of 6 cents per $100 of pay-roll.

The method of calculating the general liability premium upon office buildings is as follows:

EXAMPLE.—Three elevators @ $35	$105
Pay-roll $5,000, @ 20 cents per $100=	IO
Building 100 x 50 feet $=$ 5,000 sq. feet, and 5,000 sq. feet $@$ 5	;
cents per roo sq. feet = $2.50.
Number of stories 12; then, $2.50 x 12=	30
Frontage 50 feet @ 10 cents per foot=	5
Total premium	$150

The rates given on pages of "Table of Liability Rates" for employers' liability and workmen's collective hazards, respectively, must govern as to every classification in said table. The public liability rate when marked "(b)" in said table must in every case so marked be determined on the basis of area and street frontage, as given in the rule under the head "General Liability Insurance," and at the rate for public liability, as given, respectively, for "Retail Stores (not otherwise classified)" and for "Wholesale Stores (not otherwise classified)" or such other general liability classification as may properly apply to the risk. A General Liability Policy must not be written to cover more than one interest—such interest may be that of an individual estate firm or corporation; but conveners may be covered under one polices.

that of an individual, estate, firm, or corporation; but co-owners may be covered under one policy. General Liability Policies may be written for a term of three years for three annual rates, less to per cent discount, the full premium for three years being payable in advance or in instalments as follows: 50 per cent for the first year, 90 per cent for the second year, and 20 per cent for the third year.

LANDLORD'S CONTINGENT LIABILITY.—In the case of the owner of a building or buildings leased to others, where the elevators, steam power, and the entire charge of the premises rest solely with the tenant, a General Liability Policy may be written, covering the landlord's contingent liability, at 50 per cent of the rate chargeable for such building, but a statement shall be made in the application that the assured has no employees on or about the premises. In such case no elevator inspection will be made.

This rule does not affect the rate for private houses (dwellings)

TEAMS INSURANCE.—Teams Insurance covers the owner's liability to his driver and to the public for

TEAMS INSURANCE.—Teams Insurance covers the owner's liability to his driver and to the public for damages on account of bodily injuries caused by means of horses or vehicles in the service of the assured and the use thereof and while in charge of the assured or his employees.

The hazard of loading and unloading goods is not covered by the Teams Policy, but may be covered by endorsement on payment of an additional premium as given under the head "Teams Rates," (except as to Boller Makers and Dealers, Machinery Dealers, Safe Movers and Manufacturers, and Structural Iron and Steel Wagons) for which separate Employers' Liability and Public Liability Policies must be issued, based on the full drivers' pay-roll, at the rate of employers' liability and public liability insurance given in the "Contractors' Schedule," (for Machinery Dealers, see Milwright, etc., in the "Contractors' Schedule"):

The indorsement shall read:

"In consideration of an additional premium, equal to per cent of the annual premium payable for said policy, and subjet to all the conditions and provisions therein contained, the insurance under this policy is hereby extended to cover the lability of the assured for accidents due to his negligence in the loading and unloading of goods carried as whiches insured under said policy."

To cover the liability of the assured while horses are being taken to or from black-miths' shops by persons other than the assured's employees, the company will attach the following endorsement to Teams Policies when requested:

"This policy is hereby extended to cover the liability of the assured while his horses are at blacksmiths' shops or are being taken to or from such shops by persons other than his own employees."

The premium is based on the number of drivers employed at the time the policy is issued. The actual expenditure for wages of drivers for the policy year divided by the average wages per driver as stated at the time of making the application will be used to determine the actual number of drivers at the end of the policy year.

The teams rates given below are for limits of $5000 and $10,000.

Teams Policies may also be written for the limits and at the rates given under the head "Rates and Limits," except that no such policy shall be written for limits of less than $5000 and $10,000.

TEAM RATES.—For the loading and unloading indorsement, add to per cent to rates given, except as to classifications marked *, where add 30 per cent.

All risks classified in following schedules may be written at a discount of fifty per cent (50%) from the fall rates as given in said schedules, in all places except in the city of Boston (including the following towns: Aliston, Ashmont, Boston proper, Brighton, Brookline, Cambridge, Charlestown, Chelsea, Dorchester, East Boston, Everett, Forest Hills, Jamaica Plain, Neponset, Roslindale, Roxbury, Somerville, Sosth Boston and West Roxbury), and except in Greater New York, Jersey City, Hoboken. Chicago. In Philadelphia a discount of 40 per cent may be allowed from the full rates. Philadelphia a discount of 40 per cent may be allowed from the full rates.

Automobiles of all classes, Private Vehicles and Physicians' Vehicles must carry the full rate everywhere.

PROPERTY DAMAGE.

Teams policies covering property damage may be written, in the City of St. Louis only, for an additional premium of $2 for each teamster. The property damage is limited to $5 minimum and $1000 maximum loss. The following is the prop-such loss, nor for any loss amounting to less than $5.

THEATRE INSURANCE (FOR HALLS AND THEATRES).—The rates given below are for limits of $5000 and $10,000.

Theatre Policies may also be written for the limits and at the rates given under the head "Rates and Limits," save only that no such policy will be written for less than $5000 and $10,000.

A first-class theatre or hall is one in which the following conditions exist:

(a) The external walls must be exclusively of masonry or metal and masonry. Plaster, stucco, and ornamentation on walls may be placed on furrings of wood, although metal is preferable.

(a2) All interior walls and partitions must be of masonry.

(b) The main floor must not be more than six feet above the street level.

(c) There must be exits from upper floors or galleries passing out therefrom directly through the external walls, or wing safety walls, with independent staircases.

(d) There must be an assestos or freproof curtain in front of the stage.

(e) There must be an automatic sprinkler over the stage.

(f) The performances given must be those usual in theatres proper and roof gardens, including dramatic entertainments, operas, concerts, and lectures given for two or three hours during evenings or afternoons.

The rate for a theatre, opera house, or music hall in which all these requirements are satisfied shall be 15 cents for each seat on the main floor and in each gallery per annum, irrespective of the number of entertainments given.

If the construction is not such as to comply with requirement "a," 2½ cents must be added to the rate. If the construction does not comply with "a2," "b," "c," "d," or "e," I cent must be added to the rate in each instance.

If the performances are "continuous," 2½ cents extra must be added.

In towns of less than 40,000 population, the minimum premium is $100; otherwise $200.

HORSE SHOWS, ETC.—When horse shows, dog shows, bicycle shows and agricultural, horticultural or industrial exhibitions are given exclusively in halls, the premium shall be based upon the gate receipts, as follows:

For horse shows, dog shows, or bicycle shows.....one-half of one per cent. For agricultural or horticultural shows.....one-quarter of one per cent. Base ball parks....one-half of one per cent.

BASIS OF PREMIUM.—If any elevator or elevators are used they must be charged for according to the "Elevator Rates." Injuries caused to employees by horses, dogs or other animals are not covered by this insurance.

OTHER RISES.—If the building in which a theatre, concert hall, or other place of public amusement is situated includes other risks, such as hotels, stores, or offices, the other risks must be charged for according to the "General Liability Rates,

WORKMEN'S COLLECTIVE INSURANCE.—Workmen's collective insurance is accident insurance cover-injured during the policy year.

The "Workmen's Collective Rates' are for the foregoing benefits only, covering accidents of occupation during working hours only.

If the benefits under clauses (a), (b), and (c) be reduced one-half, the rate will be 15 per cent less. Workmen's Collective Policies may also be written to cover the whole twenty-four hours, i. e., the exposure of the workmen to accidents while away from work as well as the hazard of his occupation. The additional charge for such a policy is 15 per cent of the rate given in the "Table of Liability Rates.

If full medical attendance is desired, 30 per cent shall be added to the rate given in the "Table of Liability Rates," whether the death benefit is one year's or one-half year's wages, save only that if the full twenty-four hours are covered 37½ per cent shall be added to the rate in the "Table of Liability Rates."

CONFERENCE FORMS OF POLICIES AND APPLICATIONS.

The following are the forms of policies and applications as adopted by the Liability Conference, June, 1904, and now in use by the companies forming the Conference. Thirteen liability companies are not members of the Conference, but the policies issued by them follow the same general lines. The character of the liability insurance contract, the extent of liability of the insuring company, and the duties of the insured in respect to such contracts, is clearly set forth in these documents.

FORM OF LIABILITY POLICY AND GENERAL AGREEMENTS.

The following skeleton, or general form of liability policy and the conditions appended, are the same in all liability contracts approved by the Conference. Special agreements, or conditions, as given herewith, adapt this form to each class of the liability contract.

In consideration of the application for this policy, a copy of which is hereto attached and which is made part of this contract, and of dollars ($) premium, hereinafter called "the company," does hereby agree to indemnify , County , State of , hereinafter called "the assured," for the term of , beginning , at noon, and ending on the day of on the day of noon, standard time, at the place where this policy has been countersigned.

GENERAL AGREEMENTS.

This insurance is subject to the following conditions, which are to be construed as conditions precedent of this contract:

1. The assured, upon the occurrence of an accident, shall give immediate notice thereof in writing, with full particulars, to the home office of the company at Baltimore, Md., og to its duly authorized agent. He shall give like notices, with full particulars, of any claim which may be made on account of such accident.

2. If thereafter any suit is brought against the assured to enforce a claim for damages on account of an accident covered by this policy, immediate notice thereof shall be given to the company, and the company will defend against such proceeding, in the name and on behalf of the assured, or settle the same at its own cost, unless it shall elect to pay to the assured the indemnity provided for in clause "A" of special agreements as limited therein. ments as limited therein.

nents as named therein.

3. The assured shall not settle any claim, except at his own cost, nor incur any expense, nor interfere in any negotiation for settlement or in any legal proceeding without the consent of the company previously given in writing, but he may provide at the time of the accident such immediate surgical relief as is imperative. The assured when requested by the company shall aid in securing information and evidence and in effecting settlements, and in case the company calls for the attendance of any employee or employees as witnesses at inquests and in suits, the assured will secure his or their attendance, making no charge for his createst these of times. or their loss of time.

4. This policy does not cover loss from liability for injuries when the assured has failed to observe any statute affecting the safety of persons or has with knowledge violated any local ordinance made in the same behalf.

This policy does not cover loss for liability for injuries to any child employed contrary to law, nor to

5. This policy does not cover loss for liability for injuries to any child employed contrary to law, nor to any child so employed under fourteen years of age, where no statute restricts the age of employment, nor does this policy cover any i jury due wholly or in part to the employment of any such child.
6. If the assured carry a policy of another insurer, whether valid or not, against a claim arising under this policy, he shall not be entitled to recover from the company a larger proportion of the loss than the sum hereby insured bears to the whole amount of insurance. It the assured has any other policy in this company, in respect of any injury covered hereby, the assured shall elect the policy under which the accident shall be treated, but the company shall not be held responsible for a liability under more than one policy.
7. Any assignment of interest under this policy shall be void unless the written consent of the company is indorsed hereon by one of its officers.

is indorsed hereon by one of its officers.

8. No action shall lie against the company as respects any loss under this policy unless it shall be brought by the assured himself to reimburse him for loss actually sustained and paid by him in satisfaction of a judgment after trial of the issue. No such action shall lie unless brought within the period within which a claimant might sue the assured for damages unless at the expiry of such period there is such an action pending against the assured, in which case an action may be brought against the company by the assured within thirty days after final judgment has been rendered and satisfied as above. In no case, except that of minors, shall any action lie against the company after the expiration of six years from the date of the given injuries or death. The company does not prejudice by this clause any defenses to such action which it may be entitled to make under this policy,

9. In case of payment of loss under this policy, the company shall be subrogated to all claims or rights of the assured in respect to such loss against any person or persons, and the assured shall execute any and all papers required to secure to the company said rights.

10. An agent has no authority to change this policy or to waive any of its provisions, nor shall notice to any agent or knowledge of his or of any other person be held to effect a waiver or change in this contract, or in any part of it. No change whatever in this policy nor waiver of any of its provisions shall be valid unless an indorsement is added hereto, signed by the president or secretary of the company, at its home office, expressing such waiver or change.

office, expressing such waiver or change.

This policy shall only cover losses sustained by and liability for any claims against the assured as a result of the risk specified in the contract or contracts hereto attached, and is issued and accepted upon the condition that all the provisions printed on the slip or slips attached to this policy are accepted and shall be fulfilled by the assured as part of this contract as fully as if they were recited at length over the signatures hereto affixed.

In witness whereof, the company has caused this policy to be signed by its president and secretary, at ; but the same shall not be authorized representative of the company. ; but the same shall not be binding upon the company unless countersigned by a duly hereinafter called "the company," in consideration of estimated premium and the statements hereinafter set forth in the schedule of statements, which statements the assured makes and warrants to be true by the acceptance of this policy, except the statements concerning the number of employees and their compensation, which are estimated, does hereby agree to indemnify , of , county of , hereinafter called the assured, for a period of State of months, beginning on the day of , 190, noon, and ending on the day of , 190 , noon, standard time at the place where this policy has been countersigned;

Against loss from the liability imposed by law upon the assured for damages on account of bodily injuries or death, accidentally suffered while this policy is in force, by any employee or employees of the assured while within the factory, shop or yard described in the schedule, or upon the sidewalk or other ways immediately adjacent thereto provided for the use of such employees or the public, in and during the operation of the trade or business described in the schedule, including, however, drivers mentioned in the schedule when on duty in the vicinity of the locations designated in the schedule, subject to the following conditions:

CONDITIONS.

A. The company's liability for loss from an accident resulting in bodily injuries to or in the death of one person is limited to dollars ($), and, subject to the same limit for each person, the com-one person is immed to dollars ($\frac{1}{2}$), and, subject to the same limit for each person, the company's total liability for loss from any one accident resulting in bodily injuries to or in the death of more than one person is limited to dollars ($\frac{1}{2}$).

B. This policy does not cover loss from liability for injuries or death to or caused by—(1) Any person unless his compensation is included in the estimate set forth in the schedule (provided that this exclusion that the control of t does not apply to loss from liability for injuries or death (a) caused by the assured himself if an individual, nor it a firm by any member thereof, nor if a corporation by its president, vice-president, secretary or treasurer, provided such officer is not managing or superintending at the works; or (b) to or caused by drivers of teams for which the assured carries concurrent teams insurance in this company; (2) Any child employed by the assured contrary to law or any child employed under fourteen (14) years of age where no statute restricts the age of employment; (3) Any convict; (4) Any person in connection with the making of additions to or alterations in or the construction of any building or structure or plant or inconnection with the wrecking or demolition of any building or structure or plant or any part thereof. Ordinary repairs when made by employees of the assured whose compensation is included in the estimate set forth in the schedule are permitted.

C. Upon the occurrence of an accident the assured shall give immediate written notice thereof, with the fallest information obtainable at the time, to the company's home office or to the agent who has countersigned this policy. If a claim is made on account of such accident the assured shall give like notice thereof with full particulars. The assured shall at all times render to the company all co-operation and assistance

D. If thereafter any suit is brought against the assured to enforce a claim for damages on account of an accident covered by this policy, the assured shall immediately forward to the company's home office every summons or other process as soon as the same shall have been served on him, and the company will, at its own cost, defend such suit in the name and on behalf of the assured unless the company shall elect to settle the same or to pay the assured the indemnity provided for in condition A hereof.

E. The assured shall not voluntarily assume any liability, nor shall the assured, without the written consent of the company previously given, incur any expense or settle any claim, except at his own cost, or interfere in any negotiation for settlement or in any legal proceeding; except that the assured may provide at the time of the accident such immediate surgical relief as is imperative. Whenever requested by the company, the assured shall aid in securing information and evidence and the attendance of wijnesses and in affecting a settlements and in proceedings. in effecting settlements and in prosecuting appeals.

F. No action shall lie against the company to recover for any loss under this policy unless it shall be brought by the assured for loss actually sustained and paid in money by the assured in satisfaction of a judgment after trial of the issue; nor unless such action is brought within ninety (90) days after final judgment against the assured has been so paid and satisfied. The company does not prejudice by this condition any defenses against such action that it may be entitled to make under this policy.

G. In case of payment of loss under this policy the company shall be subrogated to all rights of the assured against any person or corporation, as respects such loss, to the amount of such payment, and the assured shall execute all papers required and shall co-operate with the company to secure to the company such rights.

H. If the assured carry a policy of another insurer, whether valid or not, against a loss covered by this policy, the assured shall not be entitled to recover from the company a larger proportion of the entire loss than the amount hereby insured bears to the total amount of his insurance.

I. If the business of the assured is placed in the hands of a receiver, assignee or trustee, whether by the voluntary act of the assured or otherwise, this policy shall immediately terminate, but such termination shall not affect the liability of the company as to any accidents theretofore occurring. If the assured is a sman not sheet the hability of the company as to any accidents interestore occurring. If canceled by the company, the company shall be entitled to the earned premium, fro nata, when determined. If canceled by the assured, unless the assured has retired from business, the company shall receive or retain the customary short-rate premium. (In either case the earned premium shall be computed on the compensation for the year as indicated by the actual compensation earned by the employees of the assured during the time the policy shall have been in force.) In any case the company shall receive or retain the minimum earned premium stated in condition J. The company's check mailed to the address of the assured as given herein shall be a sufficient tender but no return premium shall be payable until a statement of the actual compensation. a sufficient tender, but no return premium shall be payable until a statement of the actual compensation earned by the employees of the assured during the period the policy was in force shall have been furnished to the company by the assured.

L. Any of the company's authorized inspectors shall have the right and opportunity, whenever the company so desires, to inspect the plant, works, machinery and appliances of the assured; and the company or any of its inspectors may suspend this insurance, so far as any boiler or elevator is concerned, because of any defect or dangerous condition found in the same. Notice of such suspension and the reason therefor and of the reinstatement of the insurance must be in writing.

M. Any of the company's authorized auditors shall have the right and opportunity, whenever the company so desires, to examine the books and records of the assured as respects compensation earned by the employees of the assured, and the assured shall render reasonable assistance; but the company waives no right by falling to make such examination. The assured shall, whenever the company so requests, furnish the company with a written statement of the amount of compensation earned by his employees during any part of the period of the policy, and at the end of the period of the policy the assured shall furnish the company with such statement covering the full period of the policy. The rendering of any estimate or statement or any settlement shall not bar the examination herein provided for nor the company's right to additional premiums.

N. No erasure or change appearing on the face of this policy as originally printed and no change or waiver of any of its terms or conditions or statements shall be valid unless endorsed hereon and signed by the president, the vice-president or one of the secretaries of the company. Notice to or knowledge by any agent or any other person shall not be held to waive any of the terms, conditions or statements hereof.

O. No person shall be deemed an agent of the company unless such person is authorized in writing as such agent by the president, the vice-president or one of the secretaries of the company.

Whereas. (hereinafter called the assured), under date of , has made applica-(hereinafter called the corporation), for an indemnity against claims for tion to personal injuries, and for insurance on behalf of said assured's employees against personal injuries as hereinafter specified, having made certain statements therein upon which this policy is granted, and said statements are incorporated herein as warranties, except as to the matters which are declared as estimates only, and has paid to the corporation the sum dollars as the premium for such indemnity for calendar months from the day of 190, at noon, standard time, at the place where this policy has been countersigned.

CONDITIONS OF CONTRACT.

It is hereby agreed as follows, that the corporation will pay, subject to the subjoined general agreements, as conditions, in respect of any loss from common law or statutory liability for damages on account of bodily injuries, accidentally suffered within the period of this policy by any employee of the assured while on duty on the premises mentioned in the schedule hereto, or upon the ways immediately adjacent thereto, provided for the use of such employees or the public, in and during the operation of the trade or business described in the said schedule.

A. The full amount of such sum for which a settlement may be effected by the corporation's representative.

B. Eighty per cent. of such sum not exceeding the wages of the injured person for which the assured shall, in his discretion, effect a compromise with the injured person where, in the judgment of the assured, the said assured is liable for the injury, provided a full release be obtained and rendered to the corporation within six months of the date of the accident.

C. Eighty per cent. of all medical, surgical, ambulance or funeral expenses, such eighty per cent, not to exceed $100 for any one person, for which the assured shall render himself liable, on a full discharge given to the corporation by the assured for such outlay after payment thereof by the assured, and within six months of the date of the accident.

D. Eighty per cent. of such sum which the assured shall pay upon a final judgment recovered against him after trial of the issue.

It is further agreed that the corporation will pay in respect of any accidental bodily injury caused by violent external and visible means suffered within the period of this policy by any employee of the assured while on duty as aforesaid.

E. In the event of death from such injury within ninety days thereof, a sum equal to the wages of the employee earned in his occupation during the preceding twelve months, such sum not to exceed $1,500 for any one person.

F. In the event of totally disabling injuries suffered as aforesaid, a sum equal to one-half the weekly wages of the injured employee based upon the amount disclosed in the schedule of this policy, for a period not exceeding 52 weeks.

The corporation's liability for any payment made under all of the six preceding clauses, A, B, C, D, E, F, in respect of any one person is limited to $8,000 and subject to the same limit for any one person, the total inability for any one accident is limited to $20,000.

GENERAL AGREEMENTS.

1. The assured, upon the occurrence of an accident shall give immediate written notice thereof, with the funest information obtainable at the time, to the head office of the corporation, New York City, or to its duly authorized local agent. He shall give like notice with full particulars of any claim that may be made on account of such accident, and shall at the time render to the corporation all co-operation and assistance in his power. The assured shall not interfere in any negotiations for settlement, or in any legal proceeding, without the consent of the corporation previously given in writing. The assured, when requested by the corporation, shall aid in securing information, evidence and the attendance of witnesses, and in effecting settlements and in prosecuting appeals, and shall furnish the bond necessary for prosecuting any appeal. the fullest information obtainable at the time, to the head office of the corporation, New York City, or to

a. If any suit is brought against the assured to entorce a claim for damages on account of an accident covered by this policy, the assured shall immediately torward to the head office of the corporation every summons or other process as soon as the same shall have been served on him, and the corporation will, at its own cost, defend against such proceeding in the name and on behalf of the assured, and shall have the absolute right of determining whether any judgment or order therein shall be appealed.

3. This policy does not cover loss from liability for injuries to, or caused wholly or in part by, any child employed by the assured contrary to law; norto, or caused wholly or in part, by any child so employed under fourteen years of age, unless such child be included in the employees given in the schedule hereto.

under fourteen years of age, unless such child be included in the employees given in the schedule hereto.

4. If the assured carry a policy of another insurer, whether valid or not, against a claim arising under this policy, he shall not be entitled to recover from the corporation a larger proportion of the loss than the sum hereby issued bears to the whole amount of the insurance. If the assured has any other similar policy in this corporation, the assured must elect under which policy all claims arising out of any one accident shall be treated and the corporation shall not be responsible under any other such policy.

5. No action shall be maintained by the assured against the corporation for the recovery or any loss under this policy except for reimbursement for said eighty per cent. of a final judgment recovered against the assured after trial of the issue in an action commenced within the time limited by the statute of the State where such judgment may be recovered. Such an action by the assured against the corporation shall not be maintained unless commenced within sixty days after recovery of judgment against the assured for

State where such judgment may be recovered. Such an action by the assured against the corporation shall not be maintained unless commenced within sixty days after recovery of judgment against the assured for the loss actually sustained by payment thereof. The corporation does not prejudice by this clause any defenses to such action which it may be entitled to make under this policy.

6. The premium is based on the compensation to employees to be expended by the assured during the period of this policy. If the compensation actually paid exceeds the sum stated in the schedule hereinafter given, the assured shall pay the additional premium earned; if less than the sum stated, the corporation will return to the assured the uncarned premium pro pate; but the corporation shall first retain not less than fifty dollars ($50), it being understood and agreed that this sum shall be the minimum earned premium under this policy.

2. This policy may be canceled by the corporation at any time by notice in writing to the assured.

7. This policy may be canceled by the corporation at any time by notice in writing to the assured stating specifically when the cancellation shall be effective. It may also be cancelled by the assured by like notice in writing to the corporation, provided the premium shall have been paid. In either case the earned premium shall be computed on the pay-roll for the year as indicated by the actual expenditure for wages during the time the policy shall have been in force. If canceled on the corporation's motion, the corporation shall pay or tender to the assured the unearned premium pro rata, when determined. If canceled at the request of the assured, the corporation shall retain the customary short rate premium and return the balance, if any, to the assured when determined. The check of the corporation mailed to the address of the assured as given berein shall be a sufficient tender but the return premium corporation of the assured as given berein shall be a sufficient tender but the return premium shall not be address of the assured as given herein shall be a sufficient tender, but the return premium shall not be payable until the assured shall have rendered to the corporation a full statement of wages expended to the date of cancellation. In any case the minimum earned premium stated in clause 6 shall be retained by the corporation.

8. The corporation shall have the right and opportunity at all reasonable times to examine the books of the assured so far as they relate to the compensation paid to his employees, and also to inspect the plant, works, machinery and appliances used in his business. The assured shall, if requested, furnish the corporation with a written statement of the amount of such compensation during any part of the policy period, under oath if required.

9. No condition or provision of this policy shall be waived or altered by anyone unless by written consent of the general manager of the corporation, nor shall notice to any agent, nor shall knowledge possessed by any agent or by any other person, be held to effect a waiver or change in this contract or in any

10. This policy covers the employees on the pay-roll of the assured engaged in the maintenance in good condition of the existing ways, works, plants and machinery, but extraordinary alterations and repairs thereto, by which is meant the demolition of existing walls and structures, or the erection of new buildings and brick or stone partitions are not covered hereby. (This clause does not apply in the case of contractors engaged in construction work.)

II. No action shall be brought under this policy except by and in the name of the assured.

In witness whereof, the In witness whereof, the corporation, has caused this policy to be signed by its general manager, but the same shall not be binding upon the corporation until countersigned by a duly authorised representative of the corporation.

DIGEST OF LIABILITY DECISIONS.

The following recent decisions relating to Liability Insurance have been collated from the courts of last resort of various States in different parts of the country and give the latest expression of the courts on many important phases of the law of negligence:

SKELTON v. PACIFIC LUMBER COMPANY.

SUPREME COURT, CALIFORNIA, OCTOBER, 1903. Master and servant-Vice-principal-Fellow-servant.

It is the character of the act performed and not the grade of the servant upon which depends whether the act which was the cause of the injury was that of a vice principal or of a fellow-servant (1).

Per curium.—This is a suit by the widow and minor children of one Skelton to recover damages for his death, which, it is claimed, resulted from the negligence of the defendant. The case was tried by a jury, and resulted in a verdict and judgment for the plaintiffs in the sum of $18,000. The appeal is from the and resulted in a verdict and judgment for the plaintiffs in the sum of $18,000. The appeal is from the judgment and from an order denying the defendant's motion for a new trail.

A servant, of course, takes upon himself all ordinary risks and perils of accident in the common course of the service in which he is engaged, including accidents occasioned by the negligence of fellow-servants, but in this particular instance the accident was not occasioned through the negligence of a fellow-servant. It was not as though the engineer had heedlessly permitted an excessive rate of speed. The engineer himself was acting under orders, and those orders given to him by the superintendent were in law the orders of the defendant, because, in the employment in which the accident happened, Douglas, the superintendent, was performing the duty, not of the fellow-servant, but of the principal. In the performance of all the duties which the law imposes upon the principal, the agent to whom their performance is delegated, by whatsoever name he may be called, in so far represents and stands in place of the principal, and the duty itself must be performed with due care or for a failure to exercise it the principal is responsible. Nor does the principal's responsibility end with the showing that he exercised due care in the selection of the agent to whom he has delegated the duty. It must further be proved that the agent himself with due care performed the principal is responsible. to whom he has delegated the duty. It must further be proved that the agent himself with due care performed his duty.

It must be taken as absolutely settled in this State that it is not the grade of service which fixes the master's responsibility in case of accident. It is the character of the act. That is to say, if it be an act the duty of the performance of which belongs in law to the master, if the performance be delegated to the least of his servants, α to the greatest, in either case, and in any case, the master is responsible, unless the act be performed with due care. The duties which a master owes to his servants, and which duties he must perform, are to furnish suitable machinery and appliances with which the service is to be performed, to keep them in order and repair, to exercise ordinary care in the selection and α tention of sufficient ard competent servants, and generally to make such provision for the safety of employees as will reasonably protect them against the dangers incident to their employement; and if the act be one which it was the duty of the employer to perform, and one of the servants negligently performs it, to the injury of another servant in the same common employment, then the offending servant in the performance of his duty ac s as the representative or agent of his employer, and the employer is responsible. These propositions, as we have stated, must be taken as absolutely settled in this State.

MINITER v. CHICAGO & N. W. R. COMPANY.

SUPREME COURT, IOWA, OCTOBER, 1903.

Master and servant—Fellow-servant—Hammer dropping on employee below.

Where it appeared that while an employee was steadying the bottom of a pile about to be driven in by the hammer of a pile driver, and other employee was steadying the bottom of a pile about to be driven and the temployees on the pile driver above were "pinching" or placing the upper end of the pile between the uprights under the hammer by using a crowbar, the pile was suddenly lowered, and in its descent the crowbar was wrinched from the employee and it fell upon the head of the employee below and so injured him that he died; the negligence, if any, in using the tool was that of a fellow-servant, and defendant was not liable.

Platform not erected to protect employees from falling tools.—Where there was no evidence that any platform that could have been erected would have averted the injury, the failure to erect a platform over the employee to protect him from falling tools was not negligence.

Vice-principal—Act of foreman directing use of tcol.—Where it appeared that the crowbar was a proper tool to be used in adjusting the pile, and the only question of negligence was whether it should have been used while the pile was moving, the direction of its use by the foreman did not constitute negligence for which the defendant was liable, where it did not appear that the use of the crowbar at the improper time had been made by the order of the foreman.

SHINKLE v. McCULLOUGH.

COURT OF APPEALS, KENTUCKY, DECEMBER, 1903,

Highways-Automobile frightening horse and driver of buggy thrown out.

Where it appeared that the plaintiff's horse became frightened at defendant's automobile that was alleged to have been running at an excessive speed, and plaintiff was thrown out of his wagon and injured. and there was evidence that the automobile when operated made a noise, an instruction that authorized the jury to find for the plaintiff if they believed that the horse became frightened either at the speed or the noise, though fright by reason of the noise was not pleaded, was not prejudicial.

Evidence of statement of defendant on a previous trial admissible.—Evidence of a statement made by the defendant upon a trial in a justice's court in an action for repairs to the buggy injured in the accident, that he considered himself responsible for the socident, was admissible as tending to consideration his testing.

that he considered himself reaponsible for the accident, was admissible as tending to contradict his testimony that he had not been guilty of any negligence.

Duty to stop automobile when horse frightened.—If the defendant knew or could have known by the zercise or ordinary care that the automobile had so excited the horse as to render him dangerous and un-

Damages—Verdict.—A verdict for $1020 for a permanent and serious loss of vision in one of the plainiff's eyes, as the result of a severe cut and bruise received at the time of the accident, was not excessive.

RUPP v. BURGESS.

SUPREME COURT, NEW JERSEY, NOVEMBER, 1903.

The first count plainly discloses no cause of action. It is based upon the assumption that the owner and occupant of premises abutting upon a public street is under a legal duty to keep in repair the sidewalk in front of his property. But no such obligation rests upon him, unless by virtue of the requirements of a city or municipal ordinance (Dillon on Mun. Corp., Sec. 1012; Weller v. McCormick, 47 N. J. Law, 400; I Atl., 516), and the declaration fails to allege the existence of any such requirement. And even when the duty of repairing sidewalks is imposed upon the abutung ewner by statute or ordinance, the failure to perform that duty does not render the owner responsible to individuals for injuries received by them, resulting from defects in the sidewalk, due to want of repair. The only liability which rests upon the property owner for the nonperfo mance of such a duty is the pensity provided by the statute of ordinance. Fielders v. North Jersey Street R'y Co., 68 N. J. Law, 352; 53 Atl., 404; 13 Am. Neg. Rep., 156; 54 Atl., 822, and cases cited.

cases cited. The second count, however, although loosely drawn, we think may stand. It states, substantially, that a drain or trench which was an appurtenant to the premises of the defendant, and used for the purpose of carrying the surface water therefrom, extended across the sidewalk to the curb line; that the defendant negligently permitted the covering of this drain or trench to become so dilapidated, broken and out of repair, that the planintiff, while passing along the street, without any negligence on her part, stumbled over the broken covering and fell into the drain, thereby receiving serious injury. The rule is settled that when an abutting owner, for his private ends, places or maintains in a public highway anything which, if neglected, will render the way unsafe for travel, he is bound to exercise due care to prevent its becoming dangerous, and that his failure to do so will render him hable for injuries received by a person passing along the highway, resulting from that neglect. The cases upon this subject will be found collated in the American & English Encyclopedia of Law (2d ed.), vol. 15, p. 419, notes 2 and 3.

CORBETT v. ST. VINCENT'S INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL OF UTICA.

COURT OF APPEALS, NEW YORK, DECEMBER, 1903.

Charitable institution—Convict injured by reason of negligence of managers.

An incorporated charitable institution organized to conduct an asylum and industrial school for boys, to which magistrates are authorised to send convicted minors, is as to such inmates a governmental agency, and is not liable for a personal injury to one of such inmates, resulting from the negligence of the manage s in putting him to work at a machine with which he was unfamiliar and without proper instruction and warning was entered, but was reversed at the Appellate Division. * * * *

O'BRIEN, Y.—The plaintiff, a boy under sixteen years of age, brought this action in the name of his guardian ad litem against this defendant, to recover damages for personal injury sustained by him while confined as a prisoner by the defendant, having been required to do some work in a laundry in which a machine called a "steam mangle" was in operation in doing the work. The plaintiff was assigned to duty in operating the mangle, assisted by another boy. He had never worked upon such a machine before, and it is claimed that he received no instructions from the managers of the defendant institution in regard to the management of the mangle, and while operating it on September 14, 1900, his right hand was caught between the cylinders and severely burned, mutilated and crushed, and thus he became permanently disabled. The case was submitted to the jury and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff, upon which judgment was entered, but was reversed at the Appellate Division.

It is quite possible that if this case is governed by the general law of negligence, as applied to the relation of master and servant, there was sufficient evidence to justify the submission of the case to the jury. We do not, however, consider it necessary to pass upon that question, since it has been fully disposed of in the court below, and we think that, inasmuch as the defendant in receiving and taking charge of the plaintiff, was exercising functions which in a large sense belonged to the State, it cannot be held liable for accidents of this character. This view is well supported by abundant authority, as will be seen by the adjudged cases, which it is only necessary to cite without comment (Lewis v. State, 96 N. Y., 71; Hughes v. County of Monroe, 147 N. Y., 49; McDonald v. Mass. General Hospital, 120 Mass., 432; Benton v. Trustees of City Hospital of Boston, 140 Mass., 13; People ex rel. N. Y. Inst. for Blind v. Fitch, 154 N. Y., 14; People ex rel. Mr. Magadalen School v. Dickson, 57 Hun, 312; Collins v. N. Y. Post Graduate Medical School, 59 App. Div., 63; Joel v. Woman's Hospital, 89 Hun, 73; Springfield Fire & M. Ins. Co. v. Village of Kesville, 148 N. Y., 46.)

BALDWIN v. URNER.

SUPREME COURT, PENNSYLVANIA, JULY, 1903.

Master and servant—Automatic opening elevator doors forming part of floor opening and catching employee between them and a post.

Where it appeared that a minor eighteen years of age, employed in defendant's factory, was injured by his leg being caught between a post at done of two doors that when closed formed part of the floor, and that opened automatically when the freight elevator approached them from below, and the employee had crossed the closed doors as he ret time before to get some tags from a box in a narrow passageway between the sutomatic door and the wall, and that was obstructed by other boxes placed there by other employees, but which boxes could have been readily removed so as to give access to the tag box without crossing the automatic doors, a reasonably safe place to work had been provided for the employee, who unnecessarily selected a dangerous route and assumed the risk that was as obvious to him as to his employer.

* * * The immediate cause of the injury was the operation of the treight elevator which was used to raise raw material from the ground to the third floor where the machines were placed, and to lower from raise raw material from the ground to the third noor where the machines were placed, and to lower from that floor the finished product. It was properly constructed and operated, and could not answer its purpose without an exit from below in the floor; automatically, when it approached the floor, the doors which at other times formed part of the floor raised up and closed down again when the elevator descended. Plaintiff in his testimony says: "I got my tags, and was returning and got about the middle of the dors, when they raised under my feet. " " The doors alid me up against the post on that side." Here was machinery operating exactly as it was intended to operate, and was reasonably necessary to the successful carrying on of the factory. The floor was entirely safe, except in that particular spot,—that is, on the doors where the plaintiff was standing—and even there except for a were few, minutes when the elevator was according to plaintiff was standing—and even there, except for a very few minutes when the elevator was ascending to plaintiff was standing—and even there, except for a very few minutes when the elevator was ascending to that floor. Outside of the doors there was a safe passageway at all times not interfered with by the elevator and doors. Taking into view the rature of the work being carried on, the necessity of an elevator, that plaintiff was employed on the third floor, we think the employers furnished plaintiff with a reasonably safe place to work. There is no factory operated by machinery and hands in which more or less risk is not run by the employees working in such factory. The risk is only minimized by the very utmost care; it is not abolished. But the employer is not held up to the very highest standard of care—only to reasonable care, in view of the circumstances. The highest standard of care here would have been to get rid of the elevator elevators and carry the material nn and down stairs.

As to the second complaint, that appellant in his work was subject to wholly unnecessary danger, it appears from the evidence that in carrying on his work, appellant had to go across the floor from his machine to yarn and tag boxes, and that when injured he was returning from the tag box across the elevator doors to the machine with the tags. Undoubtedly, there was more danger of stepping on the doors than on the floor outside. But appellant voluntarily stepped on the doors, because that way was at the time most convenient to him. It is said the passageway at one side was obstructed by boxes; but the evidence is that that place for the boxes was not designated by the employer. They were put there by employees, and could easily have been removed, so as to leave the way open. No rule of law would impute this act of negligence by employees to their employer. He planned his place of work so as to leave an entirely safe passage. He planned the automatic doors so that there would be no dangerous opening at any time, except when the elevator made its trip to third floor. Everything was done that reasonable prudence would dictate to lessen danger. The unnecessary danger was caused by the voluntary act of appellant in unnecessarily walking on the doors when there was an entirely safe way outside.

McMILLEN v. NORTH STAR MINING COMPANY.

SUPREME COURT, WASHINGTON, SEPTEMBER, 1903.

Master and servant-Miner-Explosion of charge that had missed fire-Duty of master to supervise.

It was the duty of a mining company that let a contract for driving a tunnel in its mine to keep itself advised as the work progressed of the location of the different charges, so that those subsequently employed by the company might be informed of the location of the unexploded charges.

Same—Risk from unexploded blast not assumed.—An employee engaged in driving a tunnel in a mine does not as ume the risk of injury from an unexploded blast that was left by other employees without his knowledge, when he had not been warned and could not by the exercise of reasonable observation and care knowledge, when he had not been warned and could not by the exercise of reasonable observation and care have discovered the hidden danger.

HADLEY, Y.—Respondent brought this suit against appellant to recover damages for injuries received while he was working in appellant's mine. A tunnel had already been driven for a distance of more than 200 feet by others who had worked under a contract with appellant, but who had quit the work. Respondent and another were employed by appellant to continue work in this tunnel. The employment was made by appellant's foreman, who directed where the work should be done. The tunnel had the appearance of having been well cleaned up by the former workmen, and the foremen did not warm the respondent on his faller. having been well cleaned up by the former workmen, and the foreman did not warm the respondent or his fellow workman of any hidden danger. Neither respondent nor his associate had ever worked before in the tunnel, and neither had any knowledge of any concealed danger. Respondent was directed to work at the face of the tunnel, and his companion was ordered to work upon the "drift," a short distance from respondent. They began work in the afternoon and continued until the morning of the second day followrespondent. They began work in the attention and continued the morning of the second day following. Meanwhile respondent had exploded several blasts at the f. co of the tunnel, and on the morning above mentioned was engaged in "mucking out." A loose plank floor had been laid upon the bottom of the tunnel, near the face, in order that the broken material might be more easily shoveled. The face having been moved forward somewhat by the work of respondent, he was about preparing to move this floor nearer to the face. While engaged in cleaning and smoothing the bottom of the tunnel between the ends of the planks and the face, he was using his pick, and when he struck a place near the ends of the plank an explosion occurred, which resulted in the destruction of one of his eyes and in permanent injury to his hearing.

MUENCH v. HEINMANN.

SUPREME COURT, WISCONSIN, OCTOBER, 1903.

This is an action to recover damages for personal injuries. In August, 1900, and for some time prior thereto, the defendants, as partners, were manufacturers of hats in the city of Milwaukee, and at the time of the accident occupied a four-story building, and had occupied the same for about two weeks. In this building there are two freight elevators, which were moved by hydraulic power, and in each of them the shifting cable passed over a sheave or pulley at the top of the shaft, which sheave or pulley was attached to a hanger, which hanger was attached by screws to planks forming ceiling of the shaft. The plaintiff was in the grocery business in Milwaukee, and also peddled milk from 5 A. M to noon each day, and had for some time sold milk to detendant's employees, and continued the practice after the defendants moved into the building aforesaid. He was accustomed to take his milk cans into the east freight elevator aforesaid and go up to the fourth floor in the elevator, operating the shift cable himself, and come down the same way after delivering his milk. The milk was for the employees' convenience and use, solely, but the forewoman upon the fourth floor was accustomed to collect the money from the employees and hand it to the plaintiff, thus swing time. Plaintiff testifies that on August 3, 1900, he entered the building as usual to deliver milk, and that he met Mr. Jenner, one of the defendant's firm, who saw him using the east elevator, and directed him in the future to take the west one, as that was the passenger elevator. This statement is absolutely denied by Jenner. On the morning of August 4, 1900, plaintiff entered the building with his milk cans as usual, took the west elevator to the fourth floor, delivered his milk, and then took the elevator down again; and, when he was part way down the sheave over which the shifting cable ran fell, striking him and badly injuring him.

juring him. The main question in this case, however, is whether under the facts testified to by the plaintiff himself, The main question in this case, however, is whether under the facts testified to by the plaintiff himself, and found by the jury, there is any liability shown; and this depends upon the question whether, under these facts, the plaintiff was a mere licensee, or one who was upon the premises by invitation, expressed or implied. If he was a mere licensee, there can be no recovery, because a mere licensee takes the premises as he finds them, and the licensor owes him no duty, save to refrain from acts of active negligence rendering the premises dangerous (Cahill v. Layton, 57 Wis., 600, 16 N. W. I.) If, on the other hand, he was more than a mere licensee, and was on the premises by invitation, express or implied, the defendants owed him the duty of exercising ordinary care to keep the premises in safe condition for use by persons themselves exercising ordinary care (Gorr v. Mittlestaed, 96 Wis., 296; 71 N. W., 656.) Mere permission or licease does not imply invitation. When that fact alone appears, the permitted person is a mere licensee; but when it is shown that the permitted person enters on the premises in the ordinary way to transact business with the licensor, or that the object of his visit is one in which there is mutuality of interest between licenser and licensee, but an invited person, to whom the duty of exercising ordinary care is owing (Hupfer v. Nat. D. Co., 114 Wis., 279; 90 N. W., 191.) In the present case it appears without dispute that the plaintiff went upon the premises for the transaction of private business of his own with the defendants' employees, in which the defendants themselves had no interest, and up to the time, at least, when the defendant Jenner, as alleged and found, directed him to use the west elevator, he was a mere licensee; and the simple question presented is whether that direction constituted an invitation, either express or implied. We have been unable to see how it can be so construed. True, it was a permission, but a mere licensee has permission. It substituted affirmativ mutuality of interest was shown, and hence that there was implied invitation, and we are unable to find any such element in the present case. The result is that, in any aspect of the evidence, the plaintiff was a mere licensee upon the premises; and, no active negligence being shown, he cannot recover. We have found no other exceptions in the record which require discussion.

SOUTHERN INDIANA RAILWAY COMPANY v. HARRELL.

SUPREME COURT OF INDIANA, 68 NORTHEASTERN REPORTER, PAGE 262.

Employers' liability—Construction of statute—Vice principal—Safe place to work.

In this case Jackson H. Harrell sued the above-named railway company for injuries received while in magninave been hable to a stranger, under the rule of respondent superior, had he been in appellee's space. But in appellee's case negligence could not be predicated on his injury if it was a result of one of the risks of the vervice, because as to those risks which the servant assumes there is no duty.

One of the leading duties of a master, except in instances when it can be said that the complaining servant has assumed the particular risk, is to use ordinary care to keep the place where such servant is caployed in as safe a condition as the nature of the employment fairly admits of. To make the above thement certain requires a consideration of the meaning of the word "place." If by this it is meant that the master, by himself or representative, must be always present to ward off every transient perfit that may hance the servant in the naticular such or place that he may chance to occur while engaged in the permanace the servant in the particular spot or place that he may chance to occupy while engaged in the per-fermance of his work, then it must be affirmed that the rule of law devolves u, on the master a duty that in many instances it would be wholly impracticable to discharge. A railroad company could scarcely employ vice principals enough to make it sufficiently argus-eyed to guard its servants to that extent. Furthermore, it is to be observed that in some lines of business, like the operation of a railroad, many servants are exployed whose respective duties are so correlated that in the very forwarding of the master's business they are protecting the lives and limbs of treir concervants; and if some hmitation be not put upon the word "place," as respects transient dangers in the conducting of the details of the business, then every one of such servants becomes, for some purposes, a vice principal, and the integri y of the coservant rule is

As was said in the decision of Butler v. Townsend, 126 N. Y 105, N. E., 1017: "A place, in its broad sense, is never safe in which an accident happens, and an accident always happens in some place, and so the master might almost become an insurer."

In line with the above observations are the following expressions from the decision of Hermana v. Port Biakely Mill Co. (D. C.) 71 Fed. 853: "The word 'place,' in my judgment, means the premises where the work is being done, and does not comprehend the negligent acts of * * fellow-servants, by reason of which the place is rendered unsafe or dangerous. The fact that the negligent act of a fellow-servant renders a place of work unsafe is no sure and safe test of the master's duty and liability in this respect, for it may wall be said that our recligance which results is done. a place of work unsafe is no sure and safe test of the master's duty and liability in this respect, for it may well be said that any negligence which results in damage to some one makes a particular spot or place dangerous or unsafe. To so hold would virtually be making the master responsible for any negligence of a fellow-servant which renders a place of work unsafe or dangerous. It would be doing the very thing which it is the policy and object of the general rule not to do. It would create a liability which the master could not avoid by the exercise of any degree of foresight or care."

Granting that for some purposes the man Gratzer was a vice principal, we are unable to perceive that he was acting in that capacity at the time that he gave the alleged negligent order. The risk of injury from the negligence of a foreman is as much within the servant's assumption as is the risk that he may be injured by the act of any other coservant. (Cases cited.) The evidence in this case shows that Gratzer took part in the physical work of setting stone in the construction of the pier, and he was working as a servant when he gave the order looking to the setting of the stone which injurer appellee.

To sum up the question as to the claim of a common-law liability: The appellant was not bound to have a representative oresent at every moment to keep the place that appellee might chance to occupy safe, as against the possible negligence of a ocemployee. The man Gratzer was engaged at the time of his alleged negligence as a servant in forwarding the work. Appellee and Gratzer were coservants, and, as it is not alleged or proved that appellant did not exercise due care in the selection and retention of such foreman, it follows that appellant is not liable for his negligence in the particular instance.

DE GRAY v. MURRAY.

SUPREME COURT, NEW JERSEY, JUNE, 1903.

GUMMERE, CA. 9.—This was an action to recover for injuries resulting to the plaintiff in error (the plaintiff below) from the bite of a dog, owned by the defendant in error, which attacked her while she was walking on the public street. At the close of the testimony the trial judge directed a verdict for the defendant, and the plaintiff seeks to review the judgment entered upon that verdict.

It is the settled law that the owner of a dog will not be held responsible for injuries resulting to another person from its bite, unless it be shown that the dog had previously bitten some one else, or was vicious, to the knowledge of the owner. Smith v. Donohue, 49 N. J. Law, 548, 10 Atl. Rep. 150, and cases cited. In the present case, although the dog had been kept on the defendant's premises for several years, and must have been well known in the neighborhood, the only evidence tending to show viciousness on its part, prior to the time when the plaintiff was bitten by it, was that, on two or three occasions, it had "flown at" a policeman whose duty required him to daily pass by the premises of the defendant, and that, on another occasion, it had "sprung at" a boy who was passing by along the street, and made two little holes, or spots, upon his leg. It is admitted that the policeman was never bitten, and it is left in uncertainty whether the marks on the boy's leg were made by the teeth of the dog or by its claws. Assuming that this evidence, meager as it is, was sufficient to make the character of the dog a jury question, it was necessary, as has already been stated, in order to fix upon the defendant liability for the plaintiff's injury, to show that he had knowledge of his dog's vicious propensity. But the case utterly falls in this regard. So far as the occurrence in which the boy figured is concerned, the defendant heard from his wife that she had been told by the boy's mother that the dog had jumped upon her son, but had merely scratched his leg. The experience of the policeman he never heard of at all.

by the boy's mother that the dog had jumped upon her son, but had merely stratched his leg. The experience of the policeman he never heard of at all. * *

The right of a man to keep a vicious dog for the protection of his home and property is concerled in the case of Roehers v. Remhoff, 55 N. J. Law, 479, 26 Atl. Rep. 86. He is, of course, bound to exercise a decree of care, commensurate with the danger to others which will follow the dog's escape from his control, to so secure it that it will not injure anyone who does not unlawfully provoke or intermeddle with it. Worthen v. Love, 60 Vt. 285, I Am. Neg. Cas. 249, I4 Atl. Rep. 46I. But if the owner does use such care, and the dog nevertheless escapes and inflicts injury, he is not liable. In the case now under consideration the undisputed evidence makes it clear that the defendant fully discharged the duty of using due care to the indisplace evidence makes it clear that the detendant mily discharged the duty of using due case to prevent the escape of his dog from his premises, and that the plaintiff's injury was not due to any neglect in that regard upon his part. She was bitten in the early morning, b-tween half-past six and seven o'clock. On the preceding evening the defendant shut the dog in his carpenter shop (which adjoined his dwelling), and locked him in. During the night the dog gnawed away the wood work from around the lock of the door to such an extent that the lock became detached, thus permitting the door to open and the dog to escape. That a reasonably prudent man would not have anticipated any such occurrence must be admitted.

ANN ARBOR R. CO. v. KINZ.

SUPREME COURT, OHIO, APRIL, 1903.

Dangerous premises-Injury to licensee-Boy in vacant lot injured by caving of bank.

I.—The owner of an uninclosed tract of land within a city, which has been graded to a level, leaving a bank on one side of the premises, to which premises adults are not invited, but suffered to resort for the purpose of playing baseball, which amusement attracts to the ground and along to the bank young boys to witness the games, is not liable for injury to one of such boys, caused by the caving or falling of the top or the embankment, where its condition does not, to the knowledge of such owner, indicate a reasonable probability of such result. probability of such result.

probability of such result. What are these fac's? The premises on which the boy sustained the injury belonged to the railroad company, and are situate in the north part of the city of Toledo, between Busa and Magnolia streets, lying not far from, if not adjoining, the right of way of the defendant company, and extended to the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad, a distance of about 200 feet. This tract of land was an open, unfenced common, not near any depot of the company, and none of its buildings were upon it. Part of this ground was higher than the remainder, and on it were some low places, which the company desired to fill and to grade the tract to a more even surface. In the summer of 1896 the company let a contract for the work contemplated, tract to a more even surface. In the summer of 1896 the company let a contract for the work contemplated, and it was entered upon some time in June of that year. The earth to make the fills was taken from the high ground of the tract by means of a steam shovel; and after the work of excavation had proceeded well towards completion, on account of a controversy between the company and the contractor the work was suspended, which was some time in August of the same year. The making of the excavation left a bank, mostly of clay, about ten feet high, and which was situated at least 100 feet from the tracts of the Ann Arbor Railroad. The steam shovel which removed the earth from the bank left the surface uneven. From its base the ground sloped gradually toward the railroad. The lower portion of the ten-foot embankment had some slope outward, and the upper portion was nearly perpendicular, and at the time of the injury the top of the bank at some places projected slightly. The low places in the tract of land had been filled, and the ground, except the bank and its base, graded so that it was nearly level, and it remained in that condition from the time the contractor quit work in the summer of 1896 until after the injury in August, 1897. dition from the time the contractor quit work in the summer of 1896 until after the injury in August, 1897. No other or further work was done on the commons or at the bank during that time, and no change had occurred in the shape or condition of the bank, except as made by the weather and the acts of the injured boy and his companions.

After the work ceased in 1896, young men and others who desired to play baseball assembled and played ball on this common, and this habit was renewed in the summer of 1897. The plaintiff, a boy about eleven years of age, and others both older and younger than he, were attracted to the common by the games of baseball, and, if they did not engage in that game themselves, were frequently onlookers while others played, and at such times occupied the sloping base of the bank. On the day of the injury the plaintiff and his companions were witnessing the game, and, as on preceding days, whiled away a part of their time in digging into the clay bank, some with their fingers, and others used sticks, the object being to get clay with which to make balls to throw at each other. This amusement was in progress at the time the balaintiff was injursed. He, with others, had been so encaged during the progress of the game, and where plaintiff was injured. He, with others, had been so engaged during the progress of the game, and where the plaintiff was, or near thereto, a hole about a foot deep had been made in the bank four or five feet from its base. Some one used an iron ice hook instead of his fingers to get out the clay. While so engaged near the foot of the bank, the top of the bank caved, and a portion of it fell upon the plaintiff, Kins, and

COWETT V. AMERICAN WOOLEN CO. SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT, MAINE, JUNE, 1903.

At the time of the injury the plaintiff was employed in the cardroom of the defendant's mill, and it was apart of his duty to feed and clean the cards. He undertook to clean the waste out of the cogwheels at the ead of the rollers while the machinery was running. To pick the wool from the cogs, he was oblyged to use his left hand in the narrow space between the wheels and the rollers, employing his thumb and foreinger for that purpose. This brought his little finger very near to the rollers, and while so employed it was caught between the large cylinder and one of the smaller strippers on top of the cylinder, drawing in and partially crushing the hand. He was sixteen years of age, and had worked in the cardroom for two years and a half. The cogwheels, cylinders and strippers were all in plain sight, and his testimony shows that he kaew and appreciated the danger of getting his hand between the cylinder and roller, and as to this he must be held to have assumed the risk. The plaintiff's claim, however, is that there was another and hidden danger, of which he did not know, and could not have known in the exercise of reasonable care and diligence, and which was the real cause of the injury he received. In the collar on the shaft of and at the end of the stripper, near to the plaintiff's hand, there was a small set-screw with an oval head, in which was a slot with sharp edges. The head of this screw was about one-quarter of an inch broad, and projected about one-sixteenth of an inch from the rapidly revolving collar. The plaintiff claims that the head of this screw hit his hand, surprising him, and causing him, by a sudden and involuntary movement, to draw his band into the machinery, where it was caught and injured. It is claimed that it was the master's duty to place a guard over the head of the screw, or to warn the plaintiff of its existence, which was not ordinarily perceptible, and of which he had no knowledge. a part of his duty to feed and clean the cards. He undertook to clean the waste out of the cogwheels at the

Even if the plaintiff's theory in regard to the manner in which the injury was received had been sustained by the evidence, there is another objection which is fatal to his recovery. It was not the duty of the detendant to provide absolutely safe machinery. The law imposes no such burden upon the master. He is not an insurer. It is his duty to provide and maintain machinery which is reasonably safe in view of the uses that are to be made of it and the work that is to be performed upon it and around it. He is responsible for any injury arising through any defect in the machinery which was or ought to have been known to him and was unknown to the servant. He is not required to anticipate and guard against every possible danger, but only such as are likely to occur. The degree of care should rise with the danger; but, assuming as true the plaintiff's position, that it was within the contemplation of the parties that he should clean the machine while running. we do not think the defendant ought to have known that such an injury clean the machine while running, we do not think the defendant ought to have known that such an injury was likely to occur. That the oval head of the set-screw, projecting one-sixteenth of an inch from the revolving collar near the plaintiff's hand, by coming in contact with his finger would cause him injury, or cause him to make any such involuntary movement as would be the occasion of such an accident or injury as that complained of in the present case, was a possibility so remote, a thing so unlikely to happen, that it could not be foreseen or anticipated by the defendant by the exercise of reasonable care. Such being the bct, neither his failure to place a guard over the head of the screw nor his omission to warn the plaintiff of the danger constitute negligence on his part.

ISHAM v. BRODERICK et al. SUPREME COURT, MINNESOTA, MAY, 1903.

Landlord and tenant-Municipal corporations-Streets-Sidewalk-Water from roof freezing on walk and pedestrian falling thereon.

1. The owner's entire surrender and control of leased premises to the lessee will not relieve him from isability to third persons for the premises being, at the time of such surrender, in a condition dangerous to the public, or with a nuisance upon them, for by the act of letting he, in law, authorizes the continuance of the nuisance, and is, therefore, liable to strangers for injuries suffered therefrom. And the fact that his lesse covenants to repair furnishes him no protection, for the mere relation of lessor and lessee has no quality which enables the lessor to evade responsibility for his own acts by referring persons injured thereby to a third party for relief.

2. The right to create a nuisance by means of a pipe through which water flows upon the sidewalk cannot be made a matter of grant, nor can the right be acquired by prescription. If such a pipe, by natural operation, causes and creates a nuisance, the owner of the premises must know it, or must be presumed to know it. In such cases actual notice of the existence of such a nuisance is unnecessary.

3. On the facts in this case the question of the plaintiff's contributory negligence was for the injury.

4. Both bones of the plaintiff's leg were fractured immediately above the ankle. He suffered considerable pain and remained in the hospital nearly two months. His hospital bill was $150, and, in addition to this, there was a doctor's bill of $50. At the time of the trial, which was nine months after the accident, he was a fine month obliged to was a nearly stocking or anklet; and according to the testingory would be was still lame and obliged to wear an elastic stocking or anklet; and, according to the testimony, would be obliged to wear the same for about a year longer. He was unable to follow any active occupation for several months after the injury. Held, that a verdict for $1000 did not indicate that the jurors were influenced by passion or prejudice.

COLLINS, J.—The defendants Broderick were the owners of a brick block in the city of Minneapolis, and had been such owners for many years, but at the time of the accident upon which this action was based the premises were occupied by two separate and independent tenants. The building had a flat roof, and from this roof, leading to a point a few inches from the sidewalk, was a six-inch iron pipe or conductor, put in and used for the purpose of conveying water from the roof to the ground. At the bottom of this pipe was an elbow spout, which turned toward the street, some eight or nine inches in length, and the water which made its way down through this pipe and was discharged upon the sidewalk was supposed to be carried off through a gutter-like depression in the sidewalk, which extended to the curbing. This has been the conits way down through this pipe and was discharged upon the sidewalk was supposed to be carried off through a gutter-like depression in the sidewalk, which extended to the curbing. This has been the condition of things for more than fifteen years. It was shown upon the trial that almost every winter water came down through this pipe, was discharged therefrom, and froze upon the sidewalk in a ridge some four or five inches in height at the point directly below the discharge, and decreased in height as it spread out towards the curbing. It was not a case where ice had formed upon the sidewalk naturally, and in the manner to be expected in this climate, and really unavoidable. The attention of the city authorities had more than once been drawn to this common occurrence, but there was no testimony from which it appeared that the direct attention of the owners of the building had been called to it. On this particular winter the water had frozen and had formed in this uneven and dangerous manner some two or three weeks prior to the accident, which occurred one night about twelve o'clock. The plaintiff was coming out of the building, and, stepping upon this ridge near the spout of the pipe, slipped, fell and broke his leg. He brought this action for damages and was awarded a verdict of $1000 against both defendants. There are two appeals; one by the Brodericks, the other by the city. one by the Brodericks, the other by the city.

DONOHUE v. LONSDALE COMPANY.

Supreme Court, Rhode Island, May, 1903.

Master and servant—Defective appliance—Seats for women employees—Girl injured by seat overturning. Where it appears that under sec. 8, c. 68 of the Gen. Laws of R. I., requiring that in every establishment where women were employed seats should be provided for such employees, and it was alleged that the ment where women were employed seats should be provided for such employees, and it was alleged that the seat furnished the plaintiff was unsafe in being topheavy and liable to be turned over at a very alight contact of the skirts of the employees, and that the feet of the seat were so pointed when turned upwards as to injure a person who might fall on them; and that while exercising due care the plaintiff sat down on the stool, and while thus seated her duties required her to stand momentarily, and that when she went to sit down again the stool had turned over and she fell on one of the points and was injured. A demurrer to the declaration on the ground that the plaintiff's contributory negligence in attempting to sit down without first accordance were sustained. ascertaining whether the stool was standing was sustained.

Misuse of appliance.—The mere fact that a machine or appliance may become dangerous if carelessly

used is not a test of the master's liability.

Duty of master—Warning not required.—Plaintiff's employer was not bound to furnish seats which would not tip over when caught in the skirts of its employees, or to warn them of the danger of sitting down where a stool had been placed without first ascertaining whether it was standing on its legs or not.

TILLINGHAST, %.—The negligence alleged in this case was the failure of the defendant corporation to provide a reasonably safe seat for the use of the plaintiff when the duties of her work did not require her to be standing. Gen. Laws R. I., c. 68, sec. 8, provides as follows: "In every manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment in which women and girls are employed, there shall be provided coaveniently located seats for such women and girls, and they shall be permitted to use them when their duties do not require their standing." The plaintiff alleges that the seat which was furnished her was unsafe in this: That it was made with a round seat screwed upon a piece of piping, which piping was screwed into a standard having three feet, flattened and triangular in shape, after the style of the points of anchor; that the seat or stool was heavier at the top than at the bottom and was, therefore, liable to fall or turn over upon the floor at a very slight contact with any substance—e. g., the skirt or clothing of any of the women and the sear or stool was neavier at the top than at the bottom and was, therefore, liable to fall or turn over upon the floor at a very slight contact with any substance—e. g., the skirt or clothing of any of the women and children working in the room—and that the feet of the stool or seat were so pointed and sharp, when turned upwards, as to injure any person who might fall upon them. The plaintiff further alleges that while in the exercise of due care she sat down upon the stool furnished her, at a time when her duties did not require her to be standing, and while thus seated it became necessary that she should stand momentarily upon her feet in the discharge of her duties, which she did not be the top to be standing. feet in the discharge of her duties, which she did, and that when she went to sit back again upon said stool. it had fallen or turned over upon the floor, leaving the points or feet thereof projecting upwards, and that she fell upon one of said points, and was seriously and permanently injured.

COLE v. GERMAN SAVINGS AND LOAN SOCIETY.

United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Eighth Circuit, Utah, July, 1903.

 Negligence—Proximate Cause—Test.—An injury that is the natural and probable consequence of an act of negligence is actionable, and such an act is the proximate cause of the injury.
 Same—Remote Cause—Test—But an injury which could not have been foreseen or reasonably anticipated as the probable result of an act of negligence is not actionable, and such an act is either the remote cause, or no cause whatever, of the injury.

3. Same—Intervening cause—Test.—An injury that results from an act of negligence, but that could not have been foreseen or reasonably anticipated as its probable consequence, and that probably would not have resulted from it had not the interposition of some new and independent cause interrupted the natural sequence of events, turned aside their course and produced it, is not actionable, and such an act of negligence is the remote cause, and the independent intervening cause is the proximate cause, of the injury.

4. Same—Concurring negligence—Effect.—It is no defense to an action for damages for an injury of which the act or omission of the defendant was the proximate cause that the negligent or wrongful act of another concurred with the recklessness of the defendant to produce the untoward result.

5. Same.—But the concurring negligence of another cannot transform the remote into the proximate cause of an injury, or create or increase the liability of the defendant. It cannot make an injury which was not the natural and probable result of the negligent acts or omissions of the defendant their natural and probable consequence. No act contributes to an injury, in the legal acceptation of that term, unless it is a proximate cause of that injury, and no one is liable for an injury unless it was a natural and probable result of his act.

6. Same—Evidence.—The plaintiff entered and passed along a hall in the building of the defendant to take the elevator, the well or shaft of which opened into the hall. A boy, who was a stranger to her and to the defendant, hurried past her in the hall, pushed the sliding door of the well of the elevator, which was open from one to ten inches, back as far as it would go, and stepped back. The plaintiff supposed this boy was the operator of the elevator, and stepped in. The elevator was at an upper floor in charge of its regular operator, and the plaintiff fell to the bottom of the well and was injured. The hall was so dark that it was difficult, but not impossible, to see the elevator when it was at the lower floor, and when it was not there nothing but darkness was visible in the well. The strange boy had be-n seen by witnesses niting and visiting on the elevator a dozen times and endeavoring to operate it once. The door of the shaft or well could be opened from the outside when it was latched by lifting and sliding it. It would bound open from one to ten inches when the operator jammed it, and it was often left open to that extent. Heid—the negligent acts and omissions of the defendant were not, and those of the strange boy were, the, proximate cause of the injury, the latter constituted an independent, intervening cause, which interrupted the natural sequence of events between the negligence of the defendant and the injury of the plaintiff, assulated the defendant's negligence from the plaintiff's hurt, broke the casual connection between them, and produced her injury. and produced her injury.

7. Same—Violation of law or duty not reasonably to be anticipated—The act of the strange boy could not be foreseen or reasonably anticipated as the probable result of the negligent acts or omissions of the defendant. A violation of law or duty by a third party, when not intended by a defendant, is not regarded by the law as the natural consequence of his acts of negligence, and cannot be reasonably anticipated as their probable result.

CHESLEY v. ROCHEFORD & GOULD.

SUPREME COURT, NEBRASKA, JULY, 1903.

Dangerous premises—Licensee—One entering upon another's premises with his consent, but without an invitation, and not in the discharge of a duty imposed upon him is a bare licensee, and there is no duty owed to him by the occupier except to refrain from wantonly or willfully injuring him.

Employee of contractor going upon part of building where employees of other contractor were at work and injured.—Where it appeared that the plaintiff was a carpenter engaged in laying the flooring of a reservoir some sixteen feet from a part of the building where defendant's employees were laying brickwork and where there was a rough cable hoist or elevator used to furnish material to the brickmen, and that in the shade of the elevator was a bucket of drinking water for the use of the brickmen, and the plaintiff went from where he was at work to the bucket to get a drink, and while there was struck and injured by a wheelbarrow that fell from the elevator upon him, the evidence showed that the plaintiff was a bare licensee, and a direction to find a verdict for defendants was proper.

Oldham, C.—The facts underlying this controversy are that in the summer of 1898 the Armour Packing Okham, C.—The facts underlying this controversy are that in the summer of 1898 the Armour Packing Company was engaged in the construction of a large building in South Omaha, Neb. The firm of Rocheford & Gould, the defendants in this action, were independent contractors who had charge of the brickwork on the piers of one of the structures called the "Oleo building," and also were laying brick on the east wall of that building at the time of the injury complained of. From eight to sixteen feet east of the piers of the Oleo building a gang of carpenters in the employ of Armour, and not of Rocheford & Gould, were engaged in flooring a reservoir about to feet deep, 50 feet wide and 250 in length. Among these carpenters was the plaintiff, Chesley, who had been in Armour's employ for some time previous, but commenced work on the reservoir the day he was injured. The floor of the elevator and the ground west of it on which the defendant's men were working on the piers were practically on the same level and 30 or of it on which the defendant's men were working on the piers were practically on the same level and 30 or 40 feet below the level of the street. For the purpose of getting brick down to their men working on the piers, defendants used a rough cable hoist or elevator on which a wheelbarrow of material would be lowered from the street to the ground near the pier where the brick was being laid. This elevator was double, so that while a wheelbarrow of brick was descending an empty wheelbarrow was ascending for another load. It was propelled by power, and was in use continuously during working hours. The framework around the elevator was stayed by cross-braces 8 to 10 feet apart. Wheelbarrows were placed in the elevator from the north and south sides, which were open and unprotected. The employees of Rocheford & Gould were supplied with water from a bucket which was placed in the shade of the elevator, and at the time of the injury complained of—the afternoon of July 23—the bucket was on a rock some 6 or 8 feet north of the orner of the hoist, and perhaps a little to the west. The carpenters who were at work on the reservoir were supplied with water by men or boys sent around among them for that purpose by Armour's forman. The afternoon of the injury was very warm and the metarbour or the reservoir warm and the metarbour or the reservoir was the metarbour or the reservoir was the reservoir warm. forman. The afternoon of the injury was very warm, and the waterboys, as they were called, did not come around as frequently as desired among the carpenters to supply their thirst. Consequently, as appears from plaintiff's testimony, some of the carpenters went over to the bucket in the shade of the elevator to get water. It appears that he was flooring along on the southwest portion of the reservoir and not very far distant from the elevator immediately before the injury. He also claimed that the carpenters while at work would sometimes saw off ends of the boards, which would fall three or four fret west from the floor of the reservoir, and that they would from time to time pick up these pieces of plank for the purpose of patching out the floor. There is also some evidence tending to show that they would sometimes lay their planes, squares and other tools on the ground immediately west of the reservoir and within a few feet thereof. At the trial of this case in the court below plaintiff testified that he stepped from the floor of the reservoir to pick up a piece of plank which had been sawed off, and that when he came near to the piece of plank he noticed the water bucket on the rock and went there to get a drink, and that while he was drinking some heavy weight fell on his head, rendering him senseless and inflicting a severe, if not a permanent, injury upon him. Other witnesses who saw the injury agree that plaintiff was standing withis back to the elevator hoist, drinking, and that an empty wheelbarrow, which was ascending in the elevator, caught its handle on one of the cross-braces of the elevator and was hurled down upon him.

There was evidence offered on the part of the def indants tending to show that plaintiff, immediately before the injury, was at work a considerable distance from the elevator, on the floor of the reservoir, and before the injury, was at work a considerable distance from the elevator, on the noor of the reservatr, and that he came by one of the defondants' men on his way to the water bucket and was remonstrated with for interfering with the brickmasons by going over their work to the water bucket. One of the defendants' brickmasons testified that plaintiff asked him for permission to go and get a drink from the bucket, and that he told plaintiff he might do so, but to look out for the elevator and not stand in front of it, as it was dangerous. Defendants also showed that on each of two former trials of this case in the court below the plaintif testified in his own behalf and made no claim that he went in search of boards or tools at the time of his injury, but that at each of the former hearings he alleged that he saw the water bucket on the stone and went there because he was thirsty and because the waterboys did not come around as often as they should to supply the carpenters. Defendants evidence also tended to show that there were no pieces of boards or tools of the carpenters anywhere near the elevator. The evidence, however, was disputed. The court, after the testimony was all in, directed a verdict for the defendants, and plaintiff brings the cause here on error.

RICE V. EUREKA PAPER CO.

COURT OF APPEALS, NEW YORK, APRIL, 1903.

Master and servant—Risk of employment—Continuing employment after promise to repair defective machinery.—Where it appeared that an employee at a rag cutter in defendant's paper mill knew that the machine was defective and complained to an officer of the company and threatened to quit work unless the defect was remedied, and the officer at the close of the week promised to repair the machine during the fore part of the following week, and the employee continued to work the following week, relying on the promise, and was injured on Wednesday, he did not assume the risk of injury and the company was liable.

Promise to repair within a reasonable time.—The promise to repair the machinery during the fore roomse to repair within a reasonable time.—Ine promise to repair the machinery during the safe part of next week was a promise to repair within a reasonable time.

WERNER, Y.—This action is brought to recover damages for injuries sustained by plaintiff through defendant's alleged negligence. The fact which for the purposes of this appeal must be taken as true are briefly as follows: In April, 1900, and for a number of years prior thereto, the defendant was engaged in the manufacture of paper in its mill located at Oswego Falls, N. Y. As part of its equipment it had a machine known as a "rag-cutter," which was on the second floor of the mill, almost directly over the main power shaft, which extended through the first story of the building, near the ceiling. This rag cutter, roughly described consisted of a feat-table about three feet long, one end of which connected with a learner. roughly described, consisted of a feed-table about three feet long, one end of which connected with a large, slowly revolving cylinder, with teeth or spikes upon its circumference. Underneath this cylinder was a salowy revolving cylinder, with teeth or spikes upon its circumference. Underneant hits cylinder was a stationary plate, and behind this an arrangement of rapidly revolving knives. The rags, rope and other materials to be cut up were fed into the machine by the operator, who stood at the end of the feed table. As this material reached the spiked cylinder it was drawn in and subjected to pressure, which brought it into contact with the knives, where it was cut into small fragments. Near the end of the axle or shaft of this machine, but beyond the reach of the operator when standing at his position in front of the feed table, were two nullers—one tight the other losse and both covered by a boy. On the power shaft in the lower were two pulleys—one tight, the other loose, and both covered by a box. On the power shaft in the lower story there were also two pulleys similarly arranged. These two sets of pulleys were connected by a belt, which, when on the tight pulleys, transmitted the power from the main shaft to a rag cutter and set it in motion. The only way i which this machine could be stopped in the room where it was located was to lift the cover or box from the pulleys on the machine's axle and with a stick to guide the belt from the tight motion. I he only way 1 which this machine could be stopped in the room where it was located was to his the cover or box from the pulleys on the machine's axle and with a stick to guide the belt from the tight pulley to the loose one; and in starting the machine this process was, of course, reversed. If the power was to be shut off at the main shaft, that was done on the floor below, by means of a longer stick, with which the belt was shifted to the loose pulley on the power shaft. Beyond these convivances there were no means by which the machine could be stopped when the power shaft was in operation. Belt shifters and belt tighteners were then in common use in other mills upon muchines of this character, and by their use an operator could, without leaving his position, stop his machine almost instantly. Defendant then had in its mill a belt tightener, which had been made for this machine, but which, for some unexplained reason, had not been used. On the fourth day of April, 1900, while the plaintift was engaged in feeding this machine, his right hand became entangled in a mesh of string, and was being drawn slowly towards the spike cylinder. In attempting to disengage it the other hand was also caught in the mesh, and both were drawn to the cylinder and upon the knives, where they were so mangled that the right hand was uverify destroyed and the left one was annihilated with the exception of a small portion of the palm and a single finger. At this time the plaintiff had been employed by the defendant for nearly eighteen months, and had been operating this machine for over a year. He was forty years of age, ordinarily bright, and fully understood the construction and operation of this machine. He knew that a belt tightener had been made for it, but not used, and he was aware of the danger incident to the operation of the machine without either a belt shifter or a belt tightener. This is clearly established by his testimony to the effect that, on the Savurday night preceding the Wednesday on which he was injured common by the tenants of both houses turned over, and the tenant was ir jured, the landlord was not liable.

BRALEY, Y.—This is an action of tort for personal injuries suffered by the plaintiff by reason of the giving away of an alleged defective step leading to a tenement in the building owned by the defendant, and hired and occupied at the time by the plaintiff s husband. This building was a dwelling house one story and a half in height, divided into two tenements by a partition through the center, with a front door to each. These doors were adjoining, but were separated by the partition. The thresholds of the doors, being some twelve inches above the ground level, were approached by a step or tread, which was six inches above the level, and consisted of a single plank raised on blocks at each end and extending in front of both doors. There was no rail or other division of the step corresponding with the line of partition. While using the step which led to her tenement, "the whole step came out and turned right over," and the plaintiff received the injury complained of. the plaintiff received the injury complained of.

LOOMIS v. HOLLISTER.

SUPREME COURT OF ERRORS, CONNECTICUT, JULY, 1903.

Master and servant-Scope of employment-Driver deviating from route directed by employer and leaving horses that ran away and collided with a wagon.

Where it appeared that a servant was employed to deliver ice over a route covering several miles and to drive back to the stables, and was shown the specific route to take, and while returning to the stables, he drove out of the prescribed route to the extent of about half a mile for the purpose of stopping at the post office to get his own mail, and left the team unhitched, and the team ran away and struck the wagon of plaintiff, who was injuried, the servant was acting within the scope of his employment, and the master was liable for plaintiff's injuries.

Instruction.—An instruction that the master would not be liable "where there is not merely a deviation, but a total departure from the course of the master's business, so that the servant may be said to be on a frolic of his own," is not open to the claim that the jury might be misled into believing that the court intended to say that no deviation on business of the servant could become a total departure unless that business were of a hilarious nature.

On August II, 1890, a heavy ice cart, drawn by a pair of horses, being the property of the defendant, collided with a wagon in which the piaintif was seated, whereby she was thrown upon the ground and received the injuries complained of. The defendant's team was in charge of his servant, named Beebe. The following facts were claimed by the parties to have been proved: The defendant had employed Beebe the preceding May. His daily duties were, early in the morning to take the defendant's team and deliver ice over a route covering several miles, and drive the horses back to the defendant's stable. Upon returning to the stables his duties ended for the day, until six o'clock, when he would ordinarily fred the horses. When Beebe was first employed, in May, the defendant when about with him in the peddling of ice and showed him the specific route to take. On the day in question Beebe started with the team from the stables at an early hour; in the morning and was returning to the stables after making the last delivery of ice, on at an early bour in the morning, and was returning to the s'ables after making the last delivery of ice, on the natural route home, and the one specifically prescribed for him by the defendant; but instead of continuing on this route he took a roundabout and longer route for the purpose of stopping at the post office, leaving the horses unhitched and unattended. It was then about 1.30 P. M. The horses had not been fed for seven hours, and were left standing headed towards the stables, which were about a quarter of a mile distant. While Beebe was in the post office the horses started for home, ran against the wagon of the plaintiff and so caused her injury.

JACKSON v. MERCHANTS AND MINERS' TRANSP. CO.

SUPREME COURT, GEORGIA, AUGUST, 1903.

Master and servant-Safe place to work-Employee in hold of ship struck by trucks falling down hatchway.

I. It is the duty of the master to provide for his servant a reasonably safe place in which to work, and to that end he is bound to make reasonable provision for the protection of the servant against dangers to which he is exposed while engaged in the work he is employed to perform. For a failure to discharge such duty the master is liable to the servant for injuries caused thereby, and this is true though the injuries result from the concurrent negligence of the master and a fellow-servant of the one injured, where the injury could not have been sustained but for the failure of the master to perform such duty.

* * O The petition alleged, in substance, that plaintiff was an employee of defendant, and at the time of receiving the injury, about seven o'clock A. M., was engaged in the hold of one of defendant's ships, assisting in storing away lumber; that immediately above the place where he was at work, was an open hatchway, through which lumber and other freight was being loaded into the ship; that the hatchway was open at the time, so that it was possible for trucks and other heavy objects to fall or drop through it from above upon plaintiff and injure him, unless some person were stationed at the hatchway to give warning to observe the place where relaintiff was at work a refer bear it. soove upon plainting and injure him, unless some person were standard at the natchway to give warning to plaintiff or to prevent it; that, in order to render the place where plaintiff was at work a safe place, it was necessary that a hatch tender should be stationed at the hatchway; that it was the custom of detendant to have a hatch tender there to protect its employees engaged as plaintiff was; that all these facts were known to defendant at the time plaintiff was at work and injured he was under the belief that there was a hatch tender above him, at the open hatchway, and he was relying upon the custom of defendant to have a hatch tender there; that it was the duty of defendant to provide a safe place for a plaintiff to profess the duties in which he was engaged and to use the process referring to make place for plaintiff to perform the duties in which he was engaged, and to use the proper safeguards to make the place where he was at work safe from dangers to which he might be exposed while performing his duty; that defendant failed to have a batch tender at the hatchway immediately above the plaintiff upon the occasion when he was hurt, and in consequence of such negligence on defendant's part a pair of heavy trucks were thrown or dropped down through the hatchway by someone from above, without warning to plaintiff, and fell heavily upon his foot, breaking three of the bones thereof and otherwise mangling it; that the failure of defendant to have a hatch tender at the hatchway when the trucks fell upon plaintiff was unknown to him at the time; that plaintiff was exercising all ordinary and reasonable care at the time. The effects of the injury, the age and earning capacity of the plaintiff at the time, were also alleged.

Upon the friai the evidence admitted in behalf of the plaintiff tended to show that he had been at work all night in the hold of one of defendant's vessels, assisting in storing lumber; that about seven o'clock next morning, without any warning to him, a pair of heavy trucks were thrown by an emp'oyee of defendant down through the hatchway immediately under which plaintiff was at work, falling upon and injuring him as alleged in the petition; that at this time no hatch tender was at the hatchway; that it was customary for defendant to have a hatch tender there all the time, whose duty it was to give warning to the workmen for defendant to have a hatch tender there all the time, whose duty it was to give warning to the workmen below when freight was about to be loaded through the hatchway; that a hatch tender had been at the hatchway all during the previous night, "singing out" and giving such warnings; that just before the trucks were thrown down the hatchway, the foreman of all the employees engaged in loading the vessel blew, as was customary, a "mouth whistle" ou on the dock, as a signal for the hands to quit work for breakfast, and that thereupon the hatch tender left his place of duty at the hatchway and was not there when the trucks were thrown down; that plaintiff did not know of the custom to quit work when the whistle blew: that, on account of the noise being made on the iron deck above and in the hold while the ship was blew; that, on account of the noise being made on the iron deck above and in the hold while the ship was being loaded, the whistle could not be heard in the hold where plaintiff was, and he did not hear it, and did not know that the hatch tender had left the hatchway, but thought he was still there; that plaintiff could not see what was going on above him; that it was customary for those at work in the hold to quit work for breakfast when the trucks above stopped. There was evidence as to plaintiff's age, earning capacity, expectancy, his injuries, etc.

INCREASING LONGEVITY.

There seems to be no doubt that the average age of mankind, at least in civilized countries, is gradually increasing. The scriptural limit of three score years and ten has long been passed, the healthy man of seventy being so frequently at the height of his mental powers as no longer to excite comment. Men not only live longer, but they live better than they did a few generations ago. The comforts and luxuries of an advanced civilization, the discoveries in medical science, the better knowledge of hygienic principles, the diffusion of wealth and the extension of education are the principal elements which have contributed to the increased longevity of our time. But long life is not always an unmixed blessing. The old man or the man who has passed middle age is apt to have a hard struggle in these strenuous days, unless he is so fortunate as to have saved a fortune or a competence during his more productive years. There are few sadder sights than the man who is crowded out of his place in the struggle for existence by younger and more vigorous competitors, while he is still in full possession of his faculties and still willing and anxious to work. But in many respects this is the day of the young man. He it is who is in demand, not only for such positions as particularly require strength and energy, but even for places of responsibility where judgment, executive ability and special knowledge are the chief requisites for success. In business, in the profession and in the great corporations, the younger men are coming more and more to the front and the older men must make way for them. This is as inexorable as the processes of evolution, and it carries with it a lesson which no young man can afford to ignore. In time of prosperity prepare for adversity. No man's future is absolutely secure and no prudent man neglects to provide for the years to come when his earning powers must decline. When he has a family dependent upon him this duty becomes still more imperative and there is but one sure and safe way to do it. To save and invest as large a proportion of one's income as possible will provide for the lean years to come, unless one of two things happens. Death may come before it has been possible to accumulate a substantial sum, or the accumulation of years may be swept away through unfortunate investments. But, fortunately, both of these contingencies may be provided against. Life insurance has robbed death of half its terrors by making it possible to secure an estate as soon as the first premium is paid, and in a good company there is no possiblity of loss through ill-considered invesments. A policy in such a company gives security to the young man and assures a competency to the old man. It provides for every necessity through its various forms of life and endowment policies and annuities, and it solves the anxious problems which confront every thoughtful and prudent man.

[†] By vote of the policyholders the capital stock was bought in in 1889, except $1050, which was not retired until 1898. Company is now purely mutual.

† The charter of this company provides that the interest earned by the capital goes to the trust department, from which source dividends are also paid. The figures from 1887 to 1908 are from the Massachusetts reports. Earlier figures are not obtainable.

The following table shows the four principal items of the business of the companies transacting industrial insurance, year by year, since this class of business was commenced. The Baltimore, the Colonial, the Metropolitan, the Prudential, the John Hancock, the Life Insurance Company of Virginia and the Western & Southern also transact ordinary life insurance business, and the columns of premiums received and losses paid include those branches, while the columns of insurance written and in force include only their industrial business.

LIFE INSURANCE HISTORY.

YEARLY BUSINESS OF ACTIVE UNITED STATES LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES FROM DATE OF COMMENCING BUSINESS.

The first State insurance department in the United States was established by act of the Massachusetts Legislature in 1855, and since that time annual reports have been issued by an increasing number of departments, and with growing completeness and fullness of detail, until at the present time nearly every feature of the insurance business is fully reported and brought under review for the enlightenment and benefit of the general insuring public.

There are now over ninety active level premium American life insurance companies that report to the various insurance departments. Of these sixteen were transacting business before the establishment of State supervision, and consequently no public official record has been kept of their transactions during their earlier years. In the first years of State supervision the reports were, as was natural, very incomplete as to several matters of detail, which experience has since shown ought to have been more fully reported in order to insure a harmonious and complete record.

Occasions often arise in the business experience of a company when it is necessary to refer back to the business of the earlier years of its own or some other company's existence. Before the compilation of the statistics in the following pages was made there was no way of doing this, except by long and laborious researches through old insurance reports, insurance journals and antiquated records. Knowing the tediousness of these searches by experience, at great pains and expense we have made the tabulations given herewith.

The New York Insurance Department report, as now compiled, was used as a standard, and during the past year the figures have again been carefully gone over, and corrections made where necessary, so that the work is as nearly accurate as it is possible to make it, and may confidently be accepted in lieu of the insurance department reports.
